Hitler Nazis Declare War on World Jewry

RACE BLAMED FOR STARTING LAST CONFLICT

Call on Germans to "Smash Enemy."

BERLIN, March 31.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Nazi charges that the Jews of the world were responsible for the world war and Nazi declarations that repressive measures against Jews will continue "until victory is ours" set the tone today for the nation-wide Jewish boycott which is to begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The central boycott committee of the National Socialist party issued fiery appeals to followers of Chancellor Hitler throughout the nation, instructing them in the part they are to play in the boycott against Jewish business men, attorneys and physicians.

Called Enemy of World.

In the proclamation, made public at Munich and printed in the Voelkischer Beobachter, the Hitlerite organ, the committee said:

"Judah is stabbing Germany in the back with the same methods it employed to perpetrate the criminal world war. Again Judah is at work calumniating the German people as Huns and barbarians."

The newspapers carried such headlines as: "War Declared on Jewish World Power" and "Smash the World Enemy."

NAZIS TO MARK SHOPS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 30.—While Jewish organizations still are hoping that Chancellor Adolf Hitler will rescind the National Socialist order to boycott Jewish business and professional men, Nazi headquarters in Munich today insisted that the boycott will "strike like lightning at 10 a. m. Saturday."

The party's anti-Jewish boycott committee has completed a 14 point program. The campaign officially will get under way with massmeetings and parades tomorrow night.

The first duty of the special committees set up to organize the boycott will be to ascertain which shops and offices are in Jewish hands. Religion does not matter. Nazi headquarters defined "Jewish businesses" to include businesses operated by members of the Jewish race, whether they have adopted Christianity or not. When either of a couple owning a business establishment is a Jew or a Jewess it shall be regarded as Jewish.

To Fix Signs on Shops.

Big black signs with a huge yellow spot will be affixed to all Jewish shops. Nazi storm troopers will mount guard over these shops. They will warn Germans not to buy in them. They are forbidden to employ force. It is also forbidden to close business establishments, break windows, or otherwise damage property.

Woolworth's 5 and 10 cent stores have been granted special approval by Hitler's party, which points out "the Woolworths are Americans and are not Jewish." One price stores, department stores, and large concerns maintaining branches are not subject to the boycott.

Firms in which Jewish capital is invested will be placed under special rules. Jewish firms will not be allowed to discharge non-Jewish employés. Where dismissals have taken place, storm troopers will see to it that these persons are put back to work.

Boycott proclamations will be posted everywhere on Saturday. Owners of auto trucks will be compelled to display anti-Jewish posters. The posters read: "Defensive against the Jewish atrocity and boycott campaign! Avoid Jewish doctors and lawyers! Do not buy in Jewish shops and department stores! Jews are our curse."

Collect Boycott Fund.

To finance the boycott the Hitlerites are collecting a fund from German business and industrial leaders.

"International Jews have not heeded our warning to halt atrocity reports published abroad," said Der Angriff, official Nazi organ, today. "They will be made to feel what it means to declare war on Germany's national elevation."

COUNCIL GIVEN RIGHT TO PICK CHICAGO MAYOR

Horner to Sign Bill Just Passed.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 30.—[Special.]—With votes to spare, the Illinois house of representatives today passed the Chicago mayoralty bill authorizing the city council to fill the Cermak vacancy, giving his successor, either from the ranks of the council or outside, full mayoral powers.

The house passed the enabling bill by a vote of 120 to 22. Even some of the most belligerent of the Republicans fell into line when they saw they had lost their partisan battle. Only 102 votes—since the senate had passed the bill by more than a two-thirds vote—were necessary to make the law effective as soon as it is signed by Gov. Henry Horner. It is considered now that the council within a few days will have a free hand in selecting the chief executive for the next two years. Gov. Horner has strongly supported the bill enacted and made a special plea for it today.

Likely to Sign Soon.

It is expected that the governor may sign the bill before the end of the week. It requires first the signatures of Lieut. Gov. Donovan and Speaker Roe, but it is believed possible that the measure will get through the enrolling and engrossing mill tomorrow so that both of these signatures may be affixed at once and then be sent to Attorney General Kerner for the final opinion as to legality so that it will reach the governor's desk by Saturday and there be signed so that the Chicago council will be free to act next week.

"In cities having a population of more than 500,000 inhabitants the city council shall elect a mayor, from its own membership or not as the council shall determine, to act as such and exercise and possess all the rights and powers thereof until his successor is duly elected and qualified."

Free to Make Selection.

This gives the Chicago city council carte blanche in determining who shall be A Century of Progress mayor of the city.

In explaining his vote for the Graham bill today, Representative Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Mundelein] said he voted for the bill in the hope the reports of Sexton's "having the inside track" were true.

There was considerable oratorical effort before the Graham bill was passed in the house. The general impression was that downstate swung into line in the belief that Chicago is entitled to home rule. If that city wanted the bill, as it appeared to, downstate members should not stand in its way.

Horner Boosts for Bill.

What storm there was on the floor was occasioned chiefly by a message from Gov. Horner. That was championed by the Democrats as a wholly warranted step by the executive department.

"In view of the unfortunate misrepresentations of the purposes of the Graham-Adamowski bill," ran the governor's message, "I desire to call your attention to the fact that what is proposed in this measure for Chicago is solely the right to fill a vacancy in the office of its chief executive. The right to fill a vacancy is already given by the statutes to the aldermen of every city in Illinois except Chicago."

Cites Financial Crisis.

The governor said that city's financial emergency must be met, and delay in adopting the bill would result in further delays on the part of the city to give its unpaid employés "even a portion of their salaries."

He said that "the bill in no sense deals with a waiver of a primary in connection with the nomination and election of a mayor of Chicago."

"I earnestly call on the legislature to deal immediately," the governor said, "with the question of this bill providing for the selection of a pro tempore mayor of Chicago, in a spirit of public service and loyalty to that city's tremendous problems and which in no manner affects the rest of the state."

Teachers May Get Paid with R. F. C. Funds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—A definite decision on the Chicago citizens' committee's plan to secure Reconstruction Finance corporation funds for the payment of Chicago's school teachers is expected to be announced by the board of directors of the corporation tomorrow.

Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the citizens' group, and Robert F. Carr, member of the board of education, conferred at length with officials of the corporation today and with senators interested in relief legislation.

Following their visit to the corporation, legal experts of the federal agency went into executive session with the board of directors to thrash out the problem of the legality of the committee's proposal.

The plan, as outlined by Mr. Carr, contemplates the establishment of a trust company in Chicago with a subscribed capital of $200,000 and power to borrow two millions on debentures. This trust company would negotiate the loan with the finance corporation, putting up school district tax anticipation warrants as collateral.

Question of Eligibility.

Lawyers of the corporation joined with several directors today in expressing a belief that the proposal is legal under the existing Reconstruction Finance corporation laws. The only point in question, they said, was whether a trust company set up for the sole purpose of securing an R. F. C. advance would be eligible to borrow.

Mr. Carr stated that the plan is already set up in working order and is awaiting only the approval of the corporation to begin functioning. Private citizens in Chicago, he said, have agreed to purchase the $200,000 initial capital stock, while Chicago banks have committed themselves to the investment of the required two millions in the trust company debentures. With the capital stock and the borrowed funds the total capital of the trust company, he pointed out, would be $2,200,000. This would act as a margin of safety for the corporation on a loan of between 15 and 20 million dollars for the teachers' salaries.

Night Meeting Held.

It was for a settlement of this question that the board met this evening. Mr. Sargent and Mr. Carr stated that they are to be informed tomorrow whether the corporation will countenance a formal application for the school teachers' loan.

In the event the federal credit agency declines to accept the plan Mr. Sargent and Mr. Carr intend, they said, to make an effort to amend the present law to permit such a loan. Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], at a conference with them today indicated his willingness to accept an amendment to his pending relief bill under which the school teachers' loan would be legalized. The Wagner bill as now drawn broadens the self-liquidating construction loan provisions of the R. F. C. act, and the New York senator was said to be agreeable to the suggestion that the bill be extended to cover the Chicago teachers' need.

One director of the finance corporation said today that he would be in favor of the loan if the corporation's legal authorities rule that it can be made within the present law.

At the same time a belief was expressed in one quarter that the board will prefer to wait until the law has been amended before granting the school teachers' loan.

Missouri House Votes to Scrap Public Service Board

Jefferson City, Mo., March 30.—(AP)—The house late tonight passed the Buford bill to abolish the state public service commission, oil inspection department, and the grain-warehouse department, and create a commerce commission to take over their functions.

MAYOR'S POLICE GUARDS BATTLE BANDITS; 2 SHOT

Two policemen assigned to guard the home of Acting Mayor Frank Corr at 507 Englewood avenue left their regular duties last night when they heard a holdup was in progress in the Rowantrees hotel, across the street, at 500 Englewood avenue.

In the hotel lobby they met two bandits. Shots were exchanged and one policeman was wounded and one robber shot and captured.

The wounded policeman is Thomas Wall, who was struck in the right leg. The wounded bandit, Arthur Fox, 21 years old, 6710 South May street, was struck in the chest. The second robber escaped.

It was shortly before 9 p. m. when the robbers entered the hotel and ordered the clerk, Bernard Mollenhaar, to hand over all the cash on hand. He obeyed. Meanwhile a man who was in the lobby ran over to the Corr home and summoned Policemen Wall and William Steffens. Wall was shot as he ran into the lobby. Steffens then pursued the robbers through a rear door into an alley and shot Fox.

22 Are Killed, 60 Injured in Dixie Tornado

Shreveport, La., March 30.—(AP)—A mounting toll, which stood at twenty-two dead and nearly sixty injured, was left along a property strewn trail of tornadic winds which last night swept through lumbering camps of East Texas, across the North Red River parish in northwestern Louisiana and into southwestern Arkansas. It is believed the property damage is high in Louisiana.

Rescue workers, seeking to check up on possible dead and injured in small communities in the storm's path, found their way blocked by swollen streams and almost impassable roads. Disrupted communications added to the confusion.

Deaths were reported from Shelbyville, Huntington, Lindale, and San Augustine, in eastern Texas, near the Louisiana border, Hall Summit, in northwestern Louisiana, and Mount Holley, in the Eldorado vicinity of southwestern Arkansas. Jamestown in Bienville parish, Louisiana, was leveled, but no one was seriously injured. Only the bank was left standing at Hall Summit.

A survey from the air by O. C. Palmer, Tyler, Tex., airport manager, disclosed the storm apparently came from the southwest and traveled northeastward, leveling homes of town and countryside in its path. The houses fell as it bombed, the walls falling outward and scattering like straw. Large pine trees were uprooted. Derricks were felled in the Arkansas oil fields. Rain, hail, and lightning accompanied the wind.

Destroys Fifteen Homes in Hamlet.

Physicians and Red Cross officials hastily began ministering to the injured and homeless. Stores in the area were divested of cots and bedding.

Etoile, Tex., a hamlet of about fifteen houses, virtually was destroyed, but physicians found none of its fifty inhabitants had been injured.

Mount Holley, Ark.	1	Latex	2
Shelbyville, Tex.	5	Hall Summit, La.	5
Huntington, Tex.	6	San Augustine, Tex.	3

The San Augustine vicinity fell victim to what was described as a second tornado. A dozen homes in that area were demolished.

An emergency hospital was set up in a drug store at Huntington, which is in the heart of the "Piney woods" section of East Texas. The area is thickly dotted with small lumbering camps. More than a score of houses were demolished near Huntington.

Put Sales Tax On Tomorrow; Battle Writ

While merchants throughout the state were planning to ignore a temporary injunction issued by Circuit Judge Jesse Brown of Alton and begin collection of the 3 per cent retail sales tax tomorrow, Attorney General Otto Kerner yesterday moved for an early test of the law's constitutionality before the Illinois Supreme court.

Attorney General Kerner, in a statement issued at Springfield, said he had been assured by twenty representatives of chambers of commerce that their belief in the soundness and necessity of the law was not impaired by Judge Brown's injunction and that merchants in general will begin the collections tomorrow.

Moves for Immediate Appeal.

"It is very essential that the question of constitutionality of the state sales act be tested and adjudicated by the Supreme court of Illinois at the earliest possible moment," said the attorney general. "Assuming that the Circuit court of Madison county [Judge Brown's court] has jurisdiction, I have decided upon a plan of accelerating the hearing on the injunction to the end that a final decree be entered and an appeal be taken to the Supreme court and perfected immediately for an advancement of said cause in the Supreme court at the April, 1933, term of said court. This plan I have proposed to counsel for the complainant and have requested that a stipulation be entered into for that purpose."

Judge Brown, in his temporary injunction issued Wednesday night, set April 8 for a hearing to make it permanent, but by stipulation his final decree can be entered immediately and the appeal taken. The attorney general said he was informed that the merchants would collect the sales tax and hold the funds intact pending action by the Supreme court, and that in the event the law is held unconstitutional the funds collected will be refunded.

Merchants Not Restrained.

The injunction did not specifically enjoin the merchants from collecting the tax, but it did restrain Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance, and other state officials, from taking any steps to force the merchants to make the collections.

In the face of this injunction, however, Mr. Rice issued a statement telling the retailers they "must put themselves in a position to pay the tax," which was taken to mean they must collect it or else stand the chance of having to pay it.

"In answer to inquiries from retailers as to what action should be taken pending this suit (contesting the injunction) I wish to state that the retailers' occupation tax act imposes a tax upon the retailer," said Mr. Rice, "and the department of finance will require retailers to pay the tax on their gross receipts from sales at retail made after April 1 if Judge Brown's injunction is not sustained. Meantime retailers must put themselves in a position to pay the tax."

Prepare for Possible Refunds.

Following the issuance of these instructions the sales tax committee of the State street stores, which had previously agreed upon the bracket system of collecting the tax, met and decided to begin the collections tomorrow, to set aside the funds thus collected, and to refund the money to the purchasers should the law be held unconstitutional. The sales checks

ROOSEVELT AX FALLS ON VETS, OFFICEHOLDERS

Signs Economy Order Tomorrow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—With veterans' benefits slashed nearly 500 millions of dollars the Roosevelt economy program today took on the proportions of nearly a billion dollar cut in the annual cost of the federal government.

Lewis W. Douglas, the new director of the budget, was nearing completion tonight of a series of executive orders eliminating from the pension rolls payments to veterans for nonservice connected disabilities and reducing service connected payments. He expects to present the orders to President Roosevelt for signature not later than Saturday.

Greater Slashes Than Expected.

In the hands of the youthful and aggressive budget director the economy act has been found susceptible of interpretation authorizing far greater reductions in the veterans' benefits than were envisaged when the legislation was enacted.

Not only are payments for disabilities not incurred in actual military service to be eliminated, but payments to those whose disabilities were service connected are to be scaled down 15 per cent, the amount by which the pay of government employés has been reduced.

Hospitalization of veterans also is to be rigidly restricted and great economies in overhead cost of the veterans' administration effected.

Roosevelt Economy Program.

As the Roosevelt economy program now stands it accomplishes the following annual savings:

Veterans' benefits and administration	$480,000,000
Reorganization of administrative branch of the government, including abolition of functions	250,000,000
Reduction of government pay	125,000,000
Postal service economies	75,000,000
Total	$930,000,000

Mr. Douglas had a conference today with American Legion leaders, in which he disclosed the scope of the savings in veterans' benefits embodied in the executive orders. He took under advisement a number of changes suggested.

Holds Self Incommunicado.

As soon as the veterans' economy program becomes effective Mr. Douglas will push to completion the plan for reorganization of the administrative branch of the government. It is in connection with this project that the budget director has been the most sought after person in Washington of late.

In the last fortnight the office of the budget director literally has been stormed by the bureaucrats threatened with the elimination of their jobs and by the farm, business and labor lobbyists for the perpetuation of paternalistic subvention of agriculture, commerce and labor that are threatened with extinction by the autocratic power to consolidate and abolish bureaus, boards, commissions and functions granted the executive by the last congress.

Mr. Douglas finally was compelled to barricade his office and hold himself incommunicado to all but his collaborators on the big economy program. He has become far less accessible than the President and the bureaucrats and lobbyists have been reduced to the extremity of transmitting their appeals to him through the mails.

Anxiety of Bureaucrats.

The bureaucracy and lobbydom now are fairly frantic with suspense and apprehension, as it is bruited about that Mr. Douglas is putting the finishing touches to a program of wholesale slashing of jobs and activities which he hopes to submit to the President next week.

The anxiety of the bureaucrats and lobbyists has been intensified by Mr. Douglas' peculiar notions of retrenchment. It appears that the only sacred and untouchable expenditure in the budget in his eyes is the service of the public debt which accounts for 25 per cent of the cost of the central government.

Susceptible to Slash.

"The remainder or 75 per cent is clearly susceptible to reductions," said the budget director when he entered upon his task, the accomplishment of which he thought would require a

"fixed, unalterable determination to succeed, a will to do."

Mr. Douglas then proceeded to whet his snickersnee for activities in the department of agriculture "designed to increase the production per acre" as he expressed it, although the government is striving through other expenditures to curtail production. In this connection he even spoke slightingly of "at least one great project designed to increase the arable acreages and surplus agriculture crops," which was construed to be a reference to the 165 million dollar Boulder dam project.

Eligible to Radical Slashes.

When he got to the department of commerce he cited as eligible to radical reduction "important items for the purpose of encouraging a foreign trade made impossible elsewhere in the statutes by a tariff law that is almost an embargo." In accord with this pronouncement the budget director has plunged the knife deeply into the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce which Mr. Hoover developed to vast proportions and provided with a corps of commercial attaches abroad to do the work that was part of the job of consuls.

As another example of expensive inconsistency Mr. Douglas cited "items for the construction of great arterial public highways to be used by competitors of the railroads to whose assistance the government has already come and in the future may be compelled to come, to a greater extent, in order to preserve a part of our financial structure."

Mr. Douglas, it also transpires, is preparing to attack the institution of "permanent appropriations" which outside of service of the debt aggregate 140 millions. These appropriations are made automatically and cannot be changed except by amendment of the statutes authorizing them.

Calls Such Subsidies Obsolete.

Among them are such items as $3,000,000 for meat inspection, $4,857,000 for coöperative agricultural extension work and $2,550,000 in subsidies to agricultural colleges. Such subsidies Mr. Douglas pronounced obsolete in view of the agricultural surpluses prevailing today.

In order to harmonize "present needs with present abilities to pay," Mr. Douglas thought, it might become necessary "for congress to discard its traditional policy of appropriating for each item and to grant lump sum appropriations for each department, relying upon the departmental head to distribute the funds in accordance with needs."

MACHADO WIELDS KNIFE ON CUBA'S ANNUAL BUDGET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 30.—President Machado, exercising dictatorial powers recently voted him, today signed first measures to whittle Cuba's annual budget from $55,000,000 to $37,000,000.

A merger of departments is expected to save $2,500,000 annually. Slashes in administrative expenditures and salaries, and dismissal of 6,000 employés are also contemplated.

The president sent congress a message to cut its appropriations by 15 per cent and to reduce members' salaries. The treasury and judiciary departments were told to reduce salaries beginning in April. A committee of four was appointed to consolidate bureaus.

Spain Spurns Nobles' Plea for Payment for Property

MADRID, March 30.—(AP)—The Institute of Agrarian Reform today rejected petitions from the Marquis De Font Alba, the dukes of Penaranda, Arion, and Tamames, and the Counts Alange and De Bornos, to prevent their rural properties being expropriated by the republic without indemnization.

Phone Line Between U. S. and Philippines Opened

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Commercial telephone service between the United States mainland and the Philippines was opened today by conversations between officials in the state, war and navy building and in the Malacanang palace at Manila.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR GIFT AID FOR STATES

Half a Billion Would Be Made Available.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—The senate today took the first step in a new policy of federal relief when it passed by a vote of 55 to 17 a bill making half a billion dollars of federal funds available for outright grants to the states.

Passage of the measure marked the abandonment of the "loan" policy pursued with respect to the 300 million dollars authorized by the last congress to be distributed among the states by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

A still further policy shift is to come with the transfer of relief funds under the new bill from the R. F. C. to a newly created federal emergency relief administrator.

Other Millions Likely.

In addition to the new half billion dollar fund the relief administrator is to have turned over to him within ten days after the bills become law any remainder out of the original loan fund. The remainder now stands at approximately 69 millions.

The "loan" provisions under which the states have received some 230 million dollars, of which Illinois has received nearly $45,000,000, have been admittedly largely fictional, since the R. F. C. act provides that the states may make repayments out of future road donations coming from the federal treasury.

Similarly the "gift" provisions of the present bill, which still must be passed by the house, are disguised by providing that the money shall come through an increase in the borrowing power of the R. F. C. The corporation, however, receives its funds from the treasury, which in turn must sell government bonds in a similar amount.

Backed by Administration.

Sponsored by Senators Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], Edward P. Costigan [Dem., Col.], and Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.], the relief bill went through the senate with the blessing of the administration and the almost unanimous support of the Democrats.

Only two Democrats voted against it. And 12 Republicans, largely from the radical group, cast aye votes as against 15 Republican nays.

The measure did not pass without opposition. Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] was its most outspoken critic.

"No man will ever see the end of the policy you are starting today," he warned. "The emergency of unemployment is always with us in some degree, and if states and municipalities learn that they can push the burden on the federal government they will do so in the future."

Fess Opposes Measure.

"Tell me New York and Chicago can't take care of their own conditions—I can't find parliamentary language with which to reply."

Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.] agreed with Senator Fess that the federal government had brought the states and cities to their present plight. By multiplying functions and duplicating functions locally performed the senator said, the federal government had made the country tax poor and killed property values. He denounced useless services such as many of those performed by the department of agriculture; he branded many bureaus and departments as agencies which "no honest man could characterize other than as political machines, created to furnish jobs."

But in the present emergency, he declared, he was bound to vote for the bill.

But others found language with which to reply to him.

"If this means an increase in taxes, for God's sake increase taxes and feed the starving people," shouted Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] and drew applause from the galleries.

And Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, who denounced a federal dole when his state was stricken by drought, cried:

"When out of the multiplied mil...s of unemployed hundreds of thousands are unable to provide for tomorrow, then technicalities and technical arguments have little weight with me."

Would Redistribute Wealth.

And Senator Huey Long, the Louisiana radical, declared:

"We'll get the money from those at the top and take care of the people at the bottom. I'm for this bill because it's out of harmony with the emergency banking bill and the economy act. I hope it marks the beginning of a Democratic policy to redistribute the wealth of this country."

Of the half billion dollars provided by the new measure 200 millions will be given out upon application in amount to each state equal to one-third of the public funds spent within the state for relief. The remaining 300 millions will be dispensed by the administrator upon proof by the states that their local resources are inadequate. No state is to receive more than 15 per cent of the total fund.

HOW SENATE VOTED ON FEDERAL GIFT RELIEF FOR STATES

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—The roll call on the half billion dollar grant relief bill was:

REYNOLDS WILL SEEK $7,350,000 LOAN FROM R. F. C.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, will leave this afternoon for Washington to present a request to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for an advance of $7,350,000 to be used for relief work in Illinois during April. Of the amount needed, $6,110,000 will be required in Cook county and the balance downstate. The total number to be cared for is approximately 213,000 families and 31,400 unattached men and women in this county and 100,000 families downstate.

Instructions have been issued to Cook county bureau of public welfare district offices, Mr. Reynolds said, to furnish ration boxes from wholesale houses, milk and grocery orders to families whose relief orders fall due during April 1 to 9.

PRESIDENT LEADS U.S. TO RECOVERY, SAYS AL SMITH

Duty of All to Support Him, He Declares.

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—The Roosevelt administration has taken a path which will restore economic health and happiness in the United States, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith declared in an article in the issue of the New Outlook, of which he is editor, to be published tomorrow. It is the duty of all citizens, irrespective of party beliefs, to support the administration, he asserted.

"The new national administration," he wrote, "led by the President, has made a good beginning. As we go to press, it has provided prompt and constructive leadership. It has guided public opinion by clear, understandable pronouncements, and has thus restored morale and confidence.

Adds Word of Advice.

"It has helped in a forthright way with the currency problem, with reorganization of the federal government, with the drastic reduction of veterans' benefits in the face of the bitter opposition of a strongly organized minority, with the problem of authorizing and taxing beer and with the farm problem."

It is wise for the new administration, Mr. Smith held, to take full advantage of its large majorities in congress and of public approval to drive through its emergency program as quickly as possible.

Mr. Smith in his article, however, expressed serious doubts as to the workability of "regional planning schemes" as a solution of the national idle problem. It is questionable, he stated, whether in these times it is desirable to uproot people from their homes and transfer them to strange places. "The age of the pioneer is over," he asserted. "It is doubtful whether the nation will gain today by drying up old communities in order to irrigate new ones." Besides, he contended, it would be months before plans for power and flood control developments could be drafted and men actually put to work on the projects.

Objects to Reforestation Plans.

He advanced similar objections to President Roosevelt's reforestation plans, holding them no substitute for public works activities. What should be done, he contended, is to reëstablish home markets and home industries and improvements rather than reach out to develop "waste places which have been passed over or abandoned by wise settlers in a century of expansion of this continent."

Recognition of soviet Russia is also urged by Mr. Smith.

FIVE DAY WEEK BILL REPORTED OUT TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—The so called Black bill, which would establish a federally enforced five day week in industry, was reported favorably to the senate today by the judiciary committee.

The report was filed by Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], author of the measure and a member of the committee. He declared that he will press for early action at this session in the belief that enactment of the bill will create more jobs and increase purchasing power.

The bill forbids the shipment in interstate commerce of any manufactured articles produced by labor working more than five days a week or six hours a day.

Senator Black defended the constitutionality of the measure, which has been questioned in view of the Supreme court action on the child labor law, which has been held unconstitutional.

"This bill," he said, "has a broader base and a broader object. It is believed it comes within the constitutional interpretation both of the majority and the minority of the Supreme court in the child labor case."

PRESIDENT YIELDS ON SOME POINTS IN FARM AID BILL

Measure Is Due in Senate Next Tuesday.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Snags hit by some of the headliners on the Roosevelt legislative program may prevent the adjournment of the special session until well into the summer.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], senate majority leader, admitted today at the White House that leaders of both houses do not now anticipate that congress will be able to get through its work by the latter part of April. It may be June 1 or even later.

At White House Conference.

Senator Robinson, together with Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, spent an hour at the White House this afternoon discussing the 3 billion dollar farm mortgage refinancing bill, the farm price commodity bill, and other measures on the Roosevelt legislative program. Later Senator Robinson said the financing bill would be ready about Monday.

According to Senator Robinson the senate will be ready to begin consideration of the farm price bill about Tuesday. In this connection it was learned that President Roosevelt agreed to a few changes in the farm price bill at today's conference. His senatorial callers declined, however, to outline the nature of the changes agreed upon.

No Recess Contemplated.

"No recess is in contemplation," Senator Robinson said. "Of course, the necessity for it might arise in the event any legislation on the program should require more time for study and preparation than is now expected."

FINED FOR STREET FIGHTING.

Paul Gunther, 49 years old, 2033 Fremont street, was fined $25 yesterday by Municipal Judge Hastings for fighting in the street with another man over a young woman friend.

After 54 Years on Stage De Wolf Hopper Now 75

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—De Wolf Hopper, with a career of 54 years on the stage, was 75 years old today. Deluged with congratulatory messages and shaking hands with well wishers he declared in an interview at the Lambs club that this unusual attention paid to his birthday made him realize for the first time that he was getting old.

Reno Drug Stores Told to Quit Selling Tobacco

Reno, Nev., March 30.—(AP)—Drug stores will be prohibited from selling tobaccos of all kinds in Reno after April 1 under an ordinance passed last night by the city council. The measure was requested by local tobacconists, who said they were unable to meet "unfair competition" of the druggists. Some doubt was expressed as to the legality of the ordinance.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Matthew Brogan, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; James Payne, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; George Smith, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Michael Feinberg.

Axel Borr and Edward O'Reilly, robbery, sentenced to 2 years each in the Bridewell; Harry Lymton and Floyd Spurling, robbery, sentenced to 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Benjamin F. Herr and Merle Leroy Lawman, murder, sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge James F. Fardy.

Mrs. Fred Oser, whose husband was slain last Friday in the headquarters of the motion picture operators' union, decided yesterday not to wait for an official verdict deciding whether the shooting was murder or in self-defense, but filed a suit for $10,000 damages against Ralph O'Hara, union official who admits he slew O'Hara. The widow's attorney, Benjamin F. Schultz, said she and her five children are destitute.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, at whose request O'Hara was held without bail on a murder charge, and Thomas E. Maloy, business agent and dictator of the union, was held for one day and then released on $5,000 bail, said the suit would in no way interfere with the criminal prosecution. He was marshaling his witnesses and his facts for the inquest tomorrow.

Calls Balaban as Witness.

John Balaban of Balaban & Katz, owners of motion picture theaters, was called yesterday as a witness. His testimony is wanted, Prosecutor Dougherty said, because of a statement made by Maloy.

Oser was slain when he appeared at Maloy's office on Friday, March 24, seeking a peaceful settlement of trouble he and six other operators had had with Maloy which resulted in their expulsion from the union. Maloy denies being present when Oser was shot.

"Several persons say they know Maloy talked to Oser on Thursday, March 23, over the telephone and that Maloy made an appointment to see Oser at 2:30 o'clock the next afternoon," Mr. Dougherty said. "Maloy denies this. He said he was with John Balaban that Thursday afternoon. I want to hear from Mr. Balaban."

That the union affairs are to be thoroughly investigated was indicated when State's Attorney Courtney demanded to know why Thomas J. Reynolds, president of the union, was on the pay roll of Electrical Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary of the Western Electric company.

Called Capable Employé.

Reynolds has been drawing $143.38 a week from Electric Products, Inc., since 1927, Mr. Courtney was told. J. A. Cameron, district superintendent, said Reynolds was a capable employé who synchronized sound mechanism and that his employment was in no way due to his union position.

In the investigation of the guns used in the union headquarters shooting, one owned by O'Hara and the other formerly owned by a member of the union who said it was stolen from him, and which O'Hara said was in Oser's possession, Calvin Goddard, ballistic expert, reported that there was a strong suspicion that O'Hara's gun had been used in the murder two years ago of Jacob Kaufman. Kaufman was a member of the motion picture operators' union and had been fighting to oust Malloy. Because the bullet that ended Kaufman's life had been flattened against a wall the "suspicion" could not be proved, Goddard reported.

Negro Threatens Woman on Phone; Seized by Police

When Mrs. Lola Thornton, 7567 Stewart avenue, received a telephone call last night threatening that her home would be bombed unless a Negro family was allowed to move back into a house which she owns she engaged the caller in conversation while her husband traced the call. As a result Arthur Harris, colored, 46 years old, 6117 South Loomis street, was arrested by police as he stepped from a phone booth at 600 East 47th street after finishing a 25 minute talk. Harris attempted to escape, but stopped after several shots had been fired at him.

CUT BRICK WALL TO RESCUE BOY

Trapped an Hour

Robert Evans, 9 years old, 6455 Justine street, failed yesterday afternoon in an attempt to crawl through an eight inch space that separates buildings at 6409 and 6411 South Ashland avenue. Instead he became firmly wedged in at a point some five yards from the rear of the buildings.

His cries attracted attention and a rope was thrown to him. Although he grasped it, the holders couldn't drag him out. So the fire department was notified and Rescue Squad No. 1 headed by Capt. Joseph W. Hoff responded.

Gentler methods having failed, the firemen entered the basement at 6409 and dug out a hole large enough for Robert to drop through. He promptly departed for his home. His imprisonment had lasted more than a hour.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 30.—[Special.]—Winnie Ruth Judd's plea for clemency was denied late today by the Arizona board of pardons and paroles, which declined to recommend commutation of her sentence to be hanged for the "trunk murder" of Agnes Anne Leroi. The board did grant a reprieve of one week so the blond "Tiger Woman" would not have to die on Good Friday.

She will be executed April 21 unless A. G. Walker, prison warden, decides to ask a sanity trial for the condemned woman.

News of the board's decision was telephoned to the prison at Florence, but Warden Walker declined to notify Mrs. Judd. He insisted that one of her attorneys take the verdict to her.

After reviewing evidence in Mrs. Judd's trial, transcripts of several statement she has made, of her evidence at the preliminary hearing of J. J. Halloran, whom she sought to involve in the dual slaying, and the woman's own statement in seeking clemency, the board declared it believed "Ruth Judd shot Agnes Leroi while she was in bed, the gun being held against or close to the skin," and that the gun was not fired in self-defense.

BRITAIN RECALLS ENVOY TO RUSSIA IN SABOTAGE CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 30.—Following the refusal of Russian's foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, to act on the immediate release of four British employés of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company, Sir Esmond Ovey, British ambassador to Moscow, was today ordered to return to London to report. The Britons are being held on charges of sabotage.

It was made clear, however, that this is not a break of diplomatic relations and that Sir Esmond will return to Moscow unless unforeseen developments arise.

Six Britons were arrested about two weeks ago, but Allan Monkhouse, director of the company in Russia, and Charles Nordwell, his assistant, have been released on their own recognizance. Two of the prisoners will be tried on April 9 or 10, it was announced officially today.

HAVANA ROCKED BY EIGHT BOMBS; BRIDGE WRECKED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 30.—Eight bombs were set off in and near Havana tonight.

Three of them wrecked a bridge on the road leading to Jiamanitas Beach, 16 miles west of here. Police rounded up eleven suspects and lodged them incommunicado in Principe Hill jail. There were no casualties in any of the blasts.

The bridge connected the city with the exclusive Havana-Biltmore yacht and country club, operated by the Cuban-American realty company of which the late John McKee Bowman was organizer. The five other bombs exploded in the Vedado residential district and caused some damage to private properties.

ORDER PORTER II. TO GIVE MILLION BACK TO MOTHER

Washington Porter II., society man and former diplomat, must return to his mother, Mrs. Frances Lee Porter, 72 years old, nearly $1,000,000 worth of stocks and real estate which she charges he tricked her into signing over to him.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan signed an order yesterday in the Superior court directing Porter to retransfer the property within ten days. The order was presented to the judge by counsel for Porter and his mother after an out of court settlement of the suit which she filed in August, 1931, for the recovery of the property.

Signs at Son's Request.

Mrs. Porter inherited the property upon the death of her husband, the first Washington Porter, a real estate man. The estate included, besides the family home at 4043 Lake Park avenue, other properties at 3937 Lake Park avenue, Lake Park avenue and Oakwood boulevard, 7 West Wacker drive, 301 West Wacker drive, and 111-119 South Wells street.

In her suit to recover the properties, Mrs. Porter stated that following the death of his father her son persuaded her to put her business affairs in his hands. From time to time, she charged, he obtained her signature to various papers without informing her of their meaning.

Mother Ordered from Home.

Ten days before she filed her suit, she charged, she discovered that she had lost title to some of her property. When she questioned her son, she charged, he flew into a rage and ordered her out of the Lake Park avenue home, telling her that she no longer owned the property.

The order for the restitution of the properties cites some of these charges, but contains no admission of their truth by Porter. He is ordered to give his mother quitclaim deeds to the real estate within ten days, to pay her $30,000 in cash, and to turn back to her a number of blocks of stock.

Of the stock, 550 shares of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and 200 Commonwealth Edison are pledged as collateral for a loan of $85,000 at the Continental bank. Porter is ordered to pay off the loan and return the stocks. Other stocks which he must return to his mother under the court order include 1,452 shares of common and 1,815 shares of preferred of the Diamond Match company, a block of National Biscuit company shares, and several other securities.

Porter was appointed secretary to the American legation at Copenhagen in 1918. There he met Miss Signe Dorthea Berg-Hansen, a Danish society girl, whom he married in 1920. She divorced him two years later on a charge of desertion.

His only brother, Frederick, was killed March 11 when the plane in which he was flying to do relief work in the Los Angeles earthquake area crashed near that city.

ELKS GIVE DINNER FOR GRAND RULER, FLOYD THOMPSON

A banquet and initiation in compliment to Floyd E. Thompson, grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. E. and former justice of the Illinois Supreme court, was attended by 1,200 Elks from nineteen lodges in the northern Illinois district at the Hotel Sherman last night.

Following the dinner in the College Inn, the crowd adjourned to the Louis XVI. room, where 125 candidates were initiated.

Throughout the day open house was kept by Chicago lodge, No. 4, at 174 West Washington street. Chairman of the affair was D. C. Burnette, district deputy grand exalted ruler. The committee in charge included Judge Justin F. McCarthy, exalted ruler of the Chicago lodge, Irving Eisenman, Arthur Gunther and R. G. Cohen.

Stevenses Open Court Fight for Control of Illinois Life

Ernest J. Stevens opened a fight yesterday to regain control of the Illinois Life Insurance company, the collapse of which led to the indictment of himself, his father, and his brother on charges of embezzlement.

Charging that the company was wrecked when the Reconstruction Finance corporation withdrew an alleged promise to lend it $5,000,000, Stevens filed a petition asking Federal Judge Evan A. Evans, who is sitting temporarily in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court, to stop negotiations now in progress for liquidation of the company's assets and reinsurance of the policyholders in a new company.

The bill requests the court to instruct Gen. Abel Davis, receiver, to discontinue the reinsurance plans and to renew efforts to get $5,000,000 from the R. F. C. The judge permitted the petition to be filed and granted Gen. Davis 30 days in which to draw up an answer.

Speaks Also for Father.

If the $5,000,000 is provided Stevens contends that the new money, in conjunction with the recent state proclamation restricting payment of cash surrender values on policies, will enable the company to resume business as a going concern. In the petition he declares that he speaks also for his 80 year old father, James W. Stevens, former chairman of the board of the company, who is reported near death from a stroke. The bill makes no mention of his brother, Raymond, former president of the company, who last week committed suicide.

The $5,000,000 loan, Stevens avers, was promised prior to last Sept. 21 by Howard Preston, Chicago agent of the R. F. C. In consideration for the promise, he adds, the Stevens family agreed with certain demands, all of which, he contends, were carried out.

One of the conditions, he says, was that his father resign as chairman of the board and he as vice president and director. Another was that his father turn over to Harry W. Hanson, then state superintendent of insurance, 20,400 shares of Illinois Life stock and that he, Ernest, turn over 5,480 shares, the aggregate representing control of the company.

Include Hotel Holdings.

A third condition, he says, was that he and his father turn over all their holdings in the La Salle and Stevens hotels for the benefit of the insurance company. The shares, he maintains, were to be given to Mr. Hanson as an individual, rather than as insurance superintendent. He says they are now in posession of Receiver Davis.

With these conditions fulfilled, Stevens asserts, the R. F. C. granted the company only $700,000, a sum insufficient to meet the cash withdrawal demands it was then facing. Had the full $5,000,000 been granted, the company would not have gone into receivership, he says.

Should the R. F. C. refuse the new loan application, Stevens asks that the stocks he and his father pledged be returned to them.

A representative of Gen. Davis announced that the proposal for asking a new loan and the alternative demand for return of the stocks would both be opposed. Stevens' action, it was said, merely serves to delay consummation of the negotiations whereby the 70,000 Illinois Life policyholders will be reinsured by the Associated Mutuals of Boston.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR CHANGE TO NEW MILK AREAS

600,000 More Quarts Available Near By.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Plans were being formulated by Chicago milk distributing agencies yesterday for the marketing of more than 600,000 quarts of milk and cream which will be made available in coming months from dairy farms close to Chicago but hitherto denied a market here.

This potential increased supply was not expected by milk companies to become available at once, it was pointed out by officials. Many months will be required for some farmers and country milk plants to meet rigid Chicago board of health requirements. In addition, the approach of increased production during the spring from farmers now under contract to supply Chicago's milk was said to present an already overcrowded market supply.

Predicts Change Will Take Year.

One dairyman predicted that the process of bringing in the new supply of milk and cream from the immediate vicinity of the city, in preference to that now coming from northern Wisconsin and other distant points, would require more than a year. He forecast that the readjustment would be made without "seriously upsetting the existing market structure."

"The Pure Milk association stands ready to adjust itself to impending market changes," declared D. N. Geyer, secretary of the sales agency for 18,000 dairy farmers now supplying most of Chicago's fresh milk. "This association will continue its efforts to assure consumers in Chicago and suburbs an adequate supply of reasonably priced milk of high quality."

Bowman Silent on Policy.

Most of the cream now coming to Chicago from outlying points is under contract to the Bowman Dairy company and to ice cream manufacturers, it was learned yesterday. Officers of the Bowman company declined to be quoted on their attitude toward proposed readjustments in the market by the city board of health.

Officials of the Borden's Farm Products company declared that all milk and cream sold by that firm in the Chicago area came from within a radius of 90 to 100 miles. Other milk companies also reported they were obtaining ample supplies from "an economical distance."

Nearly 400 dairymen of McHenry and nearby counties held a massmeeting in Woodstock yesterday to determine a method of marketing their milk supplies in Chicago pending approval of their farms and herds by the health board. A majority expressed disapproval of present policies of the Pure Milk association, but favored a central coöperative agency for all farmers producing for Chicago.

Milwaukee Prices Increased.

While milk producers in more distant parts of Wisconsin face the loss of the Chicago market, an increase in the prices the farmers are to receive for milk consumed in Milwaukee was agreed upon last night. The price for fluid milk during the next month will be $1.75 per hundred pounds, an increase of 11 cents over the $1.65 paid last month. The retail price for milk, delivered, will be 6½ cents a quart, beginning Saturday. The price for delivered milk heretofore has been 8 cents.

The prices were agreed upon at a conference of members of the Milwaukee Coöperative Milk Producers' association and the distributors of Milwaukee.

GLORIA SWANSON DISCOVERS FLAT SHE WAS BORN IN

A shiny black limousine nosed into Osgood street just off Cubs ball park late yesterday, paused at No. 3703, and suddenly a shabby brown three story flat building became famous in the neighborhood as the birthplace of Gloria Swanson, of motion picture fame.

Miss Swanson, who arrived in Chicago on Wednesday, had delayed her departure for Hollywood until she could show her new husband, Michael Farmer, where she lived as a child. She also hoped to find the house where she was born.

"I didn't know the number," the actress explained later, "but I knew it was on Osgood street between Waveland avenue and Grace street. Then an old friend telephoned me. She said I was born at 1318 Osgood, which was later changed to 3703. I was sure I'd know the house because my mother had a picture of it, and right up there"—she pointed to a window above the entrance—"she marked an X and said I was born in that room."

Accompanied by her husband, the actress knocked on the door of the second floor apartment. The tenant, Edgar Mann, and his two astonished sons, Edgar Jr., 8, and Robert, 5, invited her to come in. They crossed the tiny livingroom and opened a store room door. "I was born in this room," the actress told Farmer. "That's the window my mother marked. We lived here until I was 4 years old."

Word of her presence brought Mrs. Guy E. Green who had lived next door for thirty years and Mrs. Mae C. Jones of 3703 Racine avenue, who volunteered to settle any dispute as to the authenticity of the birthplace.

"Mrs. Farmer," Mrs. Jones began, "your family moved out when my mother bought this house. That was a good many years ago."

COLITIS CALLED DIRECT CAUSE OF CERMAK'S DEATH

Wound Another Factor, Dr. Meyer Says.

Rumors still prevalent in Chicago purporting to give the "real cause" of the death of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak yesterday caused Dr. Karl Meyer, chief surgeon at the Cook County hospital and one of the physicians who attended the mayor in his illness at Miami, Fla., to issue a statement in which he discussed the causes of the mayor's death last March 6.

An ulcerative colitis condition was the direct cause of the mayor's death, Dr. Meyer said. This is an inflammation of the intestines. The wound caused by a bullet fired by Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin who was later executed for his crime, was a contributing factor to the colitis, and a general rundown condition also helped to lessen the mayor's chances.

Calls Rumors Nonsensical.

Dr. Meyer said that there was no gangrene in the lungs, thus contradicting the statements of other physicians in the case given out after he had left the mayor's bedside and returned to Chicago. Widely circulated stories that the mayor had diabetes or cancer were also branded as nonsensical by Dr. Meyer.

"The autopsy showed that the mayor's heart was in good condition and would have carried him along for at least another ten years," Dr. Meyer said.

In this condition, it was recalled that bulletins issued during the mayor's illness had stated the patient's heart muscle was "badly damaged."

"Everything Possible Done."

"All this talk about there being too many doctors in the case is nonsense," concluded Dr. Meyer. "Everything was done for the mayor that could have been done. An operation to remove the bullet would have done no good."

Water Plant Construction Recommended to Council

Construction of a new pumping station, for which the city has obtained $3,327,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, was recommended to the city council yesterday by the city's finance committee. The council was urged to authorized Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt to enter into a contract for the purchase of water pipe costing $825,000. When the new station is completed it will take the place of the present 14th and 32d street stations.

BETTY COMPTON IRKED BY NEW WALKER REPORT

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)

CANNES, France, March 30.—When Betty Compton was informed by a Paris newspaper tonight that "her [illegible]other is announcing the forthcoming marriage of her daughter to Jimmie Walker as soon as the former New York mayor receives official notification of his divorce," she showed great indignation.

"How do they get that way!" exclaimed the former show girl. "My mother has not even talked to the butcher in the last ten days. If we intended to marry, the world would hear about it. It isn't as easy to get married in France as in the United States."

Since his wife obtained a divorce in Miami, Walker has observed clamlike silence, refusing to discuss what he terms "strictly my own business." With Miss Compton he attended a cinema performance tonight. The couple are seen strolling along the shore daily and occasionally go on shopping expeditions in Nice.

DEADLINE FOR U. S. INCOME TAX FALLS TONIGHT

Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing income tax returns. There were no signs of unusual activity, however, in the federal building offices of Gregory T. Van Meter, collector of internal revenue, yesterday, and the offices were closed at 4:30 p. m. Usually they are kept open until midnight for the last few days before the final date. The extension of two weeks given taxpayers because of the bank moratorium was believed to be the reason for the absence of last minute taxpayers.

STEAL SAFE FROM DRUG STORE.

Richman Brothers Fine Clothes $18.50

You needn't pay more . . . you shouldn't pay less

Get it straight! The price of Richman Brothers Clothes is only $18.50 . . . but they are not $18.50 clothes.

In fabric, in workmanship, in style and in fit, they are away beyond their low price. This is no idle boast. It is a statement of fact that is known and acknowledged by all fair-minded clothing men.

Here are the reasons. We make our clothes in our own tailoring shops under our own supervision and we sell them in our own stores without middlemen's profit.

We buy and sell in big volume. We pay cash for all materials and GET better value. We sell for cash and GIVE better value.

We know and practice every possible economy. We've been making clothes for 54 years. We never hold "sales". We never juggle prices. Every man gets the same fair deal.

It's plain Extravagance to pay more, and no Economy to pay less.

COURT EXTENDS TIME FOR PAYING 1931 TAX BILLS

Deadline on Complaints Changed to April 29.

Orders entered by Judge John P. McGoorty in the Superior court yesterday in two suits brought by the Chicago Real Estate board give Cook county taxpayers more time to pay the first installment of their 1931 real estate taxes without penalties, and extend to April 29 the deadline for filing complaints against 1931 real estate assessments.

The penalty date for tax payments, which had been March 15, was extended to April 3, next Monday, by Judge McGoorty. It is to be further extended, however, to April 8, a week from tomorrow. Attorney Daniel S. Wentworth, who represented the real estate board, asked an extension to April 15 because of the tieup of many taxpayers' funds by the bank holiday.

Attorneys Agree on Dates.

County Attorney Hayden N. Bell and Attorney Thomas D. Nash, representing County Treasurer McDonough, objected to this. Mr. Nash asserted that whatever the length of the postponement, no flood of tax payments may be expected. Later, however, the three attorneys conferred and agreed to ask Judge McGoorty to amend his order today to fix April 8 as the penalty date. He told them yesterday that he would enter such an order if they wish.

The last real estate tax bills were not mailed out until March 3, and for this reason Treasurer McDonough extended the original penalty date, March 1, to March 15. In its suit the real estate board contended that the statutes provide that the last tax bill must be sent out 30 days before the penalty date.

Rejects Penalty Protest.

Judge McGoorty upheld this contention. He held that there was no merit, however, in another claim of the real estate board that the 1931 penalty date statute was deficient in that it did not fix the rate of monthly penalties on delinquent tax bills. These penalties, at the rate of 1 per cent a month, will not be added to first installment bills which are unpaid after April 3.

Today was to have been the final day for filing objections to 1931 real estate assessments before the board of tax appeals. Some 1,500 taxpayers filled corridors on two floors of the county building yesterday, waiting to file their complaints, when they were informed of Judge McGoorty's ruling extending the deadline. Most of them left to return at a later date.

Receive Complaints 60 Days.

In this case Attorney Wentworth contended, and was upheld by Judge McGoorty, that the board of tax appeals must receive complaints for 60 days after it first gives notice that it is ready to receive them. It gave that notice this year on Feb. 28.

Payments of 1931 taxes have continued at the treasurer's office at the rate of more than $1,000,000 a day since his clerks, a week ago, finished counting the payments received by mail before March 15, the former penalty date. The largest payment yesterday, one of $176,000, was made for the Milwaukee railroad by its tax agent, R. G. Bundy.

Hearing on Home Taxes.

The state tax commission yesterday finished hearing statements of Assessor J. L. Jacobs and George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel of the board of tax appeals of their position on the appeal board's order to reduce assessments on homes and small flat buildings 15 per cent.

Before it rules, the commission asked for written opinions from County Attorney Bell, who has advised the assessor to disregard the order because it is illegal, and from the private attorneys retained by Mr. Nixon.

The meeting yesterday, behind closed doors, saw a bitter personal exchange between Assessor Jacobs and Mr. Nixon, it was learned, during which charges of political trickery were hurled back and forth. They shook hands at the close of the session.

HERTZOG, SMUTS FORM NEW SOUTH AFRICAN CABINET

PRETORIA, South Africa, March 30.—(AP)—J. B. M. Hertzog, premier of South Africa, resigned today and then formed a new national cabinet. The step was the fulfillment of a plan of the Government party and the South African party to join forces in a national government.

Hertzog remains as premier and Gen. Jan Christiaan Smuts, leader of the South African party, becomes minister of finance. The 12 cabinet posts are divided equally between the two parties.

It is understood the new government proposes to hold a general election in July to seek the support of the country. The consummation of the coalition government followed several months of negotiations. Tielman Roos, retired Supreme court justice, recently made overtures to Gen. Smuts with a view of combining forces against the National government, but they were unable to come to terms.

Bar Members Vote to Fight Coalition Ticket on Judges

The board of managers of the Chicago Bar association was authorized by an overwhelming vote of the members yesterday to prepare for a battle in the June 5 judicial elections in case the Republicans and Democrats should put up a coalition ticket, including six Circuit court judges who were refused indorsement in the bar primaries last month.

The number of ballots cast in the referendum was 2,053. The vote on the two proposals to get set for an independent bar ticket, in the event of political party fusion on the six judges, was as follows:

1. "If a coalition ticket shall be nominated containing the names of candidates disapproved by the bar association in the bar primary of February, 1933, do you favor the nomination of an independent ticket?" The vote stood: Yes, 1,781; no, 258.

2. "In the present emergency with reference to the coming judicial election, shall the board of managers be given authority in the matter of securing nominations of candidates for an independent ticket?" The vote was: Yes, 1,659; no, 359.

Six Turned Down by Bar.

The six Circuit judges who failed to obtain indorsement in the bar primaries and again whom the movement for an independent bar ticket is directed in the event they are nominated by both political parties on a coalition agreement are: Judges George Fred Rush, Michael Feinberg, David M. Brothers, and Stanley H. Klarkowski, Republicans; and John R. Caverly and Harry M. Fisher, Democrats.

In case the disapproved judges are slated on a fusion ticket by the two parties and an independent bar ticket is found essential, it is stipulated that the number of candidates on it shall not exceed the number of candidates disapproved by the bar association whose names appear on a coalition ticket. The independent ticket is also to include any sitting judges approved by the bar primaries whose names may be omitted from a coalition ticket.

Backs Qualified Judges.

A letter from Charles P. Megan, president of the bar association, in submitting the referendum last week to the members, remarked:

"The association stands firmly behind those judges whose record of service has been good and will do all in its power to bring about their re-election without reference to their party affiliations. The association should stand firmly against the election of judges who have demonstrated their unfitness and against the election of new candidates who lack the requisite qualifications for judicial office."

PICK UP 2 U. S. AVIATORS WHO LANDED IN JUNGLE

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, March 30.—(AP)—W. A. Flowers of Dallas, Tex., and Harry Scott of New Orleans, who were lost Sunday while attempting to fly from Managua, were brought here today by a United States army amphibian plane which picked them up from the Cuculaya river, where they were sighted yesterday.

Although both men were uninjured in their forced landing, they incurred cuts while making their way through the jungle. They also had suffered from insect bites and were weak from lack of food and water.

Capt. Whitehead piloted the amphibian which picked them up. Army and civilian flyers sighted Flowers and Scott canoeing down the Cuculaya river yesterday about 200 miles from here. Their plane had previously been discovered in the soft mud of a swamp near the river.

GIRL DIES OF BRAIN HEMORRHAGE.

Miss Bernice Olson, 21 years old, 1638 North Keystone avenue, a nurse employed for the last five years by Dr. Jerome L. Rosengard, 3208 Ogden avenue, died of a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday in her home. Dr. Rosengard said the case was puzzling in view of the girl's youth.

P. A. Nash Looms as Choice of Democrats for Mayoralty

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Sentiment among Democratic committeemen seemed tending towards Patrick A. Nash, official party leader, last night as a possible choice of the city council for next mayor of Chicago, to fill out the term of the late Anton J. Cermak, which runs to April, 1935.

About a score of other names of possibilities cropped out in the gossip immediately after word came that the legislature had passed the Graham emergency bill at Springfield, embodying the program formulated by the Democratic organization some three weeks ago.

Validates Corr Election.

Indications last night were that the Democratic organization will not make a rush matter of selecting the new mayor, and that he may not be elected until the middle of April, or perhaps later. At the city hall and also at Springfield, the view was expressed that the Graham bill validates the election of Acting Mayor Frank J. Corr, who was named by the council as de facto mayor, and that he now has power to sign warrants, bonds and other municipal documents.

Acting Mayor Corr, immediately after word was received that the bill was passed, put out a statement reiterating his original utterance that he is not a candidate to fill the full unexpired term. He said he has not signed any resignation, and that his action would depend on "the natural course of events," which was construed as meaning that he would step aside whenever the organization decides on who shall be next mayor. His statement read:

"My position regarding the legislation which was passed at Springfield today has not changed since I made my original statement to the council and the public that I am not a candidate for mayor to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Cermak.

Awaits Course of Events.

"In my original statement I said my actions would be guided wholly by whatever program and legislation the legislature might see fit to adopt. I have not even studied the bill for the purpose of knowing what is contained therein. My actions in the future will be guided by the natural course of events and solely and wholly on the law as it is contained in this statute.

"I wish to make this further statement that the assertion that my blank resignation is in the hands of any person or persons is not a fact. I have signed no resignation for anybody."

The Democratic county convention is to be held tomorrow at the Morrison hotel to pick delegates for the Supreme court convention of the 7th district. It is expected to yield much informal side discussion on the mayorality. Mr. Nash is expected back from New York for the meeting. An organization caucus on mayor is expected to be held Sunday or Monday.

Besides Mr. Nash, among those spoken of yesterday as potential candidates whose names may be considered in the caucuses are:

COL. A. A. SPRAGUE, former commissioner of public works.

WILLIAM H. SEXTON, corporation counsel.

FRANCIS X. BUSCH, former corporation counsel.

ROBERT M. SWEITZER, county clerk and twice Democratic candidate for mayor, in 1915 and 1919.

CLAYTON F. SMITH, county recorder.

ROSS A. WOODHULL, sanitary trustee.

THOMAS J. BOWLER, president sanitary district.

JOHN TOMAN, alderman 23d ward.

JOHN S. CLARK, alderman, 30th ward.

J. M. ARVEY, alderman, 24th ward.

JOSEPH L. GILL, Municipal court clerk.

ALBERT J. HORAN, bailiff Municipal court.

DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, president, board of health

EDMUND K. JARECKI, County judge.

Run-off Election Tuesday.

The election of a new mayor is expected to await the installation of the new city council. The runoff elections are to be held Tuesday. In the present council the Democrats have thirty-two aldermen; the Republicans, eighteen. In the new council the Democrats will have at least thirty-five members and possibly thirty-eight or forty, depending on the results of the runoff contests.

The council plans to adjourn until April 17, to give the committee on committees a chance to work out a reorganization. At the city hall yesterday the talk was that the council leaders did not expect a special meeting to be called in the interim to elect a new mayor.

Among the ward committeemen the view was generally advanced that the choice for mayor will depend upon several factors. First, they said, he must be a man who will have public confidence and who will carry on the Cermak policies at the city hall in the way of economy, retrenchment, and service. Second, he must be acceptable to all groups in the local Democracy and be able to promote party harmony.

Nash a Favorite.

In general, they said, Mr. Nash seems to be the favorite among the organization, on the ground that he is regarded as the best harmonizer, as evidenced by the unanimous vote which elected him to succeed Mayor Cermak as local party leader and national committeeman. Three weeks ago he was prominently spoken of as successor in the event the city council should be empowered to elect an 'outsider."

Until the caucuses are held, however, sentiment begins to crystalize among the big patronage office holders, it is all conjecture. A score of lightning rods are being shined up.

HOME RULE ON BEER LICENSES MEETS REBUFFS

Illinois House Votes for State Tax.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., March 30.—[Special.]—Home rule for Chicago, and for all other Illinois cities and towns as well, in the matter of beer regulation, was denied by the house of representatives late today. Administration amendments to the beer bill, which imposes a state tax of $100 on each license, were adopted and municipalities are thus denied that revenue.

Also adopted were all other amendments pushed by the state leaders. So the bill was sent to third reading—and will probably be passed next week—written in almost the same language adopted by the committee on license and regulation.

Local Option Beaten.

Bone drys and recent, although somewhat reluctant, converts to the liberal cause did all in their power to pass amendments to limit the sale of the 3.2 per cent drink, but they were defeated on every turn. Local option also went by the board.

But the big fight was against imposition of the state license fee and those who opposed it put up a hard fight. Notable among them were three Republicans, Richard J. Lyons, Mundelein; Frank A. McCarthy, Elgin and Leroy M. Green, Rockford. Lyons was most persistent. He based his plea on two considerations: First, that local governments needed revenue more than the state, and second, that multitudinous taxes placed beer out of reach of the laborer. In a gesture of sarcasm, he presented the last amendment to be voted upon. It read:

Although they laughed, the Democratic members voted the amendment down with the same monotonous regularity they had treated almost all the others presented.

Opponents of the levy tried first to abolish it altogether. Then they moved it be cut to $50; then $25, finally $60. And all went to defeat. The $100 provision stood.

Attacks State Tax Plan.

At one point in his bitter speech against the tax, Green said: "I can see Al Capone beating his head against the bars when he realizes that the thousands of places licensed to sell beer in Chicago will be compelled to buy strong liquor from racketeers in order to make their expenses under the burden of taxes imposed by this bill."

McCarthy's appeal was more temperate. "The state," he said, "is for the first time attempting to invade the field of home rule. This bill cannot but drive dealers to serving illegal beverages."

Most of their Republican colleagues voted with this trio and a few Democrats went along.

Features of State Plan.

There was little trouble encountered with the other administration proposals. In substance, they follow:

1. City license fees, downstate municipalities limited to $300 maximum, but Chicago given carte blanch to charge what it wishes. Amount to be fixed by the city council.

2. A two cent per gallon tax upon brewers and importers.

3. A 100 foot restriction around churches and schools.

4. A state bond of $500 for each licensee and a $5,000 bond for manufacturers and importers.

5. No brewer permitted to enter into retail business and all retail establishments to avoid use of word "saloon" in advertisements.

6. Sale of beer prohibited in places where food is not for sale.

Dry Leaders Are Present.

Perhaps as stubborn a fight as any today came with consideration of a local option amendment presented by Lottie Holman O'Neill [Rep., Downer's Grove]. She has been a prohibition advocate for years. The presence in the gallery of Superintendent George B. Safford of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league was thought by many to have been the motivating force behind most of the dry efforts. Mr. Safford beamed when each such amendment was called, but his face lengthened as all were, in turn, voted down.

When Mrs. O'Neill's amendment was called, Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, Republican floor leader, moved to amend it further by making it "precinct" option; that is, allowing any precinct to vote itself dry, if it wished. No beer could then be sold within its borders.

Howard L. Doyle [Dem., Decatur] promptly raised the question that, whereas the house was voting to legalize use of a beverage termed non-intoxicating, Schnackenberg's amendments might also apply to coffee, tea, or soda pop.

Amendment Is Defeated.

So the amendment went down to defeat, tabled by a mighty viva voce vote.

Mrs. O'Neill's amendment suffered a like fate. So it was with most of the others. Speaker Roe ruled with an iron hand as the hours dragged along, constantly repeating the theme, "We're going to finish this work if it takes until midnight."

Once when, trying to maintain order, he banged the sounding block so hard that the head of his gavel flew off and described a parabola before it struck he floor. But the members stayed, Chicagoans passing up the 6 o'clock train to that city so that the bill could be advanced.

Fifty-seven amendments, printed in pamphlet form, were on the members' desks when they started consideration of the bill. Twelve of these were adopted but they made only agreed changes in wording and were not controversial.

STRIKE LEADS TO AUTO LOCKOUT IN PARIS; 21,000 IDLE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 30.—Because of a partial strike yesterday in protest against salary cuts, the 21,000 employés of the Citroen automobile factory in Paris, the largest in France, found lockout notices posted when they reported for work today.

The factory remained closed throughout the day, and though Andre Citroen, known as the French Henry Ford, received a delegation of workers, there was no indication as to when the plant would reopen.

The trouble in the Citroen plant was precipitated by the announcement of a wage reduction of 10 per cent, effective April 1. Citroen himself had addressed employés to explain why this pay cut was necessary. Yesterday when tracts demanding a strike were circulated on the factory premises, some of the workers quit their machines about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The moment this information reached Citroen he ordered the lockout.

Mrs. Lena Pressman was robbed of $200 last evening by three armed men who entered her fur store at 608 Maxwell street and threatened to kill her if she raised an outcry.

TELLS OF LOANS TO CO-OP SOCIETY IN BANK TRIAL

John J. Bailey, auditor for the state's attorney, continued his testimony yesterday before Judge Francis B. Allegretti, analyzing the loans made by the City State bank before it closed, Nov. 2, 1929. Five officials of the bank are on trial before a jury on charges of accepting deposits while knowing that the bank was insolvent.

Bailey's testimony disclosed that the Coöperative Society of America and six other companies in which the bank was interested had been granted heavy loans on small security. The coöperative society, which controlled the stock of the bank, had sixteen notes totaling $338,198 which were periodically renewed at ninety day intervals, Bailey said, the interest never being collected in cash but being charged to accounts receivable.

At the time the coöperative society had these loans it had a $8,407,252 deficit, Bailey testified.

Sanitary District to Issue Million in New Warrants

The sanitary district board passed an ordinance authorizing the issuance of an additional $1,000,000 worth of 1932 tax anticipation warrants at its meeting yesterday. The board has already issued 1932 warrants to the amount of $825,000. Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the board's finance committee, pointed out that no 1932 warrants are in the hands of the public. Contractors and creditors are given 1931 warrants in payment of bills and the securities are replaced with 1932 warrants in the various funds of the districts.

Burglar Robs President of Wheaton Bank in Home

A robber entered the Wheaton home of David Dunbar, president of the Wheaton Trust and Savings bank, early yesterday morning and held up Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar. He got $25 from the banker and a diamond ring from his wife and escaped through a bedroom window by which he had entered.

INDUSTRY FEELS CHEER OF BEER AHEAD OF TIME

Brewers Order Supply of Trucks, Bottles, Etc.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Legal beer will not begin to flow until April 7, but millions of dollars already have started to flow through the channels of trade, the department of commerce announced today.

Breweries are placing orders for 4,590 trucks and 4,960 passenger cars, the department has been informed. Maintenance of those vehicles, it is estimated, will put 20 million dollars in circulation. Overhauling of motor vehicles owned will require another 6 million dollars.

Bottle Makers Are Helped.

The bottle business is another one getting a boost. A total of 720 million bottles a year are expected to be needed to hold the country's beer supply. One order of 30 million bottles has been reported and another of 15 millions. Still another order calls for a million glass tumblers, soon to have foam spilling over their brims.

Since each bottle must have a label, the printing industry is also being benefited, the department reported. Many barrel factories have orders which will keep them busy until the end of the summer, while manufacturers of boxes and cartons are busy preparing for the bottle trade.

Steel, Rubber Affected.

The steel industry gets its share in braces for beer cases and hoops for barrels and brewery vats. Rubber companies will supply tires for the new automobiles, belting and hose for the breweries, boots and aprons for the brewery employes and beer pump valves for the bar.

Refrigerator firms are getting ready with cooling devices, not only for the public dispensary, but for hotel rooms and the home. The latest model refrigerator will have a compartment especially for bottled beer.

The chemical industry is profiting since chemicals are required in glass manufacture, as refrigerating fluids, and for cleaning bottles.

Await Vote of Drinkers.

"Purchases of raw materials with which to brew beer are difficult to estimate until the American public has demonstrated its willingness to buy the new beverage," says the departmental bulletin. "On the basis of previous consumption figures collected by the foodstuffs division, the brewing industry may be expected to consume annually about 2 billion pounds of malt, 167 million pounds of rice, 650 million pounds of corn and corn products, 41 million pounds of hops, 118 million pounds of sugar and 204 million pounds of grits, wheat, bran and barley."

TWO SLAYERS OF CATTLEMAN GET LIFE TERMS

Two young men who confessed the murder of Henry Shoop, cattleman of Wibaux, Mont., who was beaten to death last Oct. 31 in the Stockyards inn, Halsted and 42d streets, were sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge James F. Fardy in the Criminal court. They are Benjamin F. Herr, 23 years old, of McClusky, N. D., and Merle L. Lowman, 19 years old, of Westerheim, N. D. Both pleaded guilty. The two accompanied Shoop to Chicago on a cattle train from Wibaux last October. They entered his hotel room to rob him and beat him to death when he resisted.

HOTELS HOLD UP BEER PLANS TILL TAXES ARE FIXED

Chicago hotel men yesterday continued for the second time a meeting called to discuss the retailing of beer and the celebration of its return at 12:01 a. m., April 7. The meeting was adjourned until state and city legislation as to licenses and taxes makes it possible for the brewers to quote definite prices. Further instructions also must be received from Washington before the hotels will know whether they can remove beer from the breweries under bond prior to April 7.

Sheriff William D. Meyering yesterday called a conference for this afternoon with members of the Illinois Brewers' association, at which the problem of keeping the hoodlums out of the beer business will be discussed.

"I have been informed that the hoodlums are making elaborate plans to muscle in on the beer business," said the sheriff. "I am going to find out whether this is so. I intend to inform myself fully on all angles of the new beer business and keep the industry out of the hands of the racketeers."

Driver Who Crippled Boy Sentenced to Four Months

Kellie Fetters, 26 years old, of Hammond, was sentenced to four months in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Samuel H. Trude on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. The victim of the accident, Arthur Voight, 10 years old, 9829 Exchange avenue, was in court in a wheel chair. He was crippled last Jan. 10 by Fetters' automobile.

LEADER OF U. S. ARMY OF DRYS TO BE REPLACED

Cummings Tells Plans; Work for Beer.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock will soon lose his place at the head of the nation's dry enforcement work to a Democratic appointee, Attorney General Homer Cummings so announced today.

Regulations on the sale of beer and for the protection of dry states soon will be issued, he added. Pending their publication, he advised railroads to "give serious thought" to the problem which might arise if they undertook to sell beer on their diners.

Matters Still Unsettled.

Although he is proceeding with appointments in the department of justice, Mr. Cummings refused to say whether he is to remain as attorney general. He originally was appointed temporarily.

Cummings said he anticipated no sweeping order opening breweries which now are padlocked. The problem of freeing beer prisoners also is undetermined, he said. He has been unable to determine whether there is any feasible way for segregating beer cases from those of other liquor law violators.

New Yorkers in Doubt.

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—[Special.]—A week before 3.2 beer becomes legal by federal enactment New Yorkers don't know yet when they may start legal beer drinking.

This state may have legal beer on April 7. It may not have it until several weeks later. It may have it for a few days beginning April 7 and then stop having it for about two weeks, then have it again. It all depends on what the lawmakers do about a state control bill.

The plan of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman for the enactment of an honest beer law, unencumbered by partisan politics, was passed by the senate in amended form but faces almost certain defeat in the house.

May Delay Beer Trucks.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—(AP)—Thirsty residents of Minneapolis, eagerly awaiting the return of beer April 7, have discovered to their dismay that under existing ordinance it cannot be delivered to them until at least five hours after it becomes legal.

The city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting delivery of "any food or drink for human consumption" between midnight and 5 a. m. in order to abate noise connected with delivery of milk. The city attorney today ruled beer comes under terms of that ordinance.

Minnesota May Drink.

St. Paul, Minn., March 30.—(AP)—Sale of 3.2 beer already is legal in this state and the state senate passed and sent to the governor today a bill repealing state prohibition laws passed since 1918 with the exception of four provisions. The house had approved the bill.

Ohio Legalizes Beer.

Columbus, O., March 30.—(AP)—Gov. George White tonight signed the Ohio beer bill which legalizes 3.2 per cent beer in this state beginning April 7. The bill received final approval of the senate tonight and was taken at once to the governor. It has an emergency clause. It provides $1 a barrel tax on all beer manufactured or sold in this state; for a state commission; $1,000 brewery license fee with 5 cents additional on each barrel in excess of 5,000 annually. Retail stores may sell beer in bottles for consumption off the premises. License fee $50 a year. Hotels, restaurants, clubs, and amusement parks may sell beer for consumption on the premises at tables only. License fee $100 a year.

Maryland Gets Ready.

Annapolis, Md., March 30.—(AP)—By a vote of 36 to 3 the Maryland senate today adopted the administration measure to select on Sept. 12 delegates for a convention, to meet Oct. 10, to act on the repeal of the 18th amendment. The measure now goes to the house.

City Owned Beer Garden.

Mount Angel, Ore., March 30.—(AP)—Business men and aldermen have tentatively agreed to dispense the new 3.2 beer at an establishment operated by the city. If successful, sponsors of the idea envision ultimate establishment of a municipally owned typical German biergarten.

MEDICINAL RUM BILL IS PASSED, TO ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—The Volstead act took another legislative blow today when the house gave final approval to the Copeland-Cellar bill removing all restrictions on the issuance of medicinal liquor prescriptions.

The method of its passage in both branches of congress was as indicative of the anti-prohibition feeling on Capitol Hill as are its provisions. The senate yesterday disposed of the bill without debate in ten minutes. In the house today, it passed by an informal standing vote of 153 to 59 after only a brief period of perfunctory argument.

The bill substitutes for the Volstead act's rigid limitation on liquor prescriptions the broad regulation that "no more liquor shall be prescribed to any person than is necessary to supply his medicinal needs." Under the dry statute, physicians could issue only 100 prescriptions a month and not more than a pint of whisky or a quart of wine to one patient every ten days.

A similar bill, offered by Representative Emanuel Cellar [Dem., N. Y.], passed the house at the last session but died in the senate. The present bill originated in the senate where it was introduced by Senator Royal Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], a physician. Approval by the house sends it to the White House for an expected early signing by the President.

Call Voliva for Quiz in Weber-Simpson Jr. Contest

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, head of the religious colony at Zion, was subpoenaed yesterday to appear today at Waukegan for questioning by the commissioners, appointed by the national house of representatives in connection with the congressional inquiry into the election contest between Charles Weber, Democrat, and James Simpson Jr., Republican, who defeated Weber in the Tenth district last November by 1,228 votes.

Shop Owner Facing Girl's Charge Shoots Himself

Ludwig Sunde, 59 years old, 1938 East 71st street, who shot and severely wounded himself yesterday in front of his dress shop in the Central Plaza hotel, 321 North Central avenue, was reported in a critical condition last night in the West Suburban hospital, Oak Park. Sunde is believed to have been despondent over a charge of attempted rape brought against him recently by Miss Marie Hoelkman, 5042 Winthrop avenue.

NATURE SAYS IT WITH BUDS THAT "SPRING IS HERE"

50,000 Sprouting Flowers Can't Be Wrong.

Certain reliable symbols of spring were noted in Chicago yesterday as the mercury rose to 57 degrees at 7 p. m., 16 degrees above normal for the day. Continued moderate temperatures with fair skies is forecast for tomorrow, April 1.

Grass is greening in the parks and in city yards. Glossy sheaths of hyacinths are showing an inch above the ground, tulips in the west park system are showing buds and crocuses have broken through the earth, park florists reported.

The red of the peony's first shoots is visible, a Floasmoor garden enthusiast reported. In yards of some of the old Rush street homes green tips were marked on spirea, and in the yard of the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's stone house at 1000 Lake Shore drive, now unoccupied except for a caretaker, the bed of tulips which during her lifetime was as inevitable as spring itself thrust its green spikes through the soil.

50,000 Bulbs Can't Be Wrong.

Fifty thousand new bulbs, including tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and crocus, which were planted outside last November, are up in Lincoln park, Walter Neil, assistant florist of the conservatory, said.

In the west parks 140,000 bulbs were planted last fall, some of which, notably the crocus, should be in bloom within three weeks, a conservatory official said. The forsythia, whose yellow bloom is one of the first of spring, should be in flower ten days or two weeks from now. The poplars and willows need only a few warm days to bring out their catkins, and the soft maples will begin to flower forth with a little needed sunshine.

Crews of men provided by the relief commission are working in the playgrounds, landscaping grounds and refurbishing and erecting equipment which has been stored during the winter, according to Walter Wright, superintendent of parks and playgrounds.

West Parks to Dress Up.

Despite lack of funds the west park system will find the means to dress up for the World's Fair. As soon as the earth dries the ground along Washington, Jackson, and Augusta boulevards will be spaded and seeded for the first time, according to Miss Ida Bell Jenista, acting superintendent, and August Koch, chief florist.

Save Chicago Woman's Life Then File Suit for $17,500

NAPLES, Italy, March 30.—(AP)—Six fishermen who rescued Mrs. June Jewett James of Chicago and four companions when their airplane, Windward III., fell into the Gulf of Salerno Jan. 25 have filed suit here for $17,500 for recovering the wrecked plane. Mrs. James is recuperating from two broken ribs and leg injuries sustained in the accident.

FORMER LOS ANGELES COUNTY OFFICIAL IS CONVICTED FOR BRIBE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Sidney T. Graves, 49, politician and until recently chairman of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, today was convicted of accepting an $80,000 bribe while serving as a county official. Graves announced determination to appeal the verdict of the jury in Judge Fletcher Bowron's court. If the appeal fails he will face imprisonment from one to 14 years in San Quentin.

Following Graves' conviction, county officials began mapping a legal fight seeking recovery of a portion of an $820,765.90 settlement paid out by Los Angeles county as damages to contractors who had been halted on construction of the $35,000,000 high Sangabriel dam. During the trial it was charged that Graves accepted an $80,000 bribe from C. R. Ross, Alan MacDonald and Felix Kahn, contractors, to influence his vote in making the $800,000 payment to the contractors.

JAIL CARRIER OF 7 STICKS OF DYNAMITE

Two policemen stopped Micheal O'Donnell, 31 years old, 20 North Racine avenue, at Madison street and Racine avenue and demanded to know what was in a brown paper parcel he was carrying. They opened the parcel and found seven sticks of dynamite, percussion caps and fuse. O'Donnell, who was locked up, said he had been given the package to deliver to a man he knew only as Martin.

Later Martin Hangaard, 434 Hickory street, Lombard, was arrested in his home and admitted he had owned the explosive. He said he had used dynamite recently in blasting stumps and gave what he did not use to O'Donnell when the latter offered to get rid of it.

Halperin, Film Magnate, Replies to Wife's Suit

Hollywood, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Victor Halperin, motion picture magnate, today filed an answer to the separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Irene Halperin, whom he wed in Chicago in 1923, and denied she was entitled to alimony. Halperin further denied that the stay of his mother at her home constituted cruelty, saying she was invited by his wife as well as himself. Mrs. Halperin, who is a musician, charged that her husband caused her to be "bossed" by his mother and his brother, Edward, who is his partner as a film producer.

Watchman Shot in Fight with Two Negro Bandits

Albert Adams, 61 years old, 225 South 17th avenue, Maywood, was wounded in the left hand early today in an encounter with two Negro bandits. The robbers grappled with him when he tried to keep them from entering a building he was guarding at 221 North Wood street and one wrested his pistol from him. After shooting him with his own weapon both robbers fled.

MOVE TO INCLUDE CITIES IN REVISED BANKRUPTCY LAW

House Committee Begins Hearings on Bills.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Legislation to bring municipalities within the newly broadened bankruptcy laws emerged today as a possible part of President Roosevelt's reconstruction program.

The house judiciary committee began hearings on two measures aimed at enabling political subdivisions to readjust their indebtedness through voluntary agreements with their bondholders. Similar legislation applying to individuals and railroads was passed at the last session of congress.

Moley Discusses Proposal.

Although Representative Hatton W. Sumners [Dem., Tex.] disavowed any administration urging in behalf of the cities, it was learned that Raymond Moley, one of the President's close economic advisers, has spent considerable time discussing the subject with members of both the house and senate judiciary committees.

Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, who drafted the so-called McLeod bill now before the committee, is understood to have received assurances from President Roosevelt that some steps would be taken to ease municipal indebtedness.

The McLeod bill together with a companion measure introduced by Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] in the senate, and the Wilcox bill offered in the house by Representative Mark Wilcox [Dem., Fla.], were before the committee today. In effect both provide for a moratorium on municipal indebtedness to be ordered by the federal bankruptcy court, during which bankruptcy or hard pressed political subdivisions may seek a readjustment of their bonded indebtedness.

Would Provide Solution.

Most of the witnesses, including representatives of insurance companies, municipal bond holders, and city governments, gave support to the proposal today, although there was some divergence of opinion as between the McLeod-Norris bill and the Wilcox measure.

Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the Municipal finance officers' association of Chicago, told the committee the plan would provide a solution for the present situation which finds cities unable to meet their bonded debt forced to refinance at even higher interest rates than offered on the original bond issue.

Meanwhile the United States chamber of commerce made public a report of a special subcommittee, recommending against passage of the municipal bankruptcy legislation and asserting that default on municipal bonds could better be averted by "economy and efficiency in local government."

SELF-LIQUIDATING RIVER PROJECTS, ROOSEVELT'S AIM

Tolls on Waterways Is Considered.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today disclosed he may insist that any rivers and harbors projects included in his prospective public works program must be of a self liquidating nature.

In event this plan were followed, legislation would have to be passed providing for the placing of tolls upon traffic over the waterways built as a part of the relief program. This would represent a limited change of policy on river and harbor construction work.

Committee Hears Views.

The Roosevelt views were made known to a committee of congressmen headed by Representative Frank R. Reid [Rep., Ill.], president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, an organization largely controlled by Senator Huey Long [Rad., La.], and other citizens of Louisiana. The delegation urged President Roosevelt to include rivers and harbors projects in his prospective public works program. They also advocated the immediate appropriation of all funds needed to complete the half billion dollar rivers and harbors program which has been approved by army engineers.

President Roosevelt told the group that he favored including in the proposed public works bond issue program only construction projects which would supply the maximum of labor.

Sees No Radical Changes.

He said, according to the delegation, that less actual labor was involved in river and harbor projects than in many other types of construction. The President also suggested, the delegation said, that if river and harbor projects were included an attempt should be made to select those which would be self liquidating.

MARIE DRESSLER CALLS SHAW "A SASSY BOY HID BEHIND WHISKERS"

Hollywood, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—A healthy, hefty, flashing eyed woman arrived from the east to champion her movie sisters. She felt snubbed here last Tuesday by George Bernard Shaw.

Marie Dressler, when she got off the train, made this remark on behalf of Alice Brady and Ann Harding:

"For a man with so little to say, George Bernard Shaw does more talking than any one on earth. You can tell how old Shaw is by his jokes. He wouldn't have gotten by with anything if I'd been around. To me, he's just a sassy little boy hiding behind white whiskers."

SCHOOL PAY DAY ACTION STARTED BY LOOP BANKS

The possibility of a pay day for teachers and other school employes appeared yesterday when representatives of the loop banks requested the school auditor's office to give figures on the amount needed to complete the pay roll for June of last year.

The teachers worked 14 days in June and recently received 1931 tax anticipation warrants in lieu of cash for 7 days. The civil service employes of the school board received warrants for half of the time they worked in June, or two days.

To complete the pay roll, Roscoe L. Douglas, assistant school auditor, announced, cash to the extent of $1,603,478 will be needed for the employes as follows: Regular teachers, $1,327,193; civil service, $256,468, and playground teachers, $19,812.

HOTEL CASHIER ROBBED.

Lamont du Pont Is Sued for Divorce in Reno

Reno, Nev., March 30.—(AP)—Carolens H. du Pont filed suit late today to divorce Lamont du Pont on grounds of cruelty. They were married at Wilmington, Del., Sept. 5, 1930. Du Pont is chairman of the board of General Motors and head of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company.

Rusty Tacks in Mouth Cause Lockjaw Death

Lockjaw, which developed from holding rusty tacks in his mouth while at work, yesterday caused the death in the County hospital of Jack Lerner, 49 years old, 4519 North St. Louis avenue. Lerner conducted an upholstering business at the St. Louis avenue address.

GIRL, 17, FOUND KILLED BY AUTO; DRIVER HUNTED

Broken Glass on Highway Clew to Tragedy.

Victim of a speeding automobile driver who did not stop, the body of Violet Ganschow, 17 year old high school girl, was found beside the Northwest highway, near Arlington Heights, yesterday. A coroner's jury recommended that the driver be apprehended and held for manslaughter.

A theory that the girl had been slain was entertained by police for a time. Her body was bruised and there was a deep gash in her skull which, an autopsy revealed, had been fractured. Fragments of glass from a shattered headlight of an automobile were discovered, however, on the concrete highway at the point where the body was found and the police became convinced that Miss Ganschow had been struck by an automobile.

Last Seen Alive on Highway.

The girl was last seen about 8 p. m. Wednesday night, walking along the highway not far from where her body was found.

Mystery was added to the affair when Mrs. Katherine Ganschow, the girl's mother, discovered that her daughter had been a truant for three months from the Palatine Township High school where she was a sophomore.

The girl had been leaving home each morning but had spent the days loitering about town, it was learned. A set of New Years' resolutions were found in her pocketbook in which she pledged herself to "keep on the straight path."

Auto Kills 6 Year Old Boy.

Wallace Bauchman, 6 years old, 2901 East 81st street, was fatally hurt yesterday afternoon by an automobile at 81st street and Exchange avenue, near his home. Charles Smith, 41 years old, 7450 Luella avenue, the driver, was held by the South Chicago police.

Walter Linsted, 11 years old, 7120 Lowe avenue, died in the county hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile in front of 946 West 69th street.

These three deaths and one other yesterday increased the 1933 motor toll in Cook county to 201. The other victim:

Mrs. Veronica Huptick, 79 years old, 2171 North Meade avenue. Fatally injured last night at Fullerton and Meade avenues by an automobile driven by George Moisley, 3638 Costello avenue.

Chicago Lawyer Killed.

Harry J. Fireman, 35 years old, 6745 Paxton avenue, was killed and three members of his family and a maid were injured yesterday when Fireman's automobile overturned near Fort Pierce, Fla. Fireman was an attorney with offices at 110 South Dearborn street.

Mrs. H. S. Burroughs, 64 years old, of 1456 Fargo avenue, was killed when a car in which she was riding with her daughter struck a tree on U. S highway 112 near Saline, Mich., yesterday. The daughter, Mrs. Evelyn McKenzie of Quincy, Ill., and her five year old son were taken to the University hospital in Ann Arbor.

Seven automobiles were damaged last night when two women drivers collided at Forest and Kedzie avenues, Evanston. Mrs. Nellie Driver, 35 years old, 423 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth, wife of Charles E. Driver, Chicago broker, and Mrs. Barney Orr, 1038 Pleasant street, Oak Park, were the drivers. Five parked cars suffered as the two automobiles careened against them. Mrs. Driver was arrested and charged with speeding. She was released on $25 bail.

CRASH VICTIMS

Mrs. H. S. Burroughs (left), who was killed in auto accident near Saline, Mich., and her daughter, Mrs. Evelyn McKenzie, who was injured.

FREE JERRY KANE AFTER TRIAL FOR POLICE KILLING

Jerry Kane was acquitted yesterday of the charge of murdering Policeman Frank J. Cunningham last July 4. A jury in the Criminal court of Judge Harry A. Lewis returned the verdict after deliberating only ten minutes. The state had demanded the death penalty.

Kane, represented by Attorney James M. Burke, had confessed killing the policeman in the soft drink parlor of Jerry Hynek at 2025 Laflin street, but repudiated the confession during the trial. He asserted it had been obtained by "police brutality."

Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis tried to prove that Kane had shot Policeman Cunningham when the latter interrupted a robbery.

500 LIONS CLUB MEMBERS DINE AT FAIR GROUNDS

Five hundred members of Lions clubs in the Chicago area held a dinner yesterday in the Old Heidelberg inn on the World's Fair grounds at 23d street and the lake. It was the first time the big kitchen of the inn had been opened.

The progress of the exposition was described by Dr. Allen D. Albert, assistant to President Rufus C. Dawes, and Harry P. Harrison, chief of admissions. Frank J. Haggerty, district governor, presided. The Lions and their guests were taken on a tour of the fair grounds in the forenoon.

Robert and Max Eitel, who built the $100,000 Old Heidelberg inn, told the visitors that by the opening of the exposition they will have storage space for 150 barrels of beer. There will be four bars, including the one in the rathskeller basement, and beer gardens surrounding the building. In all the inn will have a seating capacity of 3,500 persons.

OLD IMMANUEL CHURCH MAKES READY FOR FAIR

Offers All Its Facilities to Baptist Visitors.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Again old Immanuel Baptist church, 2330 South Michigan avenue, will be one of the hosts to visitors who attend a World's Fair in Chicago. In 1893, under the leadership of the late Rev. Dr. O. C. Gifford, who two years later was to relinquish his pastorate to the youngster, the Rev. Johnston Myers, Immanuel church was an important center for Baptist visitors to the Columbian exposition.

This year, when similar hosts of Baptists begin arriving for A Century of Progress exposition, it will be found that Dr. Myers—still regarded one of the younger pastors of the city as far as leadership and enterprise are concerned—has made unique plans for their reception. Under Dr. Myers' plans, Immanuel's reception already has begun back in the visitors' home towns.

Invitations to Five States.

Dr. Myers now has either direct or indirect contact with more than 500,000 Baptist and other residents of Wisconsin, Iowa, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois. Through the secretaries of the Baptist conventions of these states Dr. Myers has extended invitations for A Century of Progress attendance and also has offered the full use of Immanuel church as a Baptist headquarters during the Fair. Acceptances of his invitation, Dr. Myers said, have been enthusiastic.

Under Dr. Myers' plan each state convention is to be assigned a week of the exposition time. During that week the state's Baptists will have entire charge of Immanuel's services. They will furnish preachers and programs while Dr. Myers will give such assistance as may be desired. The church edifice will be given over as a place of rest and information.

Offers Bread Line Study.

Dr. Myers pointed out that leaders of charitable work in their own states or cities will find an opportunity at Immanuel to study at first hand the methods of food distribution in the church's famous 33 year old bread line. He said that he expects hundreds of persons to return as Fair visitors who at some time in their lives were stranded in Chicago and turned to the Immanuel bread line for aid.

Dr. Myers also said that he desired to give an opportunity for country pastors to see a city church in action.

MINISTER IN TEARS AT TRIAL ON CHARGE OF 18 YEAR OLD GIRL

Muncie, Ind., March 30.—[Special.]—The Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, deposed pastor of the Madison Street Methodist Episcopal church sobbed at intervals during his trial today on the charge of attempting to rape his pretty 18 year old parishioner, Helen Huffman.

Conday's first loss of composure came when his immediate superior in church matters, Dr. Frank K. Dougherty, superintendent of the Muncie Methodist Episcopal district, testified that Conway had come to him and offered to leave town if Mr. Dougherty would influence the prosecuting attorney to dismiss the criminal charges. Dr. Dougherty said he gave Conway time in which to clear up the charges, but refused to make any attempt to have the indictments dismissed when Conway failed to offer evidence to disprove the charges against him.

Mrs. Harriet Perdieu, widow of a former sheriff, volunteered the testimony that Miss Huffman had accused Willard Aurand and Percy Kabrick of attempting to rape her. Aurand was Conway's choirmaster whom Conway is charged with knocking over the chancel rail at the beginning of a Sunday night service, and Kabrick is a member of the church choir. This testimony was ordered stricken.

Conway is expected to be the principal witness in his own defense. The trial may be concluded Saturday, attorneys agreed.

BOLIVIAN ARMY DRIVES ENEMY BACK IN JUNGLE

Paraguayans Killed in Bayonet Charges.

Anthony Patric, a Tribune correspondent, recently succeeded in entering the battle zone of the Gran Chaco after a difficult journey across Brazil. He herewith presents an eyewitness story of a battle in Bolivia's offensive against the Paraguayan army.

BY ANTHONY PATRIC.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FORT MUNOZ, Gran Chaco Boliviano, March 30.—A great Bolivian offensive on the Fort Gondra front was in progress when I reached the first line of battle. The Bolivian attack is part of a spectacular drive which has been going on for three days in the jungle land of the Gran Chaco.

This piece of Bolivian strategy has developed into the bloodiest duel for possession of the Gran Chaco in the undeclared war which began last July. The clashes chiefly consist of bayonet charges in the woods.

The Bolivian troops are advancing toward Fort Gondra, held by Paraguayan forces. The Bolivians already are within 1,000 yards of the stronghold.

Bodies Scattered in Woods.

The attacking forces have caused heavy casualties among the Paraguayans, who have been unable to fortify themselves properly after a hasty retreat from Campo Jordan, near Fort Saavedra.

Several hundred Paraguayan bodies were left scattered in the wood. The Bolivians suffered thirty casualties. The battle is continuing with great violence. The battle ground is north of the Pilcomayo river, about 150 miles northwest of Asuncion, capital of Paraguay.

Calls Out Uruguayan Troops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 30.—Montevideo is seething with political unrest. It is of a general character due to critical economic conditions, although ostensibly centering around President Gabriel Terra's proposal to enlarge the scope of presidential powers.

The president clapped censorship restrictions on two opposition newspapers and ordered troops concentrated at vital points, such as the waterworks, arsenal, and docks of Montevideo.

Up to a late hour the city was quiet, but tension was evident. In many places anxiety was expressed due to fear that the strong communist element may find the moment propitious to stir up trouble.

Ships Carry Guns to Leticia.

MANAOS, Brazil, March 30.—(AP)—The Colombian gunboats Sucre, Bogota, and Mosquera arrived here today en route to Tarapaca, in the Leticia territory of the upper Amazon over which Peru and Colombia have been in dispute for several months. In addition to artillery and anti-aircraft guns, the boats were said to be carrying German and Russian artillery experts.

60 Yr. Old Woman Hangs Self in Detention House

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—A 60 year old woman, held on a charge of vagrancy, hanged herself with a stocking today in her cell in the new house of detention. Mrs. Nitu Baisley of Brooklyn was taken to the prison on Monday, following her arrest on the vagrancy charge.

HITLER'S NAZIS DECLARE WAR ON WORLD JEWRY

Race Is Blamed for Last Conflict.

the campaign of lies against Germany," it said. "If they are not used to end the campaign, world Jewry will be given a blow from which it will not recover soon. German Jewry will be done for, morally and economically. No pardon will be given, no compromises made. Our attack will be disciplined and legal, but inexorable and sharp."

Protestations of Loyalty.

Organizations of all descriptions are swamping Hitlerite headquarters with protestations of loyalty. Members of the American colony called at Hitler's offices to assure the chancellor that they are informing friends at home that all is quiet in Germany.

Storm troopers and Nazi auxiliary police today made the rounds of Berlin's west end Kurfuersten-Damm, a fashionable shopping district, to identify shops owned by Jews.

Meanwhile, at Breslau, the chief of police compelled German and foreign Jews to turn in their passports and canceled their permits to travel, thus making it impossible for them to leave the country.

"I am taking up passports to prevent the further spread of lies against the national government and to prevent Jews from taking away German currency," the chief explained.

Hail Einstein's Decision.

The national press today greeted the announcement that Prof. Albert Einstein is renouncing his Prussian citizenship with great satisfaction. One newspaper headed its article: "High Time."

Relations between storm troopers and the Steel Helmet organization of monarchist war veterans continue to be strained as a result of a clash between the two organizations in the Palatinate, where storm troopers arrested Steel Helmet leaders and raided Steel Helmet camps. Leaders of the rival groups still are trying to patch up the differences.

The Palatinate storm troopers warned Socialists, communists, and Republican reichsbanner men that "for every Hitlerite attacked 20 members of your associations will be arrested and treated in exactly the same way you treat our comrades of the Saar."

Leon Dominian, American consul general at Stuttgart, visited a concentration camp of 2,000 political prisoners at Heuberg today and said he found the prisoners well treated and in good condition.

Jewish Doctor Beaten.

A report from Heidelberg said that uniformed rowdies attacked a Jewish physician.

Dr. Springer, according to the report, was called from home last night supposedly to attend a sick person. When the physician reached the street a whistle was sounded. Five men in dark uniforms emerged from hiding and beat Dr. Springer with steel rods until he fell unconscious.

Dr. Springer is a war veteran who served three years at the front. He is a native of Strasbourg from which he was expelled by the French for his German sympathies.

Mouse Lunches Off Snake 7 Feet Long; Reptile Saved

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—(AP)—A 7 foot gopher snake from Mexico, property of the Carnegie museum, is nursing wounds inflicted by a mouse.

"We put the mouse in his cage, but the snake wasn't hungry," M. Graham Netting, curator of herpetology at the museum, explained. "We found the mouse had started to eat the snake and had to remove the mouse."

Lord Reading Urges Britain to Act to Save German Jews

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 30.—An appeal in behalf of German Jewry was made by the marquess of Reading in the house of lords tonight. Lord Reading, who is of Jewish parentage, intervened in a debate on foreign affairs and disarmament, appealing to the government to do all in its power to represent the general feeling in England.

He pointed out that the attack being made on Jews in Germany is not directed against finance "as such outbursts usually are." It is a special assault, he said, on Jews of the educated classes. "They are being punished simply because they are Jews," he explained.

"Do Something," His Plea.

"I realize that the British government has a very difficult situation to deal with. I believe it is up to them, however, to do something. I only ask that they should use such means as is in their power to let the German government know what the opinion is in this country."

Lord Reading's appeal was supported by the archbishop of Canterbury speaking on behalf of the churches, and the earl of Iddesleigh, a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Lord Hailsham, secretary for war, replied for the government. He pointed out that England could not claim any special right to intervene on behalf of German Jews.

"It would not be in their interest for the British government to assume authority to protest against their treatment," he said.

Treaties Do Not Apply.

Lord Hailsham indicated, however, that both the British and American ambassadors have been asked to make inquiries and report the situation in Germany. He said there also had been ambassadorial conversations between London and Berlin. "The results of these conversations are reassuring," he said.

Lord Hailsham added that Britain's mandatory obligations in Palestine and provisions regarding minorities in the peace treaties did not apply to the German position.

Three thousand Jews held a protest meeting tonight in London. They appealed to the British government to grant the right of asylum to German Jews and allow them to enter Palestine.

Diamond Men Boycott Germany.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANTWERP, Belgium, March 30.—The anti-German boycott movement today spread to the diamond industry. Dealers, most of whom are Jewish, decided not to send rough stones to Germany to be cut, despite cheap labor at Spandau. A few dealers, who refused to agree to the boycott, were attacked at the diamond exchange today, beaten and forced to flee to their offices.

French Join Boycott.

PARIS, March 30.—(AP)—A French anti-German boycott appeared today with some merchants displaying signs saying "German salesmen will not be received." French Jews were organizing mass meetings in protest against alleged anti-Semitic atrocities in Germany.

In the Saar territory, which is controlled by the league of nations pending a plebescite to decide whether it reverts to Germany or goes to France, President Knox of the governing commission forbade Nazi manifestations and meetings. The action was taken to prevent disorders.

Jews Demonstrate in Rio.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANIERO, Brazil, March 30.—Lacking a police permit, hundreds of Jews today attempted to hold a massmeeting to protest against the German government's anti-Jewish campaign. Police intervened and dispersed the demonstrators.

AUSTRIA RENEGES ON ACCORD ON CREDIT ANSTALT

VIENNA, March 30.—(AP)—The government announced today that the foreign creditors' agreement signed Jan. 10 with the Austrian government covering the obligations of the Credit Anstalt is impossible of fulfillment.

This condition arose, a communique said, "in view of changes in budgetary and economic conditions since the last negotiations with foreign creditors." A downward revision of the government's obligations must be asked, it was added.

Under the Jan. 10 agreement of the Austrian government concerning the Credit Anstalt, foreign assets of the bank, which closed in 1931, were to be pooled in a holding company in which the creditors were to get preferred stock. The government guaranteed the debts and deposits of the institution at the time of the crash.

NAZI CAMERAS TO SNAP 'BUYERS' AT JEWISH SHOPS

BERLIN, March 30.—(AP)—Warning the people of Berlin and Chemnitz not to buy in Jewish stores, Nazi boycott committees announced tonight that they will have a staff of photographers ready Saturday morning to snap persons intending to patronize such shops. The pictures taken by the photographers will be shown in theaters and the names of the persons photographed will be published.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 30.—Heart beats on the right side of the body of Lionel Ward, 21 years old, mystified doctors here today when he presented himself for a physical test to work in Trinidad's famous pitch lake. Examination proved he was born with his heart in the wrong place.

Two Face Trial for Fatal Beating of Michigan Girl

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 30.—[Special.]—Cody Calloway, 38, and Mrs. Margaret Britton, 33, charged with murder as a result of a fatal beating of Kathleen Britton, 8, waived examination when arraigned in Municipal court today and were bound over to the Circuit court.

HITLER CANCELS VISIT OF GERMAN FLEET TO SPAIN OVER ATTACKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, March 30.—Attacks against the German Nazis in the liberal and socialist press of Spain are held responsible for the cancellation of the visit of the German fleet to Spanish mainland ports and the Balearic islands this spring.

According to information reaching the Spanish government, Chancellor Hitler gave this as the reason in addressing a quasi-public gathering in Berlin. The republic's quick action in scotching the Fascist movement in Spain also is understood to have ruffled the Germans.

Spain's socialist ambassador to Berlin, Luis Araquistain, is expected to resign his post. El Socialista, his party's newspaper, is leading the anti-Fascist campaign. He may take advantage of the new Spanish law against multiple jobholding by deputies, regaining his seat in parliament and giving up the ambassadorship. In spite of Premier Manuel Azan's plea that attacks on foreign governments be toned down, the left wing continues to assail Hitler.

Steel Helmeters and Nazis Race for New Members

BREMEN, March 30.—(AP)—The silent membership race between the Nazis and the Steel Helmet War Veterans' organization entered the public stage tonight when Col. Theodore Duesterberg urged world war veterans, irrespective of party affiliation, to join his steel helmet group.

NAZIS JAIL 35 JEWS WHO TRY TO HOLD MEETING

Frankfort Merchants Get Rough Handling.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FRANKFORT-AM-MAIN, Germany, March 30.—A conference of 35 Jewish retail merchants which was called by the vice president of the local chamber of commerce to explain the anti-Semitic boycott was broken up with some violence today. Those present were jailed by National Socialist storm troopers.

Authorities admit the incident, but say it was a regrettable error, because the vice president of the chamber, Dr. Roehm—who is, incidentally, a Christian—neglected to inform the police that the meeting was being called.

The Nazi patrols, it is explained, thought it was a political gathering, which is forbidden by decree, and proceeded to make the arrests. According to the official version, only two Jews were kept in jail, the charge against them being that in anticipation of the boycott they were preparing to discharge employés.

Versions Conflict.

From a reliable opposition source, however, it was learned that 20 of the 35 are still in jail and that, far from any talk of discharging or reducing staffs during the boycott, the meeting was called for the express purpose of working out ways of retaining all employés.

According to the same account a group of armed Nazis roughly broke up the meeting this morning and ordered all present to march off to jail. This involved a 20 minute walk through the streets of the town. The prisoners were made to lock their hands behind their heads and walk in formation while the Fascists marched in a cordon around them.

It is alleged there was a certain amount of roughness in prodding and whacking the prisoners with rubber night sticks. The 20 who are being kept in jail were allowed to communicate with their families and keep in touch with ther businesses by telephone, it was said.

Arrest 2 Newspaper Men.

It was also announced that two foreign newspaper men, both Jews, one a Rumanian, the other a Russian working for a Swedish paper, were arrested on a charge of spreading false news of violence in Frankfort.

Nearly 10,000 attended a massmeeting called by local Nazi authorities in the historic roemerberg (market place). From the flag draped balcony of the electors' palace local Nazi authorities harangued the crowd while several hundred uniformed militia men stood lined up below and a band played.

Preaching hatred of the Jews, who the speakers charged were corrupting and materializing German institutions, the orations strongly insisted on the necessity of maintaining discipline. The boycott was spoken of as inevitable and the crowd was informed that it would be carried through to the end without violence, but without mercy.

Married Man Kills Girl Who Spurned Attentions

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—[Special.]—Wilbur S. McClean, 32, a married man, today shot and killed Miss Edna Maier, 21, who rejected his attentions and then wounded her mother and brother. McClean surrendered.

SALES TAX GOES ON TOMORROW; RUSH TEST CASE

Merchants Ignore Writ to Halt Collection.

The State street plan calls for a tax of 1 cent on sales from 11 to 33 cents, inclusive, 2 cents from 34 to 67 cents, inclusive; 2 cents from 34 to 67 cents, to $1, inclusive. The merchants expressed the opinion that "because of the urgency and need of this fund to take care of hungry, destitute, and unemployed people the public will give the program their willing support."

The Chicago Hotel association, meeting in Hotel Sherman, also voted to start collecting the tax tomorrow, impounding it pending the outcome of the court fight, and to follow the bracket system of collection adopted by the State street stores and the Chicago Association of Restaurateurs. There will be a tax of 1 cent on sales up to 35 cents, 2 cents up to 70 cents, and 3 cents up to $1. There will be no tax, of course, on services in hotels, for the law does not apply to services rendered. The hotel men also agreed that the sales tax will not apply to cover charges in the dining and dancing rooms, for there is already an amusement tax on such charges.

Some Merchants Revise Prices.

The bracket system provides for the collection of even pennies on sales where the exact tax would be or would include a fraction of a penny. All excess funds collected in this manner, however, are to be turned over to the state fund, which is to be used for relief of the idle. Besides this system of collection, many merchants have determined upon the price revising plan, and in cases where the price increase does not cover the 3 per cent tax the companies will absorb the tax, charging it to the cost of doing business.

The tax is imposed upon all retail sales except gasoline and farm products sold upon the farm, but there is still some confusion that may not all be cleared up before final instructions are issued by the state finance department after April 20. In paying a garage there would be a tax on supplies and parts, but not for mechanics' service, but whether there would be a tax on the tradein price of a used car in purchasing a new one was a question that stumped the finance department yesterday. Stocks and bonds and certificates of indebtedness are not subject to the tax since they are regarded as intangible forms of personal property.

Insurance is also exempt from the tax because it is not tangible personal property. Attorney General Kerner made this ruling yesterday at the request of Ernest Palmer, superintendent of insurance.

Warrant Out for Pilot Charging Theft of Plane

A warrant charging theft of an airplane was issued yesterday for the arrest of Raymond Nelson Danville, an aviator, by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan. Dewey Biggs, owner of the plane, said that Danville, who was employed by him, had flown the plane away from the field at Cicero avenue and 33d street.

Germany Honors Mattern for Flight to Berlin

James Mattern, trans-Atlantic flyer, yesterday was given a citation of merit from the German government in recognition of his flight to Berlin last July with Bennett Griffin. The citation was presented by Dr. Hugo Simon, German consul general, at a luncheon in the Adventurers' club, 40 South Clark street.

HUNT BOMBERS AFTER BLAST AT PRIESTS' HOME

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—[Special.]—State police joined today in seeking the person or persons who exploded a bomb under the room of the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin early this morning. The priest, who has become known throughout the country for his radio broadcasts, discussing public affairs, declared he did not believe that the bombers had aimed at his life, but had intended to silence him.

He most recently has been engaged in a bitter controversy over the Detroit banking situation. He asserted today that he will reply on Sunday at the usual time to charges that he had used some funds, believed to have been obtained for charity, to speculate with in the stock market.

Three in House at Time.

The priest's home is at 1705 Fairlawn avenue, Royal Oak, where the Shrine of the Little Flower, of which he is pastor is located. With him in the house at the time were Father John Tully, his assistant, and Father Williams, like himself members of the Order of St. Francis. The building, a large wooden cottage, was little damaged by the bomb, which broke a window under the priest's sleeping room, wrecked a steam pipe and scattered some canned food about.

This afternoon bedding and extra clothing was moved from his house to the tower adjoining the church and it was said the priest probably would sleep there.

Talks of Controversy.

"I regard this critical affair from such a high plane that I refuse to commit myself in the columns of the press," he declared today, referring to his controversy with the Free Press.

The Free Press had said that Father Coughlin bought and sold stocks in 1929 and 1930 and that he lost money on the transactions. He subsequently was quoted as admitting such stock deals, and saying he lost $7,000 of his "own money." Today, however, he repudiated this statement and denied having given such information to any newspaper.

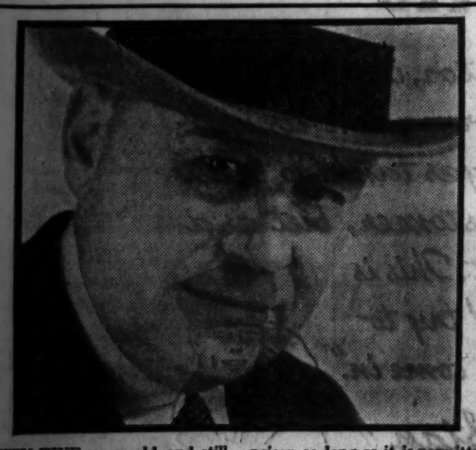
they're Milder — they Taste Better

Stronger than He Was at Twenty



FIFTY-FIVE years old, and still going strong!

Do you want the secret of such vitality? It isn't what you eat, or any tonic you take. It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulant.

A famous doctor discovered the way to stimulate a sluggish system to new energy. It brings fresh vigor to every organ. Being a physician's prescription, it's quite harmless. Tell your druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Get the benefit of its fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and that pure pepsin. Get that lazy liver to work, those stagnant bowels into action. Get rid of waste matter that is slow poison so long as it is permitted to remain in the system.

The new energy men and women feel before one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin has been used up is proof of how much the system needs this help.

Get a bottle of this delicious syrup and let it end that constant worry about the condition of the bowels. Spare the children those bilious days that make them miserable. Save your household from the use of cathartics which lead to chronic constipation. And guard against auto-intoxication as you grow older.

Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin is such a well known preparation you can get it wherever drugs are sold and it isn't expensive.

BAYER SAFE! BAYER

The popularity of Bayer Aspirin is due in large measure to its speed. There is no quicker form of relief for a bad headache, neuralgia, neuritis, or other severe pain. But even more important is its safety. Anyone can take Bayer Aspirin. It does not depress the heart. It does not upset the stomach.

No one need ever hesitate to take Bayer Aspirin because of its speedy action. Its rapid relief is due to the rapidity with which tablets of Bayer manufacture dissolve. You could take them every day in the year without any ill effects. So keep these tablets handy, and keep your engagements—free from headaches, periodic pains, or other sudden discomfort.

For your pocket, buy the tin of 12 tablets. For economy, bottles of 100 at the new reduced price. The Bayer cross is a symbol of safety.

U. S. AND BRITAIN SPEED PLANS FOR WORLD PARLEY

Davis Sees MacDonald; Agree on Early Meeting.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 30.—Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large to Europe, held two conferences with Prime Minister MacDonald today. The two will meet again tomorrow. The conversations have been confined to plans for the world economic conference and disarmament. The war debts were not touched upon and will not be, Davis declared. He said that the debts would be settled in Washington and not Europe.

Mr. Davis' first talk with MacDonald began at 10 a. m. today and lasted an hour. In the afternoon Davis went to the parliament building and spent over two hours in the prime minister's room.

He will lunch with Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, tomorrow, and will meet MacDonald in the afternoon.

Goes to Paris Monday.

Davis expects to leave for Paris on Monday to discuss disarmament and other subjects with Premier Daladier.

Today's discussions were confined almost entirely to arrangements for the economic conference. It appeared that the conference might convene late in May. There is a possibility that the committee on arrangements will convene next week to set the date. Davis and MacDonald decided that only six weeks' notice need be given the participating nations instead of three months.

The objective of the conference as outlined in today's discussion is to break the stranglehold which is suffocating world trade, such as excessive tariffs, import prohibitions, and quotas. This can only be accomplished by international agreement, it was pointed out, and in the opinion of American statesmen the time was never more hopeful for international agreement than now. That is because conditions are so serious now that nations are ready to make concessions to avert greater disaster.

Before leaving London Davis expects to discuss with MacDonald the British disarmament plan which he regards as a good basis for discussion.

Hush Talk of Debts.

A great effort will be made to keep the discussion of debts out of the economic conference. Where American opinion a few months ago, it is reported, would have accepted a lump sum payment on a low scale, no one now would dare suggest any cancellation, moratorium, or suspension of payments without substantial advantages in return.

These advantages could only be trade concessions. On this theory it is difficult to see how it is possible to keep debts from being mentioned at the conference.

Mussolini Sends Envoy.

ROME, March 30.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini is sending Finance Minister Juno to London, at the invitation of the British government, to confer with Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer. The specific matters they will discuss were not announced, but it was indicated that the principal consideration will be preparations for the world economic conference.

Seek to Meet in Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Although the date for the opening of the world economic conference remains unsettled and uncertain, the preparation for it is progressing, and in these labors there have been several developments recently. They are:

The French government has made an informal suggestion to the administration here that the conference be held in Washington instead of in London.

President Roosevelt has decided to appoint several Republicans on the United States delegation, and it is reliably reported that former Secretary of State Stinson will be one of these.

The President has not yet made up his mind whether the American delegates will be five or seven in number. If five, two Republicans; if seven, three Republicans will be selected. Secretary of State Hull will be the chairman of the delegation. It seems increasingly probably that Bernard M. Baruch, who has often been spoken of for the chairmanship, will agree to serve under Mr. Hull, for whom he is known to entertain the highest admiration.

Law Takes Its Toll After 29 Year Delay

Twenty-nine years ago Lucius Rapp, now 54 years old, 1002 West Madison street, escaped from the county jail. He had been sentenced to one year for stealing a diamond ring. Yesterday the law took its toll. Three months ago Rapp was sentenced to ninety days in the Bridewell for larceny. He was to have been freed last night. But in the meantime the old record of his escape was unearthed by George Seif, clerk of the Criminal court. A mittimus committing Rapp to the county jail on the old charge was signed by Chief Justice Prystalski. Rapp was taken from the Bridewell to the county jail to serve ten more months.

REVEAL TEXT OF MUSSOLINI PLAN FOR PEACE CLUB

Diplomats Puzzle on 'Slight' to League.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 30.—The text of Premier Mussolini's proposed four power pact, obtained today from a trustworthy source, reveals seven brief articles entitled "A Political Pact of Understanding and Coöperation Among Four Western European Powers."

The unofficial translation follows:

Article 1. The four western European powers—Germany, France, Great Britain, and Italy—undertake to realize among themselves an effective policy of coöperation with a view to the maintenance of peace in accordance with the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact and the "no force" pact; and undertake to act in the domain of European relations so that this peace policy shall be adopted in case of necessity by other states also.

Article 2. The four powers confirm the principle of revision of the peace treaties in accordance with the league of nations covenant in case a situation susceptible of leading to a conflict among states should arise. They declare at the same time that this principle of revision can be applied only within the framework of the league of nations in a spirit of mutual comprehension, solidarity, and reciprocal interest.

Germany to Get Equality.

Article 3. France, Great Britain, and Italy declare that, in case the disarmament conference shall reach only partial results, the equality of rights recognized in behalf of Germany should have effective value, and Germany undertakes to realize this equality of rights by stages which will be fixed by successive understandings to be concluded among the four powers through the ordinary diplomatic channels.

Article 4. The powers undertake to reach similar understandings relating to Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria.

Article 5. In all questions, political and nonpolitical, European or extra-European, as well as in the colonial domain, the four powers undertake to adopt, as far as possible, a common line of conduct.

Would Last Ten Years.

Article 6. This political agreement of understanding and coöperation, which will be submitted if necessary to approval by the parliaments within three months, will endure ten years, and it is understood it will be renewed for the same period if it has not been denounced by one of the contracting parties one year before its expiration.

Article 7. The present pact will be registered at the secretariat of the league of nations.

Among the questions the text raised among diplomats are:

Does it mean Great Britain is prepared to enforce peace or does it mean the four will impose their policy on others?

Why is it proposed that the four powers coöperate in the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact and not under the covenant of the league of nations?

Other neighbors of Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria, as well as the league of nations and the general public, are excluded from any voice in arranging equality of armaments, critics of the treaty contend. The treaty is said to leave the door wide open to rearmament by a gentleman's agreement.

It is also said to mean that Premier Mussolini, with the moral support of Prime Minister MacDonald, is proposing that France recognize German arms equality while renouncing all reference to security.

TOSSES BOOZE BOTTLE AWAY; SLAIN AS ROBBER

Mistaken for a burglar when he tossed an empty liquor bottle against the front window of a shoe store at 2059 West 18th street early today, Paul Wojciechowski, 25 years old, 1820 South Spaulding avenue, was shot and fatally wounded by Andrew Ambrose. The victim died at the county hospital.

Ambrose, son-in-law of the owner of the store, told the police the window had been broken by thieves several times recently and that he had been sleeping in the place as a guard. When the bottle thumped against the jamb of the front door he ran out and fired several times, striking Wojciechowski in the head.

The police took into custody, besides Ambrose, a woman companion of Wojciechowski, who witnessed the shooting. She is Mrs. Anna Dewall, 23 years old, 1930 West 17th street.

ORCHESTRA LEADER PLAYS A NEW ROLE, THAT OF FIREMAN

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—(AP)—Leopold Stokowski, of the Philadelphia orchestra, played a new rôle today—that of fireman.

Stokowski had just finished conducting a dress rehearsal for a concert when smoke began to fill the auditorium of the Academy of Music.

Doffing his coat, Stokowski led a dash to the foyer and, after pulling aside valuable electrical equipment, fought the blaze with a fire extinguisher until firemen arrived.

LITTLE ENTENTE GIRDS TO FIGHT TREATY REVISION

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 30.—"The little entente is firmly resolved to maintain by all possible means all the territories it has won," said Foreign Minister Jeftitch in the Jugo-Slav senate today during discussion of Premier Mussolini's four power peace plan.

"I must point out that in certain countries strong propaganda for revision of the peace treaties is carried on with the aim of changing frontiers," said Jeftitch. "That is action which can always awake the greatest national distrust and disturbance. There also exists a special move, based on the false thesis that Jugo-Slavia is about to fall prey to inner difficulties, to create an independent Slovenia, Croatia, Serbia, and Montenegro."

France Backs Little Entente.

PARIS, March 30.—(AP)—Assurance that France intends to stand by the little entente was given to Foreign Minister Titulescu of Rumania today at a conference in the foreign office. Titulscu had been delegated by the entente to ascertain the exact position of France, in view of fears that the Mussolini four power peace plan would impose revision of the peace treaties at the expense of the smaller countries.

REFUSES TO SET ASIDE WINNETKA DIVORCE DECREE

Judge James J. Kelly yesterday overruled a plea of Mrs. Barbara Patchen, 558 Provident avenue, Winnetka, to set aside a divorce granted Gordon F. Patchen by Judge Rudolph Desort on July 1. Attorneys representing Mrs. Patchen argued that the divorce was void on the ground that Judge Desort had signed while he was sitting in the Criminal court, although he had heard the testimony while on the Superior court bench. Judge Kelly ruled that Judge Desort had jurisdiction, but suggested that the base be carried to the Illinois Supreme court.

JAPAN LAUNCHES NEW INVASION WEST OF JEHOL

Troops Attack Town in Chahar Province.

PEIPING, China, March 30.—(AP)—Gen. Feng Chai-Shan, commanding a Chinese volunteer force in Jehol, reported today that Japanese and Manchukuoan troops had attacked the town of Doloner, in the province of Chahar.

Chahar is the province adjoining Jehol on the west. Doloncr is 30 miles inside the Chahar border, about 175 miles northwest of Jehol City. This was the first word that the Japanese had invaded that province.

Gen. Feng said one Japanese column advanced upon Doloncr from Chinpeng and another came west from Suitzeshan under Gen. Chang Hai-Peng. Gen. Feng sent troops to stem the advance. He said that Doloncr had been bombed Tuesday and that nine civilians had been killed.

Russia, Japan in Rail Row.

TOKIO, March 30.—(AP)—A new incident in the long series of disputes between Russia and Japan over the Chinese Eastern railway was reported today in the seizure of a Russian train and its freight by Manchukuoan border guards.

A Japanese dispatch said the soviet government is making unauthorized shipments of war materials over the railway, now jointly operated by the Japanese sponsored Manchukuoan government and Russia, to the Pacific seaport of Vladivostok.

A west-bound train was seized at Manchuli, at the northwest extremity of Manchuria, the report in the newspaper Nichi Nichi said. It was not allowed to continue until freight from four cars was unloaded and returned across Manchuria to the Vladivostok end of the line. The Russians were also charged with taking railway rolling stock across the border and refusing to return it.

The Chinese Eastern railway was financed and constructed by Russian money and directors more than thirty years ago as a short cut to Vladivostok.

Agitation Stops Jap Ships.

HANKOW, China, March 30.—(AP)—Japanese steamships operating on the Yangtse river have ceased sailing above Hankow as a result of anti-Japanese agitation by Chinese "blood and iron" societies in the Yangtse valley.

NEW FRENCH ENVOY TO U. S. STRESSES VALUE OF SEEING BOTH SIDES

PARIS, March 30.—(AP)—A willingness to see the other country's viewpoint and to reach accords in an objective spirit were stressed today by Andre Lefevre de la Boulaye, new French ambassador to the United States, in an address before the American club.

"It has been said that accords which do not fully satisfy either party often are most fruitful and most enduring," he declared.

He avoided reference to war debts. He said that France was sometimes pictured as wishing to conceal its intentions, instead of acting in the full light of day, but he promised large scale press information facilities whereby French policy and action would be better explained. He said good relations between the United States and France at present are of capital importance in the maintenance of equilibrium and peace.

M. V. L. SUBMITS ITS SELECTIONS FOR ALDERMEN

The Municipal Voters' league yesterday submitted to the voters its choice of candidates for aldermen in the five wards where there will be run-off elections on April 4. Its list of recommendations by wards follows:

6. Ald. John F. Healy.
9. Vote for Leslie V. Beck or Arthur G. Lindell.
18. Ald. Walter W. Morris.
41. Oliver W. Holmes.
47. Ald. John J. Hoellen.

The league's report in full on the candidates will be found in the Metropolitan section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of April 2.

POLICE RESCUE GIRL; SEIZE 5 IN RAPE ATTEMPT

Five youths, who had seized a 19 year old girl in the yard of Wendell school, Whiting and Wells streets, and were attempting to rape her, were arrested last night by Policemen Arthur Franz and Irving Weiss of the Chicago avenue station. The policemen heard the screams of the girl and went to her assistance. Those held are Frank Tornabne, 1011 Sedgwick street; Frank Carafici, 1817 Sheffield avenue; Frank Cannella, 944 Franklin street; John Salerno, 447 West Oak street, and Donald Sporacio, 2017 Fremont street. All are between 17 and 19 years old.

An Important Statement Regarding the Illinois Sales Tax

The Illinois Sales Tax of three percent for emergency relief is a law, effective April 1, 1933.

If, in the pending litigation to test the validity of the tax law, the law is held to be invalid by the Supreme Court of Illinois, the amounts paid to the undersigned, because of the tax, will be refunded to all people who present cash sales checks, or charge account statements, pertaining to purchases made by them on or after April 1. In anticipation of this possibility, we suggest that customers retain all such cash sales checks and charge account statements.

PISTOL AND BOMB IN THE MOVIES (NOT ON THE SCREEN).

Mr. Maloy of the Motion Picture Operators' union came to general notice something less than two years ago when he endeavored to enforce the rule that moving picture exhibitors should employ two union operators. Many of the theaters throughout the Chicago region exhibited only in the evening from seven until midnight, five days of the week at least, and protested that they could not carry the cost of Mr. Maloy's exactions. Although the wage scale maintained by the union was an exceptionally stiff one, the larger theaters, open almost continuously throughout the day and night, could meet it. The little fellows were confronted with ruin.

Most of them were closed by Mr. Maloy's rule, but some of them tried to reopen with operators brought from a New York union. The bombing of theaters thereupon began. Police guards were stationed at the threatened theaters, but, so far as can be recalled, no legal responsibility was brought to the door of any one. There could not be any doubt either as to the purpose of the bombing or to the persons responsible for it. The crimes were as obvious in origin as they were intolerable in consequence and probabilities.

Maloy was indicted, with others, but he learned that law makes compromises when political expediency and business pressure suggest them. In a settlement permitting the theaters to do business without exposing their patrons to bombing and without ruining their owners, the indictments were washed off the slate as inconsequent to a happy ending. Maloy's understanding of his position, privileges and capacities could have been fortified by these incidents and probably was.

The other day one of a number of operators who had been deprived of employment by Maloy called at the office of the union and there was killed by a man named O'Hara, one of Maloy's associates. O'Hara does not deny that he killed the man, but says that he did so in self-defense. The gun which the murdered man was supposed to have used in firing the first shot has been traced to another man in the Maloy faction in the union. There is no evidence that Oser, the murdered man, carried a pistol and much of evidence that he did not.

The complete sequence of events giving the picture of Maloy's relations to the public, to the motion picture proprietors and the union may not be available for the law in a courtroom, but is relevant and pertinent for public understanding of what has been going on in this amusement industry as controlled by him and his associates. Irrespective of what criminal prosecution may be able to undertake with the further discovery of evidence, the efforts of honest men in the union to protect themselves and the public from a terrorism which is apparent, even if the perpetrators keep under legal cover, can rightfully demand the assistance of every law officer in Chicago, using every means the general police power makes available.

Submission to outlawry which works with contempt for the rights of individuals and the lives and property of citizens will be found only in a completely decadent society.

THEY CAN'T PUT THIS ON JOSEPHUS.

Josephus Daniels, nominated by President Roosevelt as ambassador to Mexico, discovers that he is persona non grata to the communist party. The walls of Mexico City have been posted with denunciations of him as a man and a statesman, calling upon all true Mexicans to arise and expel him if he comes because he was the murderer of the patriots who died at Vera Cruz when his party took that city in 1914 with the object of inducing Mr. Huerta to feel more respect for Mr. Wilson.

It is true that Mr. Daniels was secretary of the navy when an eccentricity in Mr. Wilson's regard for the brotherhood of man flared into a rage at Huerta. There were many incidents in the subsequent events which Americans would be glad to join Mexicans in forgetting, probably not in common agreement as to what they were but at least subscribing to the opinion that two haughty minded men precipitated useless and purposeless trouble for people who should have been protected from it. Mr. Daniels, although he was turned from Mr. Wilson's last door, to his sorrow, was always a loyal Wilsonian, but no person moved by reason could ever accuse him of being a man of blood. But, then, communists gain no reason by being Mexicans, nor do Mexicans gain any by being communists. Only such a combination could misunderstand Mr. Daniels. He is the mildest of men.

When he is accused of a purpose to conscript an army of Mexicans, in his authority as American ambassador, to fight an imperialistic war, even Bedlam cackles with laughter. Mr. Daniels used his office as secretary of the American navy to devote that fighting force to sweetness and light. If he had prevailed at all times when he desired to prevail Vera Cruz would have been bombarded with roses, confetti, and the lighter confections and bonbons. His idea of a sixteen inch gun was something with which to explode good-will messages harmlessly on alien shores and light up the horizon with signals of the common brotherhood. His doctrine of military discipline is one of community singing and folk dancing. If he conscripts anything in Mexico it will be members for garden clubs and bird study.

There should be limits to communistic, even Mexican communistic, misinterpretations of a man's character. The star of Josephus' destiny will shine, however, through, above, and beyond detraction.

GROWING TAX DELINQUENCY.

This year for the first time real estate taxes in Cook county are payable in two installments. This year, also, broadly speaking, the taxes are slightly lower than they were a year ago. Therefore, on the penalty date this year something less than half as much money should have been paid in if the collections were only to keep pace with those of a year ago.

As a matter of fact, though the taxes are lower and only half of the full amount was due on March 15, the delinquencies were larger by 1 per cent. The bank holiday cannot be pleaded as the excuse because the bank holiday was over when March 15 came around. The growth in delinquencies is ominous. And it points two morals.

The first is that expenditures on government in this community are far heavier than the community can support. The second is that every effort must be made by public officials to obtain collections. A good many people may have become so accustomed to nonpayment that they no longer regard a tax bill as imperative. They have been encouraged in this belief by politicians so anxious to please their constituents that they have overlooked the fact that a new and more disastrous revenue crisis is just around the corner. Those who have paid their taxes regularly at great sacrifice are beginning to wonder why they have done so. Forty-five per cent of the property in Cook county paid no taxes last year and yet, so far as the naked eye can discern, nothing has happened to the delinquents to make them repent of their failure. A little more of that and no one will pay.

UROLOGY VS. ECONOMICS.

Dr. Louis Schmidt, for his devotion to the idea of low cost medical clinics to meet the needs of people of small means, has now been expelled from the Chicago Urological society. He had already been dropped from the Chicago Medical and the American Medical associations. He anticipates similar action by the national Urological society and the technical point seems to be that as he is no longer a member of the medical associations he is no longer eligible to membership in the society of urologists.

As the issue is economic it would seem that the organizations which have expelled Dr. Schmidt because of his opinion upon the clinics are emphasizing their economic interests at the expense of their scientific objectives. This is especially emphatic in the case of the society of urologists. It has been assumed that this society was based on a common interest in urology, a scientific tie. Dr. Schmidt's eminence in this field of medicine and surgery does not seem to be in question, only his views and his support of the low priced clinic. The discipline to which he has been subjected resembles the action of a trade union. We think it a pity that organizations of scientific pretensions and repute should adopt such a course. No doubt the medical profession is justified in protecting its members, if need be by some form of collective action, from what it fears will be destructive price cutting, whether its fears are well founded or not. There is no profession or occupation that indulges in so much practical altruism; that gives more service without compensation to those in need. Yet when it undertakes to protect the economic interests of its members from what it believes to be unjust form of economic competition it should not adopt measures which impair or seem to impair the scientific or purely professional credit of reputable medical men who happen to disagree on economic or social grounds with a majority opinion.

In the case of Dr. Schmidt and other eminent members of the profession the action of the organizations cannot affect their reputations as scientists and skillful practitioners, but in the case of younger and less firmly established men who are actuated by the same good motives the policy of the professional organizations imposes a serious professional sacrifice even though the lay public appreciates and approves their course. The economic protest against that course should stand on its own bottom and not borrow the force of professional or scientific odium through expulsion from organizations based on scientific competence and attainment. If the code of medical ethics involves economic considerations demanding conformity to the economic policies and assumed interests of the membership of these organizations it should call itself by another name. It should not exclude from scientific fellowship because of differences of opinion on economic or social policy. From the point of view of ethics in the normal meaning of the word Dr. Schmidt's expulsion will look to the public very like persecution for conscience's sake.

Editorial of the Day

STILL, NOBODY LOVES A DEFICIT.

[Kansas City Star.]

Just by way of reassuring the American people that the national credit is in no danger and has not been in danger in recent years Secretary Dern of the war department makes a comparison of federal deficits. The accumulated deficit over three years or less has become about 5 billion dollars. But in 1918, says the new secretary, there was a deficit of 9 billion, "and in 1919 we had a deficit of 13 billion without hurting our national credit."

But in view of all the differences in the two periods, including the exigencies of war and the state of national prosperity in the former, it is now most assuring to note that the end of current deficits is in sight. The budget is to be balanced, largely by economy. That, where possible, is better than a deficit in any sort of period.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line; let the quips fall where they may.

AND THERE'S ONE THING we scofflaws should bear in mind—if we make too much whoopee over "the return of beer" we will be agreeing with the drys that it's been away, that the Volstead act and the sacred 18th and the Jones 5 and 10 actually worked. Which they never did. Beer has never been away, and while we may rush at it on the 7th of April and wipe hypocritical tears from our eyes and gasp, "Why, where have you been all these thirteen long years?" we will know down in our hearts that we're lying like a horse. If we do talk about the return of beer let us put in the word "legal" so as to make the thing read "the return of legal beer." Darned if we're going to please the drys by telling them they kept us out of beer for as much as fifteen minutes. For they never did.

IN LEAVING.

Tapering hands that tarry
To play with love awhile,
Laughing lips that languish
Into a half starved smile,
Fatal eyes that flicker
With one more dazzling dream,
What do you know of wisdom,
Restless queen?
On shaded, sheltered, sideroads
You'll linger, for a while,
But sanctity and safety
Are scarcely worth your while,
For you are filled with fancies
That many worlds should share;
You belong to beauty;
But beware!
For Kali, graceful Goddess,
No man now bows his head;
And India, without her,
Scarcely knows she's dead;
The Gods from high Olympus
Forgotten are, and flown,
And they were great and mighty;
Widely known!
Phantom hosts have disappeared,
And holy flames burned low;
Some day you will sadly say,
"Those wasted years ago!"
So willful, wistful, woman,
Before I turn to sleep,
Give me some memento
I may keep.

EILEEN QUINLAN.

THE POLICE IN ROME have arrested a man they think was seeking an opportunity to shoot Mussolini. It's a good thing for the would-be assassin the police got him. Mussolini would have taken the gun away from him, made him eat it, and then kicked him personally twenty-five times around the Piazza Venezia and then taken him all to pieces and fed him to a canary bird. Trying to shoot Mussolini is just one way of committing suicide.

AND LOOK AT HOW the diamond stud industry is going to boom when beer comes back. And stiff bosomed white shirts. No bartender worthy of the name can hoist beer up on the bar and set the foaming steins before the thirsty if he doesn't wear a stiff white shirt with a great gleaming diamond at least half as big as the Koh-I-Noor right in the exact geographical center. And pomade and bear grease for the hair! Ah, how those things will go up. Wish we had a big block of shares on margin in "Pomade, Limited," or "Bear's Grease, Preferred," for that stock is bound to go shooting up like a rocket, for the boys who sell the beer have got to have it smeared on their hair an inch thick just like the old time bartenders used to have before the dry blight fell upon our fair land. This world has become terribly prosaic and standardized what with the machine age and the Volstead act working hand in hand, but wait until the bartenders get all dolled up and turned loose once more—it's going to be a gayer, lovelier world—you just wait and see.

He Used a Fountain Pen.

Sir: Darned near fainted this morning when I saw an ad for a new book written by F. D. Are you telling me, Richard, that what with getting us our beer back, putting through his economy program, talking for the radio, posing for the cinemas, and swimming around in the pool at Warm Springs, F. D. has found time to write a book? How can he spend all his leisure time in the water and still write a book?

JAZBO OF OLD DUBUQUE.

CONGRESS VOTED YESTERDAY so that patients can have whatever likker their doctor thinks they ought to have with no more dry law restrictions. It is action that should have been taken a long time ago. This matter should never have been taken out of the hands of the doctors. They are noble men, these doctors, the most useful, devoted and unselfish people that humanity knows. There are no men more worthy than the doctors, none whatever. Oh, that we might fitly sing the praise of the great men who compose that grandest, truest, finest, ablest, most honorable coterie of men who make up the medical profession. But we're just a trifle handicapped right now—we have a cough and while we are not certain we think we were bitten by a rattlesnake the other night on the Boul Mich and we really feel in terrible need of a stimulant. And now the doctors can prescribe as much whisky for any one as they like! Well, well, that's fine; these docs are certainly wonderful fellows, oh, they are indeed.

SILENT STORMS.

Time is a silent storm
Unleashed against the little homes we raise,
Swirling about them, battering them down,
Wrecking old landmarks, days and days and days,
Crashing in the roofs about the town.
The waves of years, seasons' surges fall,

A NEW ANTIDOTE.

A MANAGER of an office building invited two policemen into his office to have a drink. Within three hours the convivial building manager and his friends, the law enforcers, were dead. When it was discovered that the representatives of the law and their host were in trouble an ambulance was called and they were taken to the San Francisco Emergency hospital. It was speedily determined that, somehow, cyanide had got into the whisky and the men were suffering from the effects of cyanide poisoning. Two died within a few minutes, but one lived for about three hours, long enough to permit the hospital authorities to try all the accepted antidotes against and remedies for cyanide poisoning.

In this tragedy there were various lessons for different persons. To all building managers I presume the lesson is that taking a drink under police protection is not safe. Policemen may interpret it as meaning that a policeman should never take a drink with a man on his beat.

The alert health director, Dr. J. C. Geiger, found still another lesson. His was that the antidotes against and remedies for cyanide poisoning were worthless. A few who are poisoned with this drug live long enough for remedies to have their effect.

He invited Drs. Hanzlik and Leake, leading pharmacologists, to make a report on medicines to be used in emergencies, and particularly in cyanide poisoning. They reported advocating the use of injection of methylene blue solution into the veins in cyanide poisoning and in other conditions in which the coloring matter of the blood could not pick up oxygen because it was tied to something else.

About two months later the emergency hospitals had a chance to try the remedy. A man suffering from cyanide poisoning was brought in. The surgeon in charge injected nearly two ounces of a 1 per cent watery solution of methylene blue into a vein. Of course the stomach was also emptied and washed out, a standard procedure in all kinds of poisoning, including alcoholism. The man was on safe ground a few minutes after the injection was given.

In reporting the method and the result in this case Dr. Geiger expressed the opinion that the same treatment should prove effective in carbon monoxide poisoning. There are plenty of such cases in this age of automobiles, furnaces, and indoor combustion of many kinds, and hospitals and private physicians are often called on for service. Furthermore, in contrast with cyanide poisoning, people severely poisoned by monoxide live for several hours in many cases.

The newspapers report that Dr. Geiger has had opportunities to use injections of a watery 1 per cent solution of methylene blue into the veins as a cure for acute monoxide poisoning and that he has found it works.

IT IS SERIOUS.

V. K. writes:

1. What kind of a disease is peritonitis?
2. From what does it come?
3. What cure is there for young persons (about 9 years old)?
4. In a urine test, what is the meaning of diacetic acid, acetone, and hyalin casts?

REPLY:

1. A severe and serious one. It is due to an infection of the peritoneum. This membrane covers the digestive apparatus.
2. From wounds, appendicitis, infected gall bladder, perforating ulcers, and some other causes.
3. Operation is generally called for.
4. If diacetic acid and acetone are present in fair quantities the person has acidosis. Hyalin casts signify an irritation of the kidneys.

SOMETIMES RELATED.

Mrs. W. A. C. writes:

1. Has osteomyelitis any connection with tuberculosis of the bone?
2. What causes osteomyelitis?
3. Is an operation in the bone a cure for the disease?

REPLY.

1. Occasionally.
2. Acute osteomyelitis is due to infection with pus germs. Chronic osteomyelitis, as a rule, involves more than the bone marrow, and is sometimes caused by infection with tubercle bacilli and sometimes with other bacteria.
3. Yes.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, March 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I borrowed money from a loan company about a year ago and made monthly payments as long as I was working. They sued and garnisheed my wages and before each pay day they send out an assignment and I have to pay a part of my wages for a release. I am not working regularly and at times make as low as $6 a week. 1. Can they garnishee me on that salary? 2. What is a married man allowed? 3. What is a single man allowed? 4. Can the company I work for refuse the garnishment? 5. How can I stop the garnishment of my small salary? G. R. P.

1. Wages to the extent of $20 per week earned by the head of a family are exempt from garnishment.
2. See 1.
3. No exemption.
4. If they ignore a valid garnishment they might have to pay twice.
5. If you have not executed an assignment and they are serving demand notices without having judgment against you, this course is improper and your employers should ignore such notices. If an attorney is concerned you should report him to the bar association.

MORTGAGE RENEWAL.

Chicago, March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a farm in Michigan five years ago and paid interest and taxes under a mortgage which matures next month. I have been unable to pay on the principal. The mortgage holder declines to renew unless a payment of from $500 to $1,000 is made and says he will foreclose. 1. Has any moratorium been declared in Michigan which forbids such action? 2. If not, what difference will there be in my position as to occupancy of the house as at present and the preparation of the farm for the coming season? 3. What would the result be if a relief bill to delay foreclosures was authorized after the action to foreclose is begun? 4. How long is such delay and would the moratorium affect pending foreclosures which have not gone as far as sale? 5. What is the proper procedure in trying for help from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Michigan and Indiana? F. G. C.

1. and 2. Under the new amendment to the bankruptcy act, it is possible on proper facts to force a delay on secured debts. We suggest that you talk the situation over with an attorney.
3. We cannot advise as to the effect of future legislation without knowing what its wording would be.
4. See 3.
5. It is necessary first to exhaust the possibility of borrowing from local building and loan associations. No cases have come to our personal attention in which loans have been made directly to home owners.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 31, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is to be war with Germany. President Wilson and his cabinet decided unanimously today that there is no recourse but an appeal to arms to vindicate American rights denied by Germany and to protect the United States from the enmity manifested by numerous hostile acts on the part of the Berlin government. The war program adopted by the administration in a cabinet meeting of two hours' duration follows: That the President shall deliver to congress a message setting forth the grievances of the United States against Germany which, in the opinion of the executive, require the declaration of a state of war; that congress shall be asked to authorize the executive to employ the armed forces of the United States, to raise additional forces, and to grant generous credit for a "vigorous prosecution of the war"; and that such questions as the character of the forces to be raised, the dispatch of troops to the European battlefields, the employment of the navy, coöperation with and financial assistance of the allies shall be taken up as soon as congress declares a state of war. The administration believes that Germany is making war on this nation because it has taken more than 240 American lives on the seas, because it has destroyed many American ships, because millions of dollars' worth of damage has been done as a result of German plots in the United States, because Germany has attempted to set on foot a conspiracy with Mexico and Japan to dismember the republic, and, finally, because of the belief that Germany triumphant would constitute a future menace to the peace of the world in general and the United States in particular.

RIO JANEIRO.—The French bark Cambronne has arrived here with 200 men of the crews of various steamers and sailing ships sunk by a German raider off the Island of Trinidad. They reported that many sailors from the sunken vessels were drowned. The rescued sailors, who are French, English, and Italian, report that the raider is an armed sailing ship with a gasoline motor. They say the raider showed the Norwegian flag and when it sighted a ship signaled it to approach. As soon as the ship obeyed the signal the raider hoisted the German flag and opened fire. The firing was continued until the crews surrendered. Then the raiders would take the sailors aboard and sink the ship.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex.—Francisco Villa at the head of a cavalry force of 3,500 men made a determined attempt to capture Chihuahua City, but was driven back with the loss of 350 in killed and wounded. Five hundred prisoners were taken by the government forces.

NEW YORK.—With the arrival of the Cunard liner Orduna it was learned the German submarine commander who sunk the Laconia was captured on March 15 when his boat was blown up. Its destruction was accomplished by gunners on a British tramp which had been fitted out as a raider to prey upon enemy submarines. It found the U-boat by following sea gulls.

EDUCATORS AND ECONOMY.

Chicago, March 21.—Just a word of appreciation of the editorial of March 13, "Educators and Economy." Those of us who have talked economy in regard to our public schools have been damned as enemies of "the poor man's child" and "foes of public education."

Any one familiar with our public schools knows they have expanded far beyond the point which the tax base will warrant. Therefore if we hope to maintain our schools we will have to make necessary adjustments. Listening to the professional educator rant about the "ignorant" layman interfering in educational matters raises the question in my mind as to whether the "ignorant" educator isn't talking for his job, and whether our public schools haven't descended into institutions for supplying jobs instead of institutions for the education of our children.

Perhaps parents, teachers, and other school employés will begin to realize it is those responsible for the conduct of our schools who are in part answerable for present conditions because they have failed to give us a reorganized school system, program, or curriculum that would meet the educational needs and which could be paid for out of income receivable.

How long our schools can withstand this lack of fine understanding and loyal coöperation on the part of educational authorities without being completely ruined is not difficult to estimate.

MRS. HARVEY A. TYLER,
President Parents' Public School association.

ON THE JOB.

Chicago, March 26.—If T. J. N. wants to learn about teachers and the job they are doing in teaching the youth of the state he had better go to a better source of information than the editorial comment of THE TRIBUNE about the N. E. A. at Minneapolis. The convention was one of principals and superintendents, teachers being too busy teaching essentials to be attending conventions. Let T. J. N. visit the school and classrooms and see for himself whether or not a teacher who is hired to teach mathematics is doing the job.

There are faults in our educational system, and sometimes educators in convention make mistakes as politicians have been known to do, but I fail to see any connection between that and 95 per cent of the teachers, who daily apply themselves to the task before them in spite of rotten politics, salary cuts, or no pay at all.

L. W. JENSSEN.

PERSECUTION.

Chicago, March 23.—I cannot see by what right the United States government should interfere in the internal affairs of a foreign country. We meddled once in European affairs and made a mess out of it. Let that be a lesson to us and let us mind our own business. No one has hurt the American Jews so far and the German Jews are of no concern to us.

AN AMERICAN WOMAN.

WHO WASTED THE COUNTY MONEY?

Chicago, March 19.—I am writing you as one of the many thousand county employés who are in the dark about many things which only a farsighted newspaper with the interest of the people at heart would dare take up.

Why are we the county employés so far behind the rest of the governments in pay? Why, with all the money that has been collected, are we still owed seven months' pay? Who's getting the money? Where's it going? Seven months' pay, when we are barely making a living wage. I mean those of us who really work for our money. How do they expect us to live? Or don't they care?

What is there to the rumor that the county board from the president down are paid up to date? That the commissioners go on vacations to Europe, etc., and are paid for them, while we literally starve?

Why? Why can't some one answer those questions for us?

POOR, MISERABLE COUNTY EMPLOYE.

FROM A BUS RIDER.

Chicago, March 17.—In your issue of March 15 "Broken Back" asks why the upper deck seats in our Chicago buses slant toward the aisle. Maybe we can enlighten your correspondent.

Any person who is unlucky enough to have to ride on the upper deck of these head bumping contraptions knows that it is very difficult to get up from these seats on account of such small overhead clearance, and to enable one to get off these seats and into the so-called aisle the seats are slanted toward that aisle so as to give one a start.

The writer has dented more derbies in these contraptions than he can count, and it is his honest opinion that if the company had the interest of the public at heart it would loan with every 10 cent ride a heavily padded helmet with gas mask attachment. We stay off these head bumpers and ride on the single deck coaches, where one can ride easier.

MARK CONNOLLY.

NOTE ON THE SALES TAX.

Chicago, March 25.—Where do they get the insane idea that this new sales tax is 3 per cent? It's 100 per cent [and the death knell] to thousands of school store proprietors like myself, where 90 per cent of our income is one cent at a time when the kids in the neighborhood are lucky to get the penny.

MRS. ANNIE NELSEN.

CALLING THE STATIONS.

Chicago, Ill., March 27.—On behalf of the thousands of strangers who will visit A Century of Progress this summer I suggest that the management of the elevated and surface lines conduct a school of pronunciation for their conductors and guards. The calling of stations, especially on the north and west sides, is atrocious.

FINDS NO NEGRO ON SECRET JURY ROLL IN ALABAMA

Official Says He Does Not Know Color in Book.

Decatur, Ala., March 30.—(AP)—The big red book, in which names of prospective jurymen are kept, today was brought into court as defense counsel sought to quash the venire drawn for the trial of Haywood Patterson, Chattanooga Negro, indicted with eight others in the "Scottsboro case" on charges of raping two white girls.

Attorneys said it probably was the first time in the history of the state that a jury roll, a secret record under Alabama statutes, had been brought into court as evidence.

Samuel C. Leibowitz of New York, chief counsel for the defendant, asked for the jury roll in an effort to prove his contention that it contained the names of no Negroes, which he said violated the constitutional right of the defendant as guaranteed by the 14th amendment to the federal constitution.

Does Not Know All on Roll.

J. A. Tidwell, president of the jury board compiling the roll, was called by Leibowitz and under questioning said he could not say whether the names were those of "white, black, or yellow."

"I don't know all of them personally and did not when they were placed on the rolls," he said.

Patterson is the first of nine Negroes, indicted for an attack on two white girls, to be called for the new trials transferred here from Jackson county after the United States Supreme court had set aside death sentences.

Judge Chokes Off Testimony.

After 12 Negroes had been called, giving almost identical testimony that they had never heard of members of their race serving on juries, Judge James E. Horton, presiding, told the defense he had heard enough of "that line of testimony."

John Green, clerk of Morgan county Circuit court, was another witness called by the defense.

The state has called only three, A. J. Tidwell, John Tomlinson and W. J. Briscoe, who compose the Morgan county jury board, which prepares the jury roll and fills the box from which venires are drawn.

One by one the witnesses identified long lists of Negroes residing in the county and said under direct examination by Leibowitz that they never had seen a Negro on a jury in Morgan county courts.

Clash Between Counsel.

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr. countered defense moves by asking the witnesses if they had any personal knowledge of whether they had been considered by the jury board and found lacking in the necessary qualifications.

There was a general craning of necks as Knight asked the Rev. W. J. Wilson, Negro minister, "Are you a member of the communist party?"

"No, sir," Wilson replied, shaking his head. On redirect examination by Leibowitz he said he was a Republican.

ASSAILANT OF 3 CHILDREN HELD TO GRAND JURY

Samuel Pitts, 38 years old, colored, 611 South 10th avenue, Maywood, was held to the grand jury in $35,000 bonds on three charges of rape and one of carrying concealed weapons yesterday afternoon before Police Magistrate George F. Lee in Maywood.

Pitts was identified by three girls, one 8 years old and the others 9 years old, who said he had lured them to a vacant house by giving them candy and there assaulted them. Police Chief Richard Bailey withheld the names of the children.

Pitts was seized March 7 by Lieut. John Peterson and Policeman Hugo Mueller, who lay in wait for him in the vacant house after it had been pointed out to them by the children. Pitts was carrying a revolver. He confessed the attacks.

Commerce Board Sets Utility Case for April 10

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday set April 10 as the date for hearing oral arguments on the case in which the Utility Consumers and Investors' league is seeking to prevent the Commonwealth Edison company, the People's Gas Light and Coke company, and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois from transferring funds for investment to owned and controlled subsidiaries. The companies were given until April 14 to file briefs in the case.

CLOGGED BOWELS EXACT THEIR PRICE

Don't imagine that you can shock your system every few days with laxatives and fail to pay the price. Laxatives and purges rob the delicate membrane lining of your bowels of moisture and elasticity, so that you have to continue drugging more and more to spur your reluctant bowels to action. Almost before you realize your peril, you're a laxative slave. Digestive troubles develop, headaches, dizzy spells and biliousness follow. An operation for piles or other internal troubles may result.

But you can free yourself from laxative slavery and constipation quickly and easily with Cream of Nujol treatment.

This new form of Nujol is specially suited to sufferers from chronic constipation. It soothes and comforts the bowels, absorbs poisons, and helps the peristaltic action which alone can dispose of wastes naturally.

Start the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment tonight. It is delicious to take and costs you only a few cents a day.

[Seymour Photo.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Wilson Cummings of Chicago, president of the West Town Car company, the Cummings Car and Coach company, and the J. G. Brill company, has been called to Washington and is slated for a high position in the treasury department.

Through his connections with the Brill company, which is associated with the American Car and Foundry company, Mr. Cummings came to know Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, who formerly headed the latter concern. It is believed that Secretary Woodin called Mr. Cummings to Washington to become one of his assistants.

Mr. Cummings refused to discuss his presence in the city and says all announcements must come from the secretary. Mr. Woodin indicated that a statement on Mr. Cummings' future connection with the administration might be forthcoming soon.

3 LOSE LIVES IN WISCONSIN FLOOD WATERS

Hearse Swept Away in Raging River.

Madison, Wis., March 30.—(AP)—Three lives were lost and thousands of dollars property damage were caused by floods which swept southwestern Wisconsin today.

Families were forced to flee homes, motor and rail traffic was disrupted, and merchants hurriedly moved stocks off ground floors as a result of the rampaging streams, overflowing from melting snow and continued rain.

The dead were Henry Concklin, 58, Platteville, undertaker, and his assistant, Frank Kramer, 38, and Mrs. Mayme Steiner MacRoberts, 28, of Monroe.

The men died in the flood waters of the Platte river. Vainly they tried to save themselves by lashing themselves to a telephone pole with straps used to lower coffins into graves. They were driving a hearse to Lancaster when it was swept from the highway. About 100 persons worked six hours in an attempt to rescue them.

Mrs. MacRoberts drowned when she stepped from a stalled automobile and was swept away by water which covered the road near Paoli. Two woman companions narrowly escaped drowning.

They were Miss Marian Blumer, 23, daughter of Fred Blumer, Monroe brewer, and Miss Sally Holcomb, 28, also of Monroe, who fought their way out of the swift water.

The women drove into the water, which covered the road to a depth of almost 4 feet and the machine stalled.

Darlington, in Lafayette county, was hardest hit. The Pecatonica river ran through Darlington streets.

The main flow of the river swept through Alice street and water backed up two blocks on the main thoroughfare. A number of families fled their homes in boats.

RELIEF AT LAST! FROM PILES!

Yes, no more suffering! No more pain, strain or itching! No more torture at the stool. No matter what form of Piles you suffer from—genuine relief for you is at hand in Pazo Ointment.

Pazo stops the pain and itching at once. More, it actually tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. For Pazo is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus it not only allays the inflammation and repairs sore and torn tissue, but it actually reduces the swollen blood vessels which Piles are. Thousands say that Pazo is the only thing that ever gave them real relief from Piles. Thousands say that it saved them the need of a painful operation. The method of application (see picture below) makes Pazo doubly effective. Try Pazo yourself and see that it means the end of your suffering. All first class drug stores sell Pazo in Collapsible Tubes with Perforated Pile Pipe, complete for 75c.

Perforated Pile Pipe Attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy.

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe make it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in the rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

LET A COTTAGE PUDDING CLOSE LIGHT LUNCHEON

Serve with Chocolate or Fruit Sauces.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you want to make a cottage pudding really happy, put it at the close of a pleasant little luncheon which has featured a fruit and cheese fritter, a few curls of crisp broiled bacon a tempting vegetable salad, and a pot of steaming tea. For at dinner time when folks come to the final topping off course they quite definitely have lost interest in things hearty and enjoy best something nippy, tart, and light to replque appetites. Cake and bread desserts are too husky and filling to give this light, delicate touch.

But a pudding at lunch time is something "quite other." A real cottage pudding is a plain cake baked either alone and later glorified with hot fruit sauce and cut fruit, or baked together with nuts, fruit, or other lusciousness and served up with hard, fruit, or lemon sauce. The whole picture is far less rich than a torte or other rich pudding, but it does supply just that touch of satisfying sweet heartiness that a light luncheon needs.

COTTAGE PUDDING.

¾ cup sugar.
1 egg, well beaten.
Grated rind ½ lemon.
1 cup milk.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
2 cups sifted flour.

Cream the butter and sugar together. Add the eggs and beat thoroughly. Add the grated lemon rind and then stir in the sifted salt, baking powder, and flour alternately with the milk. Add the vanilla and turn into a greased shallow baking pan about 8x8 inches and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 45 minutes. To serve, cut in squares and serve on dessert saucers with chocolate hard sauce, hot lemon-berry sauce or hot chocolate butter sauce.

Or if you hunger for your chocolate within the cake, use the above recipe for cottage pudding and add 2 squares of melted chocolate just before baking. Hot marshmallow sauce or a lemon cocoanut sauce is delectable on such a chocolate cottage pudding.

CHERRY COTTAGE PUDDING.

For this dessert, use the above recipe for plain cottage pudding, with just one change. Reduce the sugar from ¾ cup to 2-3 cup. When the batter is mixed, turn it into the baking tin and over it spread 1 cup of canned cherries and about 1-3 cup of juice. Sprinkle over this ½ cup of sugar and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 50 minutes. The cherries will sink and the cake will rise. The result will be a delicious sirup encrusted cake with fat cherries at the bottom. Serve with plain or whipped cream or with a cherry or lemon sauce.

Fresh berry cottage puddings will be in season a little later. Blueberries or huckleberries are the best bets. Mix about ¾ cup of the fruit with the batter before putting it in the pan.

Another luncheon dessert in big demand with families is a maple nut cottage pudding done rather on the upside down plan.

MAPLE NUT COTTAGE PUDDING.

Prepare the above recipe for simple cottage pudding. Have ready a mixture of thick maple sirup and nuts in the bottom of the baking dish. Prepare this mixture by simmering 1 cup of maple sirup in a saucepan until heavy and then add the nuts. Pour in the batter evenly over the maple nut sirup and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 45 minutes. Serve, sirup side up, with a topping of whipped cream.

TOMATO RUFFLE IS FUEL SAVER FOR YOUR MENU

One-dish meals are popular with most homemakers because they save dishwashing, and most of them save time, labor, and fuel as well. Tomato ruffle is a dish as different as its name, and it is a fuel-saver because it provides meat and two vegetables cooked in the same pot.

1 pound salt pork
2 quarts sliced onions
2 quarts tomatoes
Sugar
Salt
Pepper
4 tablespoons flour
8 tablespoons water

Cook the salt pork until brown and crisp. Add the onions, and when they are brown, pour in the tomatoes. Season to taste with sugar, salt, and pepper, and cook for about ten minutes. Mix the flour and water, stir the paste into the vegetable-and-pork mixture until it thickens, and cook for a few minutes longer. Serve on crisp toast.

Menus Tomorrow

MARY MEADE'S menus for Saturday and Sunday will appear in tomorrow morning's Tribune. Watch for them, together with the Saturday food marketing news story. Miss Meade's menus will enable you to take advantage of week-end food bargains and to plan attractive meals more economically.

You Can Make This Soup by Martha Washington's Recipe

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Did you ever think that soup was sissy?

Neither did I, until Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt got out a memorandum from her desk drawer the other morning and showed me what they thought of soup back in the good old days of eleven course dinners.

An interest in the revival of old time American menus has prompted Mrs. Roosevelt to have Mrs. Paxton Hibben, a friend "and a very good cook," to do a bit of research at the congressional library.

Days of Large Meals.

This research included soup. In the days of the Scott-Pierce presidential campaign, so the memorandum recalled, Scott was reported as having "dined hastily on a bowl of soup." This was regarded as such an effeminate dish that political enemies made the most of the tale; branded him as soup supping sissy, or words to that effect. Anyway, he lost the election. And some folks say the soup incident had a lot to do with it.

While we're on the subject of soup, Mrs. Roosevelt, via Mrs. Hibben, has resurrected Martha Washington's recipe for crab soup. Martha used to make it herself out at Mount Vernon and all the guests said it was delicious. Here's the way to make it:

First, get out these ingredients:

1 quart milk, 8 hard shell crabs, 2 hard boiled eggs, grated peel of 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon of butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, ¾ cup sherry, ½ cup cream, salt and pepper.

Some Further Details.

Pick out the meat of the crabs which have been boiled half an hour, and set aside until needed. Mash the hard boiled eggs to a paste with a fork and add to them the butter, flour, grated lemon peel, and a little pepper. Bring the milk to a boil and pour it gradually on to the well mixed paste of eggs, etc. Put over a low fire, add the crab meat, and allow to simmer for five minutes. Add the cream and bring to the boiling point again, then add sherry, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Heat sufficiently to serve, but do not boil after the sherry has been added.

By the way, if you have not as much leisure on your hands as Martha Washington had [or as many servants], perhaps you'll think that it takes a lot of time and trouble to pick the meat out of the crabs. If that's the way you feel about it, just go to the grocery and buy the "picked out crab meat" in tins. About a half a pound will be enough for this recipe.

Takes Cooking Seriously.

Mrs. Hibben feels very deeply on this subject of good cooking. And how she hates a can opener. Give her an old fashioned garden filled with herbs, thyme, and marjoram and the rest and she's happy.

"Crisis or no crisis," she said at the White House the other day, "the whole country is better for the preoccupation of our ancestors in the art of cooking."

Her research, she declared, has revealed that "the more democratic our Presidents were the more preoccupied they were with fine cooking."

Dolly's Bright Idea.

Jefferson loved good food. Dolly Madison placed such emphasis on it that she would interrupt the most solemn government business with refreshments—often a punch that seemed to be pleasing.

The Adamses, on the other hand, were "quite frugal," according to Mrs. Hibben's report.

Jefferson, you know, went to Holland, was captivated by the waffles he ate there; brought a waffle iron back home; the first waffle iron to go into Virginia.

COFFEE SHAKE.

To ½ cup coffee infusion [made of 4 tablespoons coffee to each cup water] add 2 teaspoons sugar, pinch salt, dash cinnamon and ¼ cup top milk. Pour over ice cubes and shake well. Pour into glass, add 1 heaping teaspoon whipped cream and fill with ginger ale.

TABLE DESIGNS TO BE A FEATURE AT FLOWER SHOW

Century of Arrangements to Be Displayed.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

If there are arguments as to how grandmother or her predecessors set the table on special occasions they may be settled by a visit to the seventh annual flower and garden show, which opens tonight at Navy pier for a nine day exhibit under the auspices of the Garden Club of Illinois.

In compliment to the forthcoming Century of Progress exposition, members of ten garden clubs in the Chicago region will display, in a special section of the three acres of gardens, tables set as they might have been during any decade of the century from 1833 to 1933. Votes by judges and popular acclaim will determine the most popular displays.

Family Crest on Cloth.

Secrecy involves the plans for most of the tables. But Mrs. Ernest Hoefer of the Riverside Garden club promises the club entry for the period 1843 to 1853 will include a tablecloth handed down for several generations and prized especially for the family crest woven into it. White and gold china a 1 Bohemian glass in pink shades are other details.

In the remainder of the entries in this Century of Progress class the clubs have promised to reveal their plans in the informal preview this evening or after the floral exposition officially opens at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The other nine clubs that will compete in the Century of Progress class include the founders' chapter of the Glencoe Garden club, decade of 1833-1843; the Joliet Floral and Garden club, 1853-1863; Elmhurst Garden club, 1863-1873; Elgin Garden lub, 1873-1883; Garden club of Oak Park and River Forest, 1883-1893; La Grange Park Garden club, 1893-1903; De Kalb Garden club, 1903-1913; garden department of the Beverly Hills Woman's club, 1913-1923, and the La Grange Garden club, 1923-1933.

Quilt as Table Cover.

Trays for "milady's breakfast" and breakfast table arrangements are included in other exhibits. Prospective hostesses may obtain ideas from a section that will feature table arrangements for such special occasions as bridal showers, birthday parties and quilting bees. The Ravinia Garden club plans to use a quilt as a table cover in one entry.

Mrs. Arthur Cutten is in charge of an exhibit called "whims and fancies" for the Wheaton Garden club. This Wheaton entry recalling the past and anticipating a custom on to be in vogue again will include a table set with a red checked cloth, dotted with steins and with a centerpiece of pretzels.

Table in Orchid Shades.

A dinner table in orchid shades has been planned and will be executed by Mrs. Charles Lindsay Jr. for the St. Charles Garden club. Dark purple giant petunias are being forced in the greenhouse of Mrs. Swaby, another member of the club, for use in this exhibit. Mrs. Anna Colson will display a "Swedish Smorgasbrod" as a special occasion luncheon table.

The display of the Kenilworth Garden club in charge of Mrs. Frank Barrett, will be a dinner table set for six and will use silver candlesticks brought from Belgium and once used for royal state banquets.

BANANA BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING.

Bananas
½ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon cream or top milk
1½ tablespoons butter

Allow 1 banana for each person. Peel and scrape the bananas with a silver knife and cut into thin slices. Make a sauce of brown sugar, milk or cream, and butter, and cook this slowly, stirring constantly about 4 minutes or until the sugar is melted and bubbling. Pour this sauce over the sliced bananas. Serve with a large spoonful of whipped cream on each dish. A few chopped nuts may be sprinkled over the bananas before the sauce is poured over them. This should be served hot.

HERE'S A NIPPY SALAD FOR YOUR BRIDGE GUESTS

It's Easily Prepared and Quickly Served.

BY DOROTHY MASTERS.

After hours of bridge, every hostess is anxious to serve something that "just reaches the spot," and the new "congealed cheese salad" is one of those dishes. Its nippy cheese flavor, combined with the tang of olives, makes it ideal for such an occasion.

And it's easily prepared, too, with no fuss or additional work after that last hand of bridge. Made of a gelatin mixture, topped with a sweetened mayonnaise, it can be pulled out of the icebox and served within a few minutes. The salad itself is very rich, and for light refreshment only salted wafers and coffee or tea need be served with it. Here's the recipe:

CONGEALED CHEESE SALAD.

1 envelope of gelatin.
½ cup of cold water.
1 cup scalding milk.
1 small bottle olives.
1 cup nut meats.
1 small can pimento.
15 drops of tabasco sauce.
1 teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce.

Grind or grate the cheese and add the nuts, with the chopped pimento and sliced olives. Place gelatin in a pan and pour cold water over it, letting it soak for a minute, then add hot milk, Worcestershire sauce, tabasco flavoring, and finally the cheese mixture. Stir until very smooth and place in individual cups for molds, or in a large container from which the salad may be sliced. The recipe will make ten servings.

MAYONNAISE.

2-3 cup sugar.
1 tablespoon flour.
¼ cup vinegar.
Salt.

Mix sugar, flour, and salt, and add to beaten egg. Pour in vinegar and water, cooking in double boiler until thick.

On the salad use possibly 1-3 cup of the mayonnaise, adding three tablespoons of whipped cream.

STUFFED BAKED APPLES.

½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons minced meat
1 tablespoon butter
6 apples
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup water

Pare and core apples. Mix water and sugar and pour over apples placed in top of double boiler. Let steam until tender. Remove and put in baking dish. Fill center with mincemeat, butter, and rice mixture. Pour over this the sirup that is in double boiler from steaming the apples. Let bake in oven at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes. These may be used for garnish for meat or served cold with whipped cream as dessert.

Mystery Tale Readers Have a Busy Time

Large Number of Books Creates Problem.

BY MORTIMER QUICK.

AT this season when everybody is publishing mystery stories it becomes evident that their reviewer has no easy task. No smooth resumé of the plot, no masterly analysis of characters and events is possible.

H. ASHBROOK.

To hint too much, to lift so much as a corner of the lurid veil is unforgivable. The mystery fan must have his mystery to the very end, his appetite whetted by what little the reviewer may mysteriously say. With this apology we set our teeth and plunge in.

First, to illustrate the foregoing remarks, comes "The Murder of Sigurd Sharon" [Coward-McCann], by H. Ashbrook. If you tell anything you tell everything. Spike Tracy, one of those playboys who detects with ease and grace, undertakes to unravel the mystery of two beautiful girls who seem to have murderous tendencies. Knotty problem succeeds knotty problem, but in the end all is well. Recommended for trains and insomnia.

Two excellent books with Scotland Yard affiliations are "The Eel Pie Murders" [Farrar & Rinehart], by David Frome, and "The Hanging Captain" [Harcourt-Brace], by Henry Wade. Neat plots are neatly dealt with and the wool pulled over the eyes of the reader is not synthetic. That nice Inspector Bull is the protagonist of the first with little Mr. Pinkerton trotting on behind unearthing clews when least expected. In this book is a set of people who are really interesting, if reprehensible, and though you may suspicion whose was the dastardly deed there's a nice, grisly surprise at the latter end.

The same can be said of "The Hanging Captain." And here, for a change, Scotland Yard is balked and the county police triumph. One or two red herrings are insinuated but on the whole the book is highly recommended.

Based on a little different set of circumstances from the usual crime story is "The Case of the Velvet Claws" [Morrow], by Erle Stanley Gardner. A criminal lawyer, none too scrupulous but strictly honest, occupies the center of the stage. One of those blackmailing society journals furnishes the basis of the plot and a pretty horrid lot of people is involved, but it's a good and skillful story which will interest you and incline you to be on the lookout for future "Perry Mason" stories.

Within the last year the forearm and biceps of habitual mystery addicts have mysteriously developed, the explanation being that our leading publishers have taken to the form of volume called "omnibus." The latest of these is "Mary Roberts Rinehart's Crime Book" [Farrar & Rinehart]. It contains the usual 1,000 pages and hefts accordingly. But it also contains that horrific first murder tale of Mrs. Rinehart's, "The After House," which started her triumphant career back in 1910 and such other absorbing stories as "The Red Lamp." Get a good book rest and you'll read happily for hours, your hair turning gray and your toes curling in pleasurable terror.

In "The Murderer of Sleep" [H. C. Kinsey & Co.], by Milward Kennedy, coincidence is pushed a little too far and troubles seem to begin a little too suddenly. It is a good story, amusingly told, but you will wonder when you have finished it what its various rascals were doing before they stepped, full fledged, into the pages of this book. It is recommendable as highly entertaining and with an added chapter to answer questions which arise in the reader's mind would be very satisfactory.

Good Morning!

Electric!

I can think of no better adjective to describe "Gabriel Over the White House." It galvanizes your attention from opening to closing scene. It had me so gaga that I powdered by nose with my rouge—and you should have seen me.

The story is about a dictator United States President. If Mr. Roosevelt ever folds up or runs out of ideas—there seems no likelihood of it—I'm all for drafting Mr. Walter Huston as President Extraordinary and giving him free hand to do just what he does in this picture. We'll spare him the auto accident that results in his being the what-a-man Hammond is, and hope that, having made the world a Utopia, he doesn't die and go to heaven. But we can know, I'm sure, that, if put to the test, Barkis would be willin' to make any supreme sacrifice.

This film is the cream of the late novel, "Gabriel Over the White House," written anonymously by, presumably, one of the "Merry Go Round"-ers. It is an imaginative, idealistic, possibly uncannily shrewd and practical synthesis of what MIGHT happen if the right sort of dictator stood up on his hind legs and started to dictate. He could, according to the picture, solve:

The disarmament problem.
The racketeering problem.
The foreign debts problem—and what have you.

This dictator, always supposing he had Gabriel with him, would be scared of nothing, because he'd realize there was nothing to be scared of. He would have supreme authority because he would—and could—demand supreme authority. He would see with the eyes and speak with the tongues of angels, and a thousand would fall at his right hand—but would not come nigh him.

Hard on the girl who had loved him? No. Because—never mind! You, see the film has romance, too!

Have you guessed the truth—that here is one of the most unusual and brilliantly presented movies you've ever seen? Have you gathered that Walter Huston surpasses himself in the rôle of Hammond?

His portrayal of the bachelor President is one of striking contrasts. He enters the White House a slick party man, his glib campaign promises already forgotten; his interest in the people's welfare as limp as wet tulle. A Judas-smiling, evasive, bromidic yahoo, all set to connive with his crooked cabinet for personal gain and to carry on an intrigue with his blonde secretary right under the scandalized noses of his household staff. A perfect portrait of a scalawag.

THEN—the stern, relentless dictator, fighting for the rights of his country and his countrymen; a Gibraltar against which cunning and wicked machinations beat furiously and impotently. And here Huston is startling, dynamic, dramatic, without ever once becoming melodramatic. His most sensational moments are characterized by a fine reserve which makes them doubly, triply effective.

His supporting cast is a splendid one, and I don't see how direction could have been better.

Among the picture's most striking scenes are the march of the unemployed upon Washington, and the "muscling in" of the government on the booze racketeers.

But no more details from me to you. I'll take no chance of your settling back in that easy chair, reading the review and saying that that is that. No, siree! No, ma'am. You just gather up the better half and mosey down to the United Artists' theater!

You may not believe all you see, but, my word! HOW you're going to enjoy "Gabriel Over the White House!"

King Opens New Wing of London Portrait Gallery

LONDON, March 30.—(AP)—The king and queen today took advantage of summerlike weather to drive in an open carriage from Buckingham palace to Trafalgar square, where his majesty, looking very fit, opened the new wing of the National Portrait gallery presented by Lord Duveen of Millbank. Sir John Lavery sketched today's scene and it will be recorded on his canvas. Sir John is the husband of the former Hazel Martyn of Chicago.

Work for Northwestern University Clinic Benefit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. George Gardner, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Carl F. Bookwalter, and Mrs. Philip F Kreuscher (left to right) are on the committee in charge of selling the boxes for the Lily Pons concert next Monday night. They are members of the Women's Faculty club of Northwestern university medical school which has taken over the box sale as a means of raising funds for the medical clinic of the university. The women met to discuss plans and to have tea one afternoon recently at the Delaware place residence of Mrs. Davis, who is president of the club.

Reception Will Open Garden Club Show at Navy Pier Tonight

Judges Will Award Prizes This Afternoon; Medal to Be Given by National Group.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TROWELS and seed catalogues are assuming a position of unprecedented importance today in the minds of the gardening members of society, urban and suburban. They will continue in this position for one week.

At 6 o'clock this evening the doors of Navy pier are to open wide for the seventh annual flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois. Preceding this grand opening, which is to have a receiving line with Mrs. O. S. Dynes, president of the state garden club, at the head, judges will roam the pier this afternoon pinning blue ribbons on the best exhibits and red ribbons on the second best.

New excitement ran through the competitors who were arranging their displays yesterday when it was learned that the Garden Club of America is this year awarding its silver horticultural trophy at the Chicago show. This is a medal given only for an exhibit of particular excellence. Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, who presides over the Lake Forest club, brought it back from New York, where she attended the New York Garden club show.

They won't admit it, but there are probably no three exhibitors out on Navy pier who covet this medal more than Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder, Mrs. Lawrence Williams, and Mrs. John N. Lee. And well they should for they have been working for months on the exhibit of the Lake Forest club which is a charming dining room done in Wheeler Williams' murals, yellow hangings, a yellow rug, white seated chairs, and a black floor. There is a modernistic garden to the right and a kitchen garden to the left.

Final Touches on Their Garden.

Yesterday Mrs. Williams, perfectly attired for gardening in a yellow sweater, a brown skirt, and a yellow "quilled" brown hat, was planting crocuses, tulips, and primroses "by the pot." Mrs. John N. Lee, in a knitted dress of dark blue, was showing that she knew how to use a trowel as well as a paint brush, and Mrs. Scudder and Miss Laura Thorne were pointing with pride to the plants bearing honest-to-goodness tomatoes that they were about to transplant to the vegetable garden.

The wrought iron arch that bids welcome to the formal garden of the Lake Forest exhibit came out of Mrs. Scudder's garden. She had it taken up some months ago just to be sure it wouldn't be frozen in when she wanted to use it. It is the work of Lake Forest's colored blacksmith, who, incidentally, has done the candlesticks that decorate many a mantel in that blithe little town.

Wheeler Williams' murals are deserving of a special note, for the talented young sculptor, who is Mrs. Williams' brother-in-law, sent them all the way from his studio in Hollywood. There are three, done in grisaille. They depict "Apollo Calling His Horses."

And still other notes garnered yesterday during a preview of the show. Evanston's English garden boasts a notable showing of lovely blue lupine, and, best of all, two boxwood birds at the entrance. "These make the garden really English," Mrs. Wilder A. Pickard, who has done the exhibit with Mrs. Thomas H. Eddy, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Rieth, and Mrs. William Evans, was careful to explain. Next to this exhibit are the English regency gardens, a "pleasure" garden, and a kitchen garden with an orangery that are the work of Mrs. William L.

Fabric Gloves Easy Victors in Style Race

BY RHEA SEEGER.

You can stick your eager fingers into any of the newer gloves and pick some exciting things. Fabric gloves have certainly stolen all the shows . . . these practical, stunning, washable affairs de grand things for street costumes, sports outfits and even evening gowns. And now the glove makers have suddenly and quite ambitiously started a flurry in the other costume accessories.

For instance, when you shop for gloves, and finally decide upon a knockout pair, the clever sales person will produce from out of a box or two a matching neckscarf, a belt, and even a hat. One shop is showing a collection of white hats, white scarfs, and of course, matching gloves . . . another shows hats and scarfs, ideally mated, and still another assembles a smart blue and white checked high hat, an ascot tie of the same check wool banded with blue, and last and anything but least, a pair of deep blue fabric gloves, stitched in white and cuffed in blue and white check wool that exactly matches the hat and scarf.

What these three gadgets can do for the general smartness of a deep blue suit or furless coat is just nobody's business but the envious girl who hasn't such a swanky trio.

The fashionable world has gone absolutely dizzy over fabric gloves. Never have good, bad or medium good shoppers ever had the opportunity of holding such good looking hands for appreciative approval. The new collections are piling up. Look for the brand new silk jersey affairs of fine striped silk jersey with snappy flared cuffs made with insets of the material so that the stripes meet at right angles. Yes, these have snooty neckscarfs to match . . . you can buy them in black, blue gray and brown and white.

Did you know, that white cotton pique gloves made with any sort of ruffles will have to be ironed after a trip to a laundry tub? . . . so, some lazy person invented a new knitted fabric that looks exactly like the smart narrow waled cotton pique. These gloves are miracles . . . you can wash them, dry them, and wear them without fretting about ironing the things. And the price tags on all these spring arrivals, are unbelievably low.

Don't sniff at silk gloves this spring, for they are the most glamorous gloves you will ever see or wear. One shop has them with glorified cavalier cuffs of lacy, stiffened mesh that looks like fine crocheted lace.

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great sport business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Hendersoo cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine. Blake's broken ankle keeps him two weeks with the Hendersons. Meryl falls in love with Blake. Though still enamored of Christine, Blake becomes engaged to Meryl, and sends for his sister, Theresa, to meet her. Meryl leaves for Agate Bay with Blake and Theresa, where the wedding takes place. Blake has to leave immediately after the ceremony for one of his mines, where a strike is on. Lucia, a snobbish relative of the Lawrences, is expected for a visit.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

THE ACE OF ROGUES.

Meryl went to the rosewood grand piano and ran her fingers over the keys. It was only natural, she supposed, that she should have a pang of loneliness for the little old upright piano at home, its keys yellowing like old linen. She had played and sung for Uncle Tom the night before. She tried to play now, but she had no heart in it. She could not put away the feeling that there had been something almost perfunctory in Blake's telephone calls. But that was unreasonable, she told herself. He had been solicitude itself. Do what she might, however, she could not get free of an overwhelming sense of wrong somewhere . . . somewhere.

But this ogre, Lucia, would be here in a minute. For Theresa's sake she must pull herself together. The Lawrences, Meryl had discovered, were given to humorous exaggerations. Lucia couldn't be quite so bad as she had been painted.

Theresa's car turned into the driveway. Meryl got up from the piano and seated herself in one of the deep chairs, where she did her best to get her mind off the fact that her dress pulled awkwardly at the neck, and that

Then, immediately, in the broad doorway stood a red haired young woman in her late twenties, wearing a jacket of bright green suede and a skirt of yellow wool. Her long, thin, hard looking legs were clad in stockings of smartly broad ribbed silk, and on her feet were custom-made sport shoes.

She stared blankly, dramatically, at Meryl, who arose when she saw Theresa enter from the hall.

"Meryl, dear," Theresa said with a twinkle, "come and meet our cousin, Lucia. Lucia—this is our Meryl."

Lucia extended both hands and brushed Meryl's cheek with her lips. "You dear child," she breathed, in a voice that was low, caressing, contemplative. "What a surprise this has been to all of us! What a delightful surprise! And to think we've been living here so long and have never met you before!"

"Such meetings don't happen by accident," Meryl said bluntly.

"O-o!" Lucia exclaimed with a widening of her eyes, which were at the moment a yellow green, though in certain lights they would be turquoise, Meryl guessed. "But one would expect—surely—in a town this size! Everybody knows everybody!"

"I haven't spent much time in town," Meryl told her. "We live on the shore."

"But, of course! Christine told me something of it, to be sure. How romantic!"

"Meryl and I are going downtown," Theresa interrupted. "We have a lot to do, so we'd better be going."

"O, I'm awfully sorry," Lucia drawled. "Shopping, I suppose?" The merest flicker of her lids took in Meryl's clothes. "What a pity you couldn't wait till you get down to the city. The new things are lovely this fall. But, of course, you will want to keep occupied, won't you, while Blake is away? Wretched of him to run off like that, I think!"

Meryl's lips quivered into a smile. "I shouldn't have wanted him to stay, under the circumstances," she said, and looked directly into Lucia's face.

"The poor boy takes his work so seriously," Lucia retorted. "But he's quite adorable, in spite of that."

"Entertain yourself, Lucia," Theresa put in again. "We must be going."

"O, I'll have plenty to do," Lucia replied. "I'm having three or four friends in for dinner."

There was not much spirit in dressing for dinner for the first time, with Blake not there to see how well she looked in the simple white dinner gown Theresa had chosen for her, with the remark that it would do until they got back to the city. Theresa had helped her to dress and had gone down to do her duty by Lucia's guests.

Meryl took a last look at herself as she paused for a moment before the pier mirror. She wished that Margaret might see her now—or perhaps it was as well that she could not. Margaret's sharp eyes might pierce the outer adornments and discover the ache that was hidden in her heart.

She left the room and went downstairs. A young man had just come in and was standing in the hall. Meryl paused at the bottom of the stairway and looked at him. The young man was staring at her. Then he narrowed his eyes in a manner that sent a ripple of resentment over her body. There was no one on hand to introduce him.

He came toward her slowly and Meryl saw that he was considerably exhilarated by the cocktails he had evidently enjoyed before coming to Lucia's dinner party.

"Can it be," he murmured, thrusting his head forward, "can it really be—the bride?"

"I can—and it is," she laughed. "And you?"

He chuckled, and beneath his close clipped mustache his teeth showed brilliantly white. "I am the ace of rogues," he said.

"You don't look particularly villainous," Meryl replied.

"That's what makes me so dangerous," he warned her. "You ought to see me sometimes."

"You haven't told me your name yet," she reminded him.

"For no reason at all," he confided. "They call me Chester Hyde."

"Theresa has spoken of you," Meryl said, in an effort to be pleasant. "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Hyde."

She moved toward the entrance of the living room, but he clung to her hand. "Call me Chess," he pleaded. "I play a mean game."

Meryl withdrew her hand and smiled at him indulgently. "I think Lucia and Theresa are waiting for us," she said.

He put out a hand, but she evaded him and entered the living room.

Theresa introduced her to Lucia's guests—two men, besides Chester Hyde, and two women. They gazed at her with only slightly veiled curiosity, so that she was thankful when she was able to reach old Uncle Tom, who drew an arm about her and kissed her lightly on the forehead.

"You're like a spring flower," he whispered.

She smiled up at him and felt her cheeks coloring. The maid came with a cocktail which Meryl accepted and held for a moment until she was sure no one was watching her. Then she handed it to Uncle Tom.

"You drink it for me," she urged. "I don't think I care much for cocktails."

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

A Cry in the Night.

"There you are!" exclaimed Prof. Fordney to Inspector Kelley pointing to two shallow impressions in the earth about three inches long and an inch wide. "That's exactly where the ladder stood. We're lucky, with all these people prowling about, that they weren't trampled under! If that constable hadn't been so stupid as to remove it from the window we'd be better off!"

The two year old daughter of Gustav von Elder had been kidnaped. After putting her to bed the nurse had gone to her adjoining room. About 4 o'clock she said she was awakened by what she thought was a faint cry. Rushing to the opened window of the nursery she saw a man just leaving the bottom of the ladder and run into the woods. Her screams aroused the house.

Would a man, making a hurried escape, stop for these things?

Wouldn't he have wrapped the child in just a blanket?

These and other questions Fordney reasoned with the inspector who finally agreed that it was an inside job and the ladder merely a plant. Then Fordney began interrogating the maid who suddenly burst into tears. Reaching in her pocket for a handkerchief the mate to the child's mitten fell to the floor! The professor picked it up without a word and for the time being let her remain in ignorance of his knowledge that she was involved in the kidnaping!

What piece of evidence proved the professor correct?

Howard Quits Movies; Going Back to Stage

Hollywood, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Leslie Howard is going back to Europe indefinitely after finishing "Captured" for Warners. The English star, who is well liked by his Hollywood co-workers, but has been very casual to the magnates, going so far as to refuse $50,000 offers for films he doesn't like in order to accept $35,000 offers for other rôles, is going to do a stage play in London, go to south of France and then perhaps come back to this country for a stage appearance on Broadway.

"Captured," which Howard dominates in many scenes, formerly was called "Fellow Prisoners," and has Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Paul Lukas, Margaret Lindsay, Philip Faversham, J. Carrol Naish, Arthur Hohl, Robert Harrati, and Joyce Coad in the cast.

Henri Garat sails back to France on April 15. He and Mrs. Garat (Betty Rowe) plan to stop off in Chicago one day, that being one American city the French actor is determined to see. They also hope to see Niagara Falls. Garat is just finishing "Adorable" at Fox's with Janet Gaynor.

Garden Club Exhibit Will Open Tonight

Prizes to Be Awarded This Afternoon.

Karcher of Freeport, who last year headed the state club.

Mrs. Anson Cameron has brought her gourds raised from Vatican seeds as she promised and Mrs. Arthur Cutten has set the "whims and fancies" table that provides a red checked tablecloth and six heavy steins for a perfect beer party. For the Kenilworth Garden club table Mrs. Frank Barrett has used old silver candlesticks that she bought in Belgium. More than 300 years old, they were at one time owned by royalty and used for state banquets.

Then of course there is the superb entry of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour that every year high lights the mile or more of greenery. This time it has for an accompaniment a charming California garden that Mrs. John J. Mitchell [Mrs. Armour's daughter] has transplanted from El Mirador, her estate at Montecito, Cal. . . . oranges and grapefruit and poppies, enough to make any one want to leave immediately for these sunny climes.

Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball was in galoshes and muffler on Navy pier yesterday. And so were Mrs. Arthur Sullivan and Mrs. Samuel W. McCaulley, all of them from Winnetka and all of them up to their ears in dirt making an ivy and white hyacinth garden. Members of the North Shore Garden club were planting nearby a green garden around the lovely "Tree of Life" done especially by Oskar T. D. Hansen.

Name Staff of Children's Theater.

There is no doubt about it. The plays to be produced this summer by the Junior League in its theater on an Enchanted Island at A Century of Progress will be one of the high lights of the exposition, for Miss Gloria Chandler has consented to be the theater director.

Yesterday Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings who is so energetically handling the publicity for the island, gave this piece of news along with the names of the other members of the theater board.

Miss Chandler has not only directed all of the Junior League plays here for a number of season but has also traveled the last two years to thirteen other cities helping groups of Junior Leaguers produce "The Blue Bird" and "Treasure Island." Then too she has proved herself an actress of no small ability.

Miss Dorothy Schmidt, a former president of the league, is to be the executive director of this World's Fair theater. Miss Elaine Blackman has been appointed business manager, Mrs. Sherwood Kellogg Platt, whose dramatic abilities have been proved ever since the days she entered Smith college, the play reader; and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. the company director. Although she is assembling a trousseau for her approaching marriage to Maurice Patrick Geraghty, Miss Helen Tieken has added the position of production manager to the place she already holds as director of the pageant of transportation for A Century of Progress.

Rehearse Play on North Shore.

Mrs. George Corson Ellis, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, and Stewart Bailey are to have parts in a new play by Harlan Ware which is to be presented in a number of north shore cities. The play, "Return to Folly," reverses the usual American order by ridiculing the artist instead of the business man. The heroine is a lady novelist who loses her perspective and goes on a walking tour. Rehearsals are now in progress.

The opening performance will be given on April 25 at Durand institute in Lake Forest and the proceeds will go to Orphans of the Storm, the animal shelter sponsored by a number of north shore women. Other performances are to be given in Ravinia, Winnetka, and Evanston.

Hunter Wedding at Fortnightly.

Because she has attended so many delightful receptions at the Fortnightly club and always admired its great stair that sweeps majestically to the second floor, Miss Ruth Hunter, daughter of Robert H. Hunter, has chosen it as the setting for her wedding, May 6, to Harding Wilbur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Wilbur. The ceremony is to be performed at 4:30 o'clock with only the family and immediate friends attending.

Mrs. William Berryman will be Miss Hunter's matron of honor and Miss Olive Morse will come from Beverly Hills, Mass., to be her maid of honor. Miss Hunter and Miss Morse were roommates at Braircliffe.

Although Mr. Wilbur has not yet decided which one of his friends will serve him as best man, he does know that his ushers will include Miss Hunter's cousin, Edward F. Wilson, Lorne Smith, and his three brothers-in-law, William Penn Budd, Justin Webster, and Robert Quinn.

Two Affairs for Polish Prince.

Prince Andrew Sapieha, scion of one of the most aristocratic families in Poland, is to be the luncheon guest of the Polish consul, Gen. Titus Zbyszewski, at his apartment at 999 Lake Shore drive today. Other guests include Charles S. Dewey and James L. Donnelly.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Dewey will entertain informally for Prince Sapieha at dinner. Although he has been in this country a couple of years as financial and commercial counselor to the Polish embassy in Washington, this is his first visit to Chicago. Prince Andrew's great-grandfather, Leo Sapieha, was the first speaker of the parliament of Galicia.

While Malvina Hoffman, the distinguished sculptress, is in Chicago next week, she is to be the guest of the Charles Garfield Kings at their home in North State parkway. Miss Hoffman, who is Mrs. Samuel B. Grimson in private life, is arriving Sunday morning with motion pictures and phonograph records carefully stowed away in her luggage. She is to illustrate her talk Monday afternoon before the American Friends of China on "A Sculptor's Impression of the Orient" with the pictures she took in the orient and records she made in Bali.

Col. George T. Langhorne reports that this lecture drew an audience of 375 last Sunday evening at the Colony club in New York, the largest gathering that club has ever known.

Representatives of pioneer families of the city have formed the "When Chicago Was Young" club and tonight it is to have its first session at the Southern Tea shop. Miss Herma Clark is to lead reminiscences in a group that will include Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Slade, Mrs. Alexander Moseley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lyle Fisher, Miss Lucie Belle Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Love, and Mrs. Frances Burlingham.

Almost immediately upon arriving at Virginia Hot Springs Miss Cornelia Ranney distinguished herself by winning the ladies' badminton tournament. She is south with her mother, Mrs. George A. Ranney, and they will soon be joined by George A. Ranney Jr., on vacation from Yale, and Miss Dorothy Ranney.

Tea to Open Art Exhibits.

Mrs. Potter Palmer will receive today at the Arts club tea to open two exhibitions, water colors and drawings by George Groez and early African heads and statues from the Gabun Pahouin tribe. Pouring tea and coffee will be Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, Mrs. John Senn, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell, Miss Carolyn Tyler, Mrs. Harold C. Bodman, Miss Harriet Monroe, and Miss Hanna Butler.

The St. Mark's school and the Groton school are giving a joint dance in New York tonight. Alumni of both schools have been invited, and many will attend, among them Robert Hall McCormick III., Walter J. Watson, and Garfield King. Profits from the dance will be divided between the Groton and the St. Mark's summer camps, which the schools support. Hathaway Watson, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf's younger son, is a St. Mark's boy, but he is in Chicago until Tuesday on his Easter vacation.

Miss Martha Sarver arrived in New York from Florida yesterday, where she is planning to spend a fortnight with friends. The middle of April will see her at home again with the William E. Clows in Lake Forest.

The MacKay Stoddards have changed their plans and instead of staying abroad all summer—they went over last fall—they are planning to come home this spring.

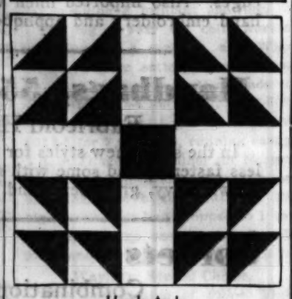
Triangular Lines Interesting Part of Quilt Pattern



Handy-Andy.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Handy-Andy," the term applied to a person able to do many odd jobs without a workshop full of tools, was the title with which the originator christened this quilt design. Some clever Connecticut woman, from her own resources and imagination, designed the simple but intriguing pattern, which calls for triangular cutting.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly; or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

You Lose That Excess Tissue by Exercising

It's Surest Way of Aiding Your Figure.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In this series of exercises this week is devoted to especially directed movement to place the shoulders in correct position, to flatten the blades, and to strengthen the shoulder muscles, primarily with a view to general posture improvement. However, all kinds of other values accrue to the practice of these so-called shoulder exercises.

They're excellent for a leaner waistline, for ridding the upper body parts of adipose over the ribs, under the arms, and so on. Also, these are just as good for developing the upper part of the body, creating the curved line of beauty.

A couple of additional shoulder exercises, not illustrated but easy of concept, are recommended for this particular part of the anatomy by Maj. Harold M. Rayner, director of physical training at West Point.

1. Lie face downward on the floor and do the swimming breast stroke. This is fine for flattening the shoulder blades.

2. Standing with feet apart, hands down at the sides, grasping a wand (or broomstick) [a] raise the wand overhead; [b] lower the wand to the rear of the shoulders; [c] raise it overhead. Continue this in two counts.

3. Lie on your back, arms to the side horizontally, palms up, [a] force the shoulder blades together, stretch and force the neck and small of the back toward the floor; [b] hold for 2 or 3 seconds, then relax.

In this series there is the advantage of being able to pick and choose the exercises your particular body stands most in need of. I would recommend that you women, and such men of you, too, who are not used to exercising, pick out of the shoulder group perhaps three exercises and do these religiously, over and over again.

If any exercise seems a strain abandon it for easier ones, but repeat these frequently enough to be of value. The three given above, for example, are comparatively light work. The shoulder rotating movement I gave the other day is not a strain, and thoroughly effective.

When you get limbered up you can take on the more difficult movements, although for the average person there are very, very few exercises given here that cannot be done several times at a session.

West Point Stretching Exercises No. 1, an illustrated booklet outlining the first six exercises published in this series, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

Club Women Will Organize to Boost Fair

Open Headquarters and Outline Program.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

The conference in the Palmer house yesterday on feminine participation in A Century of Progress brought results. Presidents and representatives of large Chicago organizations of women determined that Chicago shall not be crowded out of her rightful place as sponsor city of the 1933 World's Fair. The leaders laid their case before Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the National Council of Women, and got immediate action.

Charges and counter charges of lack of coöperation between the Chicago women and the headquarters in New York where the program is being drafted, enlivened the first half of the conference. Miss Phillips arraigned the organized clubwomen in Chicago as having failed to come up to the record set in New York. Spokeswomen for the local groups responded with the complaint of lack of information, representation or financial assistance from the New York office.

Before the discussion got out of hand, the executive ability of Miss Phillips set a diplomatic course and effected so definite an advance in the Chicago situation that headquarters are to be opened this morning on the fifteenth floor of the Palmer house. The latter half of the afternoon featured a celebration of the new start.

Mrs. Gertrude Loys Hoffman, woman's director at the Palmer house, will supervise the temporary headquarters and assist the volunteer workers who are to go on duty today. Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Woman's organizations, will recruit the clubwomen who will be in charge of the office, and act as liaison between the New York national headquarters and the Chicago organizations.

"Chicago has failed the national office twice," Miss Phillips said. "We have not been able to diagnose the trouble. We have been hampered by lack of sufficient funds, and we have appointed two different chairmen here, without getting the expected response. Now we are prepared to go ahead without you, because we know from experience that we can get signatures and help from other cities to carry us through. This is a matter of intense regret to us, but we feel that we have done about all we can. We want your help, but we do not propose to make any more futile appeals."

"All that could be done with the funds at hand locally was done," Mrs. Hardy responded. "Everywhere we encountered a lack of coöperation and comprehension of the situation that has resulted in this failure. If we can get the support of the women, it won't take long to enthuse them, to get them enrolled, to organize them to promote the Fair. I do not believe it can be done without headquarters being established here, and getting the women to coöperate with us."

One of the major aims of the women's group has been to obtain 1,000,000 signatures to petitions to foreign governments, asking them to delegate famous women to participate in the women's congress, scheduled for July 16 to 23.

The opening of the new headquarters presages an intensive drive on the part of the organizations represented to recoup on this part of the program. It marks further, the first move on the part of the local clubs to organize to carry on the activities of the women's section of the Fair, after the close of the women's congress. One of the points emphasized was that the Century of Progress will last five months, while the women's congress will last only a week, and that no preparation has been made by Chicago groups to welcome and entertain famous women who will visit the city after the congress.

Let Girl Help Decide Outcome of This Problem

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What is your advice on the following? A young man has been seeing a girl for the last three years. Suddenly he decides to to give her up and see how long it will last, because he thinks he is in no position to marry her and by going with her he is spoiling other opportunities for the girl and does not want to waste her time. He cares for this girl and has not gone around with any one else but her.—The Boy Himself."

A nice attitude for the boy to take, we think. But then, there's the girl's side to consider. She may not think the move nice nor kind. She may misinterpret it, in fact. Think the boy is fading out of the picture for other reasons.

We think it is best in cases of this sort, of which there are many at the moment, for the young couple to sit down and talk it out. Let the boy lay his case openly before the girl, tell her his financial difficulties and how the clouds loom darkly over early marriage possibilities. Tell her that he does not want to stand in her way.

We do think the girl has a right to be in on the decision, after she has been courted for three years. If she agrees that it were better to separate for a time—then, there are no hard feelings. On the other hand, if she is willing to trudge along sharing what there is to share we think the young man might make the concession.

In nine cases out of ten we believe the girl would rather invest in a future hope of marriage than abandon the craft midstream. As a matter of fact, women like it when they're called upon to make sacrifice for the one they care about. They're not nearly so heartless, such good-weather friends, as some men believe. Look at the way they have turned in and helped their husbands with every ounce of energy and resourcefulness they could muster in this big depression test.

Announce Engagement of Eleanor Post Hutton

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The engagement of Eleanor Post Hutton to Etienne Robert Gautier of Paris was announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton of New York and Palm Beach. Miss Hutton, a debutante of the 1927-'28 season, eloped with Preston Sturges, the playwright, in April, 1930. Their marriage was annulled here last November and she has been living abroad. Gautier, who is studying for the French diplomatic service, is a polo star and member of an old and distinguished French family.

Maurice Ravel Is Popular at Stock Concert

Orchestra Makes Stunning Show of Pieces.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It is a state of affairs that some of the prophets have been calling desirable for the last fifteen or twenty years, without, however, any too much hope that it would come to pass. But when Mr. Stock conducted the second series drawn from Ravel's ballet, "Daphnis et Chloe," named by a programmatic person, "Orchestral Fragments," the audience cheered and cheered again. To be sure, Mr. Stock and his band of experts made a stunning show out of it, which may have had something to do with the verdict, but at any rate, it is enlivening when a composer with something definitely original to say receives the acclaim that he deserves.

There was almost as good a show when the piano soloist of the evening, José Iturbi, presented his offerings. They were two. The first was the not too often heard Mozart Concerto in E flat, the second the Liszt Fantasia on Hungarian Melodies. Mr. Iturbi is a Mozart player of rather extraordinary gifts. He is nearly, if not quite as good, a performer of Liszt.

In Mozart, he weaves an actual spell with what he does with melodies, with pianistic decorations, arabesques, turns, trills, runs, and the like. When he approaches Liszt, he is likewise an artist in his ability to put many notes in the right places, and he is more than able to portray what amount of imagination there may be in one of Liszt's show pieces of this order. The one point that he lacks is the hard finish, the glitter, the pianistic overstatement whereby a virtuoso is able to inflate the artistic value of a display composition.

Mr. Stock revived Schumann's Overture, Scherzo, and Finale, sometimes called Sinfonietta, after some seven years of silence on its part. It was the first composition on the program, and an agreeable introduction to Mr. Iturbi's dealings with Mozart and Mr. Stock's with Ravel. These were the items upon which memory prefers to rest.

THE STAGE

The Abbey Theater company of Dublin has extended its run at the Harris Theater for two more weeks. The last performance in Chicago will be given Saturday night, April 15. The repertory for next week contains one new play, "Professor Tim," by George Shiels, author of "The New Gossoon," which will be offered on Wednesday night. It is a comedy which has been popular in Dublin and has also been acted with success by a group of Abbey theater alumni in London. This will be its first performance on the American stage. C. C.

Too Many Rules on Training Apt to Be Confusing

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There is a story about a young mother who went visiting with her little girl. When it was time to go home the little girl, who had found a playmate in the dog, lay down on the floor and howled.

The young mother stood, paralyzed. Then, she said in a bewildered voice, "But 'they' never told me what to do if this happend!"

Which makes me think of something I heard a well known educator of high school children say at the conclusion of a lecture on creative writing.

"Teachers are constantly asking me, 'Tell us exactly how you conduct your classes—just what technique you use to get such results from the children. What do you do that fans the creative spark?'

"My answer to them is always this: I don't always do the same thing. I have no set method. But if I did have, I wouldn't tell it to you. Because then it would become mechanical—then you wouldn't be doing a creative job yourself and you wouldn't inspire creative writing in the children."

I doubt if many women would be quite as blind followers of advice to parents as the one in the first anecdote. But there are many mothers who want to be told exactly what to do and how to do it for their own particular child.

SENATE TO FORCE MORGAN TO TELL PROFIT SECRETS

New Law to Grill Private Bankers Being Drafted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and other great private banking houses are to be forced to tell their secrets and disclose their profits to the senate banking and currency committee.

On the basis of the disclosures new legislation is to be built to reinforce the securities bill sent to congress yesterday by President Roosevelt, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], committee chairman, announced today.

Mr. Morgan himself may be summoned to appear at the hearings, it was announced today by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, as the committee members took steps to arm themselves with new powers so broad as to include any field of investment banking.

Bankers Raise Objections.

Already, it appeared, a contest has developed between the house of Morgan and the investigators. As the result of recent interviews with Mr. Morgan and Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan partner, Mr. Pecora submitted a questionnaire containing 23 specifications. To 15 of these the bankers raised no objections. On 7, including an inquiry concerning their activities as deposit bankers, they reserved decision. As to the final question, touching the capital structure of the banking house and the profits made, they objected that the committee had no power to require such information.

Measures designed to correct what Senator Fletcher termed "irregularities" on the part of private bankers, to force private bankers to open their books and submit to official inspection, to regulate the marketing of and dealing in securities on the stock exchanges, to bring bankers into the classification and under the penalties of fiduciary trustees, to supervise the flotation of foreign securities—all will be considered as possible additions to the basic administration bill requiring public reports on all except governmental securities issues.

Consideration of the securities bill was transferred by the senate from the judiciary committee to the banking and currency committee. At a morning session behind closed doors the latter committee heard Secretary of the Treasury Woodin discuss the banking situation as it now stands.

Currency, Credit Expansion.

High spots throughout the whole financial field were considered, Chairman Fletcher said later, including currency and credit expansion, and the additional necessity of dealing with the administration's farm mortgage refinancing bill which is expected to be sent to congress within the next few days.

One troublesome problem which was discussed was that of certain state banks which were allowed to open and accept deposits only to fail shortly afterward.

Despite the magnitude of the job still ahead Secretary Woodin was described by Senator Fletcher as confident and optimistic in his view of the situation.

Sees Secret Opposition.

The temper of the Democratic majority in congress was illustrated during the brief debate over the transfer of the securities bill from the judiciary to the banking committee.

Discussing possible opponents of the bill who might wish to be heard, Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], judiciary committee chairman, declared that opposition would not be in the open but would be "secret and subterranean."

"It will come," he said, "from those who sank their teeth into the investor with greater rapacity than a school of sharks ever sank teeth into human flesh."

Demands Thorough Inquiry.

As instigator during the preceding congress of the inquiry into foreign bond flotations, Senator Hiram Johnson [Rad., Cal.] introduced and had referred to the banking committee a new bill setting up a "foreign securities board" composed of the secretary of state, secretary of commerce, and governor of the federal reserve board.

Full details as to all foreign issues, both private and governmental, would be required to be made to the board. Misstatements, through fraud or negligence, would make those negotiating or underwriting the issues liable to suit by any investor suffering a loss.

No federal reserve or member bank could purchase foreign issues or make loans to issuing houses, and no foreign issues could be sold or advertised, unless the securities were approved by the board.

Poem Leads to Suspension of Junior at Princeton

Princeton, N. J., March 30.—(AP)—Suspension of Philip S. Horton, chairman of Nassau Lit, undergraduate literary publication, by the Princeton undergraduate council for publishing an allegedly obscene poem in the Nassau Lit, became known today when the Daily Princetonian appeared with an editorial attacking the council's action. Horton, whose home is in Providence, R. I., is a junior.

3 TOWN OFFICERS, HELD AFTER FIRE, FREED ON BAIL

Zeigler Mayor Posts $1,000 Bonds,

Benton, Ill., March 30.—[Special.]—Mayor Murphy Smith of Zeigler, Water Commissioner A. C. Carr, and Fire Chief Walter Kroski were released on $1,000 bonds each late today after their arrest in connection with a fire at Zeigler early today which destroyed two residences and a store building.

The fire occurred shortly after Smith had returned from Springfield, where he had requested Gov. Horner to send troops into Franklin county as a result of Sheriff Browning Robinson taking over law enforcement at Zeigler.

Mayor Found at Carr's Home.

One residence was occupied by Mrs. Frank Ford. Two of her boarders are Ray Edmundson, president of subdistrict nine, and John Moulin, member of state scale committee, district 12. The other residence and store bulding belonged to Bourman and Son.

The fire chief was not present at the city hall when the alarm was turned in, it is charged. When volunteer firemen attempted to take out the fire truck, it is alleged they found the hose had been disconnected and hydrant wrenches missing. Kroski is also alleged to have admitted he heard the alarm.

Deputy Sheriff Stanley Mundell, who is in charge of affairs at Zeigler, went to the home of Carr, where he found Smith and arrested both of them. Later Kroski was arrested.

Once Sentenced to Jail.

Efforts were being made today to obtain the release on bond of Moulin on charges growing out of the shooting at West Frankfort Monday in which John Ward, member of the West Frankfort Progressive Relief board, and Clarence Donaldson of Eldorado were killed and Elmer Cooper, also of Eldorado, wounded. Charles Harris, West Frankfort garage owner, who has been held on the same charge, was released today.

Moulin, Gola Whitlow, and Clyde Lipe, Benton, were given a six months' jail sentence Feb. 1 for assaulting Leal W. Reece, attorney for the Progressive miners, who was in Benton in connection with an injunction suit filed against John L. Lewis and others. They were later released on bond pending an appeal.

Preparations went forward today to again guard the highways within Franklin county to block a possible invasion of Progressives intent on picketing the various mines in the county. Twenty special officers have been patroling streets at Zeigler.

Meanwhile, Elgin Company I and Joliet Company G, 129th infantry, Illinois National Guard, were ordered to proceed Saturday to Taylorville for patrol duty in mine areas of Christian and Sangamon counties. The units will relieve the 130th infantry, which has been on duty for several weeks. Col. C. S. Long, commanding the troops at Taylorville, issued the order.

Los Angeles Schools Hit by Quake to Be Wrecked

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Seven Los Angeles schools, damaged in the recent earthquake, were ordered wrecked and one other building partly demolished by the Los Angeles board of education today. The action followed the recommendation of inspectors that the structures were unsafe and a menace to pupils. A sharply perceptible quake was felt in this area before 5 a. m. today but did no damage. Every building at the Woodrow Wilson High school at Long Beach, except the junior college structure and one shop, were declared unsafe today.

3 SCHOOLBOYS HELP FUND FOR HUNGRY PUPILS

The efforts of three pupils of the Boone school helped the Hungry School Children's fund yesterday, but the day's total of donations to the fund remained low. Only $11 was received.

The children who gave a benefit for the fund were Billy and Fred Bangs and James Gilmore. The proceeds of a picture show brought $1 when they entertained their friends at the home of the Bangs boys. The day's gifts in full:

$2—Procedure.

$2—J. L. Bird; "Friend."

$1—Mrs. William Dixon; Harriet Richards; Fred Bangs, Billy Bangs, and James Gilmore of the Boone school; stenographic department, Illinois inspection bureau.

Total ..... $ 11.00
Previously acknowledged 22,898.97

Grand total $22,909.97

YOUTH IS FREE AFTER FACING DEATH IN CHAIR

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—Harry F. Cashin, the young bricklayer who spent seven months in the deathhouse at Sing Sing before the Court of Appeals ordered his retrial on a charge of killing a detective, finally won his freedom today.

HARRY F. CASHIN.

On the motion of his counsel Judge George L. Donnellan in General Sessions dismissed the indictment charging Cashin, 20, with the murder of Detective Christopher Shening in a speakeasy holdup, Feb. 19, 1931. Assistant District Attorney John F. Joyce admitted the state was not prepared with any evidence beyond the evidence they presented in Cashin's first trial.

The state's chief witness in Cashin's trial was Gladys Clayton, who positively identified the youth as one of the two holdup men. Cashin was convicted. The Court of Appeals later reversed the conviction.

ARSON IS VERDICT IN LOSS OF GREAT FRENCH LINER

PARIS, March 31.—[Friday.]—The Journal today said arson was definitely found to be the cause of the burning of the French passenger steamship Atlantique in the English channel on Jan. 4 with a loss of eighteen lives.

This was the finding in the final report of investigating officials after a hearing in which 160 witnesses gave evidence, the newspaper said. The report was forwarded to the ministry of merchant marine Thursday.

Owners of the 41,000 ton liner, which was one of the largest in the world, filed suit two weeks ago to collect full insurance of about $6,800,000. The insurers hoped to repair the vessel after it was turned over to them as unnavigable by the tribune of commerce.

Robbed While on Her Way to Play a Game of Bridge

As she was entering a building at 3222 Le Moyne street where she was to play bridge with friends last night, Miss May Simon, 24 years old, 856 North Hoyne street, was held up by an armed bandit who took her diamond ring, fur coat, and $10.

GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM TO FIGHT IRISH IN JULY

BY ARCH WARD.

Chicago's intercity Golden Glove fighters, victorious over New York, 10 bouts to 6, at the Stadium Wednesday night, went back to their jobs or their classrooms yesterday, most of them ready to forget amateur boxing for 1933.

BILLY CELEBRON, which will be held at Soldiers' field July 26 as a feature of A Century of Progress. The eight amateur champions of Ireland will provide the opposition.

The eight champions will resume training early in July in preparation for the third annual international Golden Glove bouts, which will be held at Soldiers' field July 26 as a feature of A Century of Progress. The eight amateur champions of Ireland will provide the opposition.

Irish to Pick Champions.

The Irish Amateur Boxing association will conduct a tournament within the next month to pick a team for the Chicago bouts. Maj. Gen. W. R. E. Murphy, president of the Irish group, accepted THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to send a team to Soldiers' field three months ago. Interest in the sport was stimulated by the splendid showing of the Irish boxers in the Olympic games at Los Angeles. Enthusiasm was maintained throughout the winter because of the proposed trip to Chicago and amateur clubs sprang up in nearly every city in the Free State.

"The Irish probably have given more men to boxing than any nationality, and we are confident we shall show the world at Chicago next summer that we still have plenty of fighting men," wrote Gen. Murphy.

Third European Invasion.

Ireland will be the third European team Chicago's Golden Glove champions have opposed. France sent its eight leading amateurs to Soldiers' field in May, 1931. Chicago won the match, 5 bouts to 3. A crowd of nearly 40,000 sat in a temperature of 46 degrees to see the show.

The greatest crowd in the history of amateur boxing—45,000—turned out last July to watch the Chicago boys fight the champions of Germany to a 4 to 4 tie.

A special train on the New York Central bore the unsuccessful New York invaders eastward yesterday.

Despite the foggy drear day, which must have matched the feelings of the New Yorkers, there was no noticeable gloom at La Salle street station. Already New York was planning on 1934 when the intercity fights will be held in Madison Square Garden.

Take Defeat Philosophically.

New York accepted its defeat philosophically. The eastern Golden Glovers had believed they would achieve a smashing triumph, and there's no doubt but that the boys were the best team in the six years of intercity competition. However, Chicago also boasted its strongest team. New York underestimated the strength of Chicago's heavier weights. It was in these divisions that Chicago piled up its margin of victory.

Starting with Billy Celebron, Chicago's stalwart welterweight runner-up, Chicago won six of eight bouts. It was well that these heavier boys won, for until Celebron climbed into the ring to fight his greatest bout in his three year career, the score was tied, 4 to 4. Perhaps this wouldn't have been true if Eddie Ward, the lightweight champion, hadn't landed an unintentional low blow which caused Referee George Barton of Minneapolis to raise the hand of John Makar of New York. At the time it seemed Ward certainly would win.

First Foul in 96 Bouts.

This defeat on a foul, the first in 96 intercity fights, dropped Chicago's championship record to six in the eight weight classes. Buddy Ginter, Chicago's featherweight titleholder, previously had been defeated by Julie Katz, who probably was New York's best boxer. This record of six champions equaled that of 1931 when Chicago whipped New York, 13 bouts to 3. In fairness to New York it should be added that the championship score last year also was 6 to 2 for the eastern Glovers.

The result Wednesday night gave Chicago the edge in the intercity series, 3 to 2. In 1928, the first year of the bouts, the result was a tie. The complete record for six years shows that New York has won 46 bouts and Chicago 50.

Fifteen Thousand Attend.

Fifteen thousand attended the fights. While this was the first time in six years that less than a capacity crowd has seen the matches, it still was a tribute to Golden Gloves, considering the depression, and that the prices were the highest because of the addition of federal tax.

W. A. Rounds, Founder of Roque League, Dies

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30.—[Special.]—The founder of the American Roque league, W. A. Rounds, Cleveland, died at his winter home here today. He was 67 years old. Rounds was president of the league for ten years. He was a director in the Cleveland Trust company.

GALLANT SIR IS QUOTED 1-5 FOR AGUA HANDICAP

Takes Last Workout for $25,000 Race.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 30.—(AP)—Gallant Sir, odds-on favorite in the $25,000 Agua Caliente handicap next Sunday, took his last workout today, making a brilliant showing.

The big 4 year old colt, working with Sundot, a sprinter, and Whizz James, a pace setter, from his own stable, was clocked in 24 seconds for a quarter, :48 3-5 for a half, 1:13 2-5 for 6 furlongs, 1:38 4-5 for a mile, and 1:52 3-5 for 9 furlongs, running easily.

E. J. Fitzgerald, trainer for Norman W. Church, in whose colors Gallant Sir runs, was highly gratified. The big horse's odds had dropped to 1 to 5 to win, with no one offering to take place and show bets.

Waylayer Second Choice.

With the passing of Pillow Fight from the picture as a serious contender yesterday, Waylayer, from the A. A. Baroni barn, replaced the New Zealand invader as second choice in the future books, at 8 to 1. Pillow Fight still was quoted by the betting commissioner in third position, 10 to 1, since D. J. Davis, his owner, had made no move to scratch his name from the entry list, despite the fact four others placed ahead of him at a mile and a sixteenth.

Elation ran high among the attaches of the Meadowbrook stable as they fully realized the importance of the showing its sturdy 3 year old filly, Loversail, made yesterday in winning the final prep race. Kid North, the stable's representative at the track, predicted that for the first time a mare might win a part of the big purse. Loversail is the only female thoroughbred still among the possible starters. She never has attempted to run a mile and a quarter, the handicap distance.

Mad Pursuit 30 to 1.

The rise of Mad Pursuit, owned by T. C. Worden, in the estimate of track followers as a result of yesterday's race, was not reflected in the future books odds, where the 4 year old was quoted at 30 to 1.

St. Cyr and Damen Reach K. C. Finals

Damen and St. Cyr will meet Sunday for the Knights of Columbus basketball league championship. They earned the right to play in the title game last night by winning semi-final contests at the 132d regiment armory. Damen defeated Setters, 27 to 19, and St. Cyr won from Quigley, 26 to 19.

Perez defeated Loyola-Hyde Park, south division champion, 26 to 24, in the semi-finals of the consolation bracket and will meet the winner of the Santa Maria-Garcia Mareno game on Sunday's card for the consolation honors. Setters and Quigley also will clash for third and fourth places.

Rangers Defeat Detroit, 2-0, Before 17,000 in Playoffs

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The New York Rangers defeated the Detroit Red Wings, 2 to 0, tonight in the first of their two-game semi-final series in the National Hockey league's Stanley cup playoffs. The series will be decided on a total goal basis, with the final game Sunday at Detroit.

CHING JOHNSON.

WHITE SOX REMINDERS.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 27.—Buffalo defeated the St. Louis Browns here on "Bisons' Day," 7 to 6, in a game which brought up White Sox memories. First, Ray Schalk, Chicago manager in 1927-'28, was piloting Buffalo. His team was leading 7 to 3 at the start of the ninth until a homer with two men on brought the Browns three tallies with tying and winning runs on first and third with two out.

RAY SCHALK.

Center Fielder West of the Browns, a left hander who had been clouting all afternoon, was at bat. Schalk went into a huddle with himself and motioned to the bench. Out trotted Pat Caraway, ex-White Sox. From his port side and the elevation for which Pat is noted he projected a fast ball to West, who popped it skyward for the third out.

Incidentally, the Browns saw the largest crowd of their southern training trip, about 1,000 spectators. Major leaguers have gleaned sparse pickings this year. Possibly prices are too high—$1.25 for grand stand at Miami. Here it was 75 cents grand stand and 50 cents in the bleachers. Moreover, Fort Lauderdale through civic pride was trying to furnish a crowd.

The assemblage so impressed the Browns they agreed to return for two more games this week. Willis Johnson, former baseball writer and now secretary, said St. Louis' share of its best previous gate was $31, which was about tripled here.

* *

Browns an Improved Team.

Owner Phil Ball of St. Louis, who saw his boys perform, thinks he has the best outfit for several years, whatever that means to fans up north. Jim Gould, president of the Baseball Writers' association, traveling with the team, said a place in the first division was not impossible but really probable with a few qualifying "ifs."

All managers with whom the Wake has talked like this climate for conditioning. That is their real view for a northerner and not for local consumption solely.

The Wake has seen only one alligator in this supposed 'gator country. Nor was that in a bayou, but right out in an open lot about 150 feet from our cottage. He was a 5 foot fellow. What he was doing there we don't know, for while we talk to the horses at the Kentucky Derby and are trying to learn the dog lingo at the dog races we do not know how to approach an alligator conversationally. Local theory was that he was taking an overland trip from one canal to another.

* *

Tidings from Home.

Daughter Alberta Wake sent us an air mail special delivery letter saying the Evanston bank in which were deposited the family funds to run the cottage during our absence and to provide for our return trip has not gone back to work after the holiday. She said $30 was due the maid, $15 to the laundress, and she had no money, so what should she do. We had no idea, so we wired her "Just be brave and you'll grow up a good woman."

SPENCE FAMILY WINS 2 NATIONAL SWIMMING TITLES

Michigan Diver Retains Low Board Crown.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Walter and Wallace Spence, two members of a Brooklyn family, won half of the four titles awarded tonight at the opening of the annual three day competition for the National Amateur Athletic union swimming championships in the 75 foot pool of the New York Athletic club.

Walter, national collegiate 100 yard free style champion, a student at Rutgers university, won the century by a yard from Al Schwartz of Chicago, former national title holder, in the comparatively slow time of 53.6 seconds. Another brother, Leonard, was third after being squeezed off in his lane in the final dash.

Another Spence Wins.

Wallace won the 300 yard medley, consisting of one-third breast stroke, another third back stroke, and the final 100 yards of free style, after a strenuous tussle with John Schmeller, Big Ten champion from the University of Michigan. He came from behind in the last ten yards to win in 3:42.3, half a dozen seconds behind the record.

Richard K. Degener of the University of Michigan successfully defended his low board diving championship, scoring 140.33 points. Al Greene of Chicago trailed him with 121.56 points.

Fort Wayne Youth Victor.

Dan Zehr, 16 year old high school boy from Fort Wayne, Ind., plowed home two yards ahead of Gordon Chalmers of the Newark A. C. to win the 150 yard back stroke championship. Zehr, a favorite from the beginning of the preliminary heats this afternoon, led from the start.

On the basis of the first night's competition the New York Athletic club led in the chase for the team trophy with 13 points, with Michigan second with 8 and Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A. third with 5.

Summaries:

150 YARD BACK STROKE—Won by Dan Zehr, Fort Wayne, Ind., Y. M. C. A.; Gordon Chalmers, Newark A. C., second; John Wicklum, Dragon club, Brooklyn, third; Albert Yande Werh, Newark A. C., fourth; Justin L. Cashman, Fordham, fifth. Time, 1:39.5.

FANCY DIVING, LOW BOARD—Won by Richard K. Degener, Michigan, 140.33 points; Al Greene, Lake Shore A. C., Chicago, 121.56, second; James Wilkie, Northwestern, 108.84, third; Herman Ringler, Penn A. C., Philadelphia, 105.74, fourth; Durland Johnston, Pittsburgh, 103.25, fifth; Ruggerio Flocco, Penn A. C., Philadelphia, 101.99, sixth.

300 YARD MEDLEY—Won by Wallace Spence, N. Y. A. C.; John Schmeller, Michigan, second; John Higgins, Providence, R. I., Y. M. C. A., third; August Harmsa, N. Y. A. C., fourth; Lucian Robertson, Ann Arbor, Mich., fifth. Time, 3:42.3.

Maroon Swimming Star to Attend West Point

Stanley Connelly, sophomore swimming star at the University of Chicago, will be swimming for West Point instead of the Maroons next year, it was learned yesterday. Connelly, who won a major letter for his work in the 440 yard event and in water polo this year, has accepted an appointment to the military academy. Connelly won several Chicago river swims before entering school on the Midway.

William Butler Duncan, Famous Yachtsman, Dies

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—William Butler Duncan, who was one of the foremost yachtsmen in the country, died today in his home, in his 71st year. Mr. Duncan was a racing member of the New York Yacht club, was chairman of the America's cup committee when the Enterprise raced the last of the Lipton challengers—the Shamrock V.—in 1930, and had served on several of the early defenders.

Butler Track Team Beats Washington U.

St. Louis, Mo., March 30.—(AP)—Butler university won first place in eleven of fifteen events to defeat Washington university, 82 to 49, in a dual track meet today. Washington finished first in only the mile relay, the high jump the javelin and discus events.

That Sox Punch Takes Day Off; San Francisco Wins, 7-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—Coats of tan were the only evidence today that the White Sox had gone through several weeks of spring training. They didn't hit well. Their fielding was off and their pitching was of no account. This is about all that can ever be wrong with a ball team. Under the circumstances the Sox were trimmed rather decisively, 7 to 3, by San Francisco of the Coast league.

AL SIMMONS.

There was only one happening pleasing to Manager Lew Fonseca. That was a home run over the fence by Al Simmons in the third inning with a man on base. However, most of the pleasure Fonseca derived from this was offset by his own failure on the offensive. He hit a resounding double in the first inning, but thereafter faded out on four successive occasions, each time with one or two White Sox on base.

Pitchers Need Work.

The day's pitching strengthened the impression derived from the work of Milt Gaston and Vic Frasier yesterday against Oakland. Gaston and Frasier indicated they will require strenuous work to put them in shape. Now the same can be said for Sam Jones and Chad Kimsey. In five innings Jones was hammered for ten hits. Kimsey remained for only two innings, giving away to a pinch hitter, but this was long enough for the Seals to get three runs in the sixth.

In the Kimsey case, however, there were extenuating circumstances. He was frisked for two sound wallops and walked two men in the sixth, but at least part of the three runs might have been prevented if Luke Appling hadn't booted a grounder between the two hits and the walks and dropped Hayes' throw a moment later with an easy double play in sight.

Jones Fades Early.

Jones revealed early that he didn't have much more than hope. The Seals got two runs in the first inning on a walk to Galan, Garibaldi's single, one by Ostenberg and another by Sullk.

Three hits and a walk gave the Sox chances they overlooked in the first two innings but they required only one hit to tie the score in the third. This was where Simmons hit his homer after Haas had walked.

Jones encountered various obstacles after the first inning but none proved serious until the fifth when two runs scored on Galan's single, a sacrifice, a walk, Ostenberg's third single, and Fenton's looping single to short center.

Seals Get After Kimsey.

Kimsey started his day's work by retiring the first man in the sixth, but the Seals went on parade immediately after. Donovan beat out a hit to short and scored on a double by Galan. Appling fumbled Garibaldi's roller and a walk to Ostenberg filled the bases. Sullk also walked and De Maggio, who ran for Galan, scored. Thomas grounded to Hayes for what should have been an easy double play, but Appling dropped the throw, letting Garibaldi score and leaving the bases filled. Kimsey emerged without further embarrassment.

The Sox made a lot of threatening motions against Powers in the eighth, but collected only one run. Simmons was safe on De Maggio's wide throw, and Appling and Kress walked to fill the bases. Dykes filed to center, Simmons scoring. Grube beat out a hit to deep short to fill the bases. Then Funk batted for Kimsey and hit into an easy double play.

Exhibiting in these parts will come to a close tomorrow against the Seals. Joe Heving and possibly Ed Durham will split the pitching assignment.

Major League Clubs Debate Beer Question

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Major league club owners today appeared evenly divided on the question of selling beer in the ball parks this season, which starts April 12, five days after the new 3.2 beer becomes nationally legalized.

Five clubs in as many cities have put themselves on record as opposed to selling beer in or under the stands, but five others, concentrated in the two biggest cities, New York and Chicago, favor dispensing the new beverage to their followers.

The remaining six clubs are noncommittal. A majority in both circuits are awaiting the final enactment of state beer control legislation before taking definite action.

State Laws Complicate Sale.

Regardless of developments, the word is that no beer will be sold in the parks at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, and Pittsburgh. In explanation of the situation in the two Ohio cities it is pointed out that the prospective new state law controlling sales will provide for consuming the brew only at tables.

Even where it is planned to put the beverage on sale club owners apparently are agreed on a policy of not dispensing it among the customers in the stands, along with peanuts and popcorn. At Chicago beer will be sold at bars in the White Sox and Cub parks. Club owners of all three metropolitan New York teams, the Yankees, Giants, and Dodgers, favor the sale of beer at concession stands, but no definite plans have been made pending the outcome of a fight over state legislation at Albany.

Ruppert Controls Brewery.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the world champion Yankees, controls one of the biggest breweries in New York, but he has made no move as yet to put beer on sale at the Yankee stadium for opening day.

Managements of the two St. Louis clubs, although they use the same park, are divided on what they may do. The Browns probably will allow sales beneath the stands only, but the Cardinals probably won't permit it.

Among the larger minor league cities, only Milwaukee so far reports plans to sell bottled beer in the stands. In pre-prohibition days there barrooms operated under the stands, with beer on draft, but this will not be resumed, at least for the time being.

New Chicago Grid Coach Arrives Ahead of Time

Clark Shaughnessy, new University of Chicago football coach, arrived yesterday, a day earlier than had been anticipated, it was learned last night. Shaughnessy is staying at the Windermere hotel and will confer with Thomas Nelson Metcalf, new Maroon athletic director, this morning. He also will meet his assistants, all of them holdovers from the A. A. Stagg regime, and lay plans for the start of spring football practice next Monday afternoon.

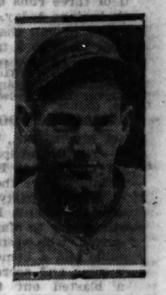
JURGES LEADS CHICAGO WITH 3 SINGLES, HOMER

English Smacks Pair of Triples.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—The Chicago Cubs executed a base hit riot here this afternoon against the Pittsburgh Pirates, lacerating them horribly in a 16 to 10 victory.



WOODY ENGLISH.

The Chicagoans made 19 hits, including a homer by Bill Jurges, his fourth hit in a row; a homer by Mark Koenig, two triples by Woody English, and one each by Burleigh Grimes and Gink Hendrick, to say nothing of doubles by Bill and Babe Herman and Zack Taylor.

Grimm Gets First Hit.

The Cubs stepped up in their half of the second and made four runs to tie the score despite the blight of a double play early in the proceedings. Stephenson started things with a line single to left and went to third on Grimm's single to center, which, by the way, was the manager's first hit of the year. Hartnett hit into a double play, sinking Grimm with him, but Stephenson scored.

Jurges launched his series of hits with a single through Vaughan. Grimes followed with a single and Bill Herman with a walk to fill the bases. At this point English cracked the first of his triples and Jurges, Grimes and Bill Herman paraded across the plate.

Grimes Pitches Into Huddle.

The Pirates took a 6 to 4 lead in the third inning, which was not so notable as an incident which might have resulted in severe injury to one of three participants. Traynor singled with one down. Suhr came to bat and after a couple of pitches Hartnett turned to talk with Umpire Beans Reardon. Suhr, standing in the batter's box, turned to kibitz the conversation. Then, to the amazement of every one in the ball park, Grimes reared back and pitched at the chatting trio. The ball hit the top of Hartnett's mask and went for a wild pitch.

Grimes walked Suhr and then made another wild pitch while everybody was looking. Further to reveal his abashed state, Grimes walked Vaughan, filling the bases. Piet then singled, scoring Traynor and Suhr.

12 Cubs up, 8 Score.

There were twelve batsmen in the Cub fourth. Eight runs were scored on a single by Jurges, a triple by Grimes, a double by Bill Herman, English's second triple, a double by Babe Herman, Stephenson's single, a walk to Hartnett, Jurges' second single of the inning, and a double by Taylor. All the hits were at the expense of French, generally rated the Pirates' ace.

Tinning waddled on the scene at the start of the fifth and walked the second, third, and fourth men to face him, filling the bases. He managed to get the side out without a score, however. In the next inning the fat boy was not so fortunate. In this inning the Pirates made three hits, got two more walks, and scored three runs to reach a score of 12 to 9, with the Cubs leading.

Jurges' fourth successive hit, the homer, was good for two runs in the sixth, and in the seventh Babe Herman walked and scored on Hendrick's triple. In the eighth Koenig wound up Cub production with a homer over the right field screen. A double by Grace and a single by Comorosky gave the Pirates a run in the ninth.

Phagan and Sisk Battle Tonight in Cicero Headliner

Johnny Phagan, 1932 international Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Dick Sisk of Brighton Park will meet tonight in an eight round bout at the Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue. In his latest professional match Phagan knocked out Harry Schuman for the second time. Sisk beat Danny Delmont in his last appearance. Phagan has lost only one fight since turning pro last fall.

Ray Tramblie, Rockford, Ill., middleweight, is to face Bud Saltis of the north side in the six round semi-final. It will be their third meeting. A year ago Tramblie stopped Saltis. Since then Ray lost to Jack Moran and Saltis whipped Moran. Five bouts at four rounds will complete the program.

Mickey O'Shea, local welterweight, signed last night to meet Bobby O'Hara in a six round contest Monday at White City. Izzy Gastanaga, New York heavyweight, who meets Joe Dokter in the 10 round windup, yesterday received an offer to box Stanley Poreda at New York on April 10. Solly King, Izzy's manager, is to hold the offer in abeyance. He is attempting to induce King Levinsky to fight Gastanaga at the Chicago Stadium next month.

Elnar Hedquist, west side welterweight, and Jack Kane of Cicero are to battle in a five round match tonight at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Other bouts follow: Owen Miller vs. George Williams [5]; Georgie Stokes vs. Johnny Fitzpatrick [5]; Oscar O'Hanlon vs. Freddy Gravelle, and Red Chinski vs. Mennen Kumis. Two wrestling bouts also will be presented.

Johnny Pena and Marty Sampson, featherweight and middleweight from New York, are drilling here for their 10 round bouts at Pittsburgh, April 12. Pena clashes with Jackie Wilson and Sampson meets Frankie Goosby. . . . The Harry Dublinsky-Eddie [Kid] Wolfe bout scheduled at Pittsburgh Monday has been canceled. . . . Willie Oster has turned down a bout with Chick Raines at St. Louis April 5. James J. Braddock and Martin Levandowski are booked to fight on the card. . . . George Engel and Karl Rosen, amateur boxers, will turn professional Monday at the Logan Square auditorium.

Fight Decisions

Savannah, Ga.—George Annarino knocked out John Kennedy [2].

Tedding and Quinn Win in Tennis Meet

The favorites are still in the running for the men's western indoor singles tennis championship. Leading the way into the quarter final round at the Broadway armory last night were Eugene Quinn and Earl Tedding. Quinn, one of the leading players in the Chicago district, defeated Theodore Matthews, 6-3, 6-3, while Tedding, captain of Northwestern university's tennis squad, eliminated Charles Welker, 6-3, 6-2.

Frank O'Connell and Jose Alonso, former member of the Spanish Davis cup team, gained the fourth round when their opponents failed to appear. O'Connell was to have met A. Fathauer, while Alonso was scheduled to play Jerry Golten. David Krieger also won by default. He was paired with Maj. J. L. Homer in the third round.

Mrs. Dorothy Hack, western outdoor women's singles champion, who is seeking the indoor crown, suffered an ankle injury early yesterday and was unable to play her quarter final match. Tournament officials said that the match will be staged tomorrow night.

In a semi-final match in the women's singles, Miss Ann Prym defeated Lucille Jacobson, 6-4, 6-1. No contests are scheduled for today. The players will resume competition tomorrow. The first contests are scheduled for 2 o'clock. Last night's results follow:

MEN'S SINGLES.

City Volleyball Title to Be Decided Tomorrow

The city volley ball championship tournament will be held at the Lincoln-Belmont Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening. Hyde Park, Division street, Lincoln-Belmont, and Austin Y. M. C. A. teams are entered.

Poloists Wind Up Preparations for Tourney Games

The four teams which will meet in the western polo championship tourney tomorrow night wound up their heavy training yesterday. The games will be played at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street.

In the opener the 122d and 124th Field Artillery trios will clash for class D honors. The windup will bring together the high goal Sixth Corps Area and Chicago Riding club, contenders for the national championship.

Maj. Richard G. Hunter yesterday announced a change in the playing schedule for the national title games. The April 16 date has been eliminated and April 23 substituted. The tournament will open April 13 and will continue up to and including April 29.

Track Record Is Shattered by Banderlog

Coral Gables, Fla., March 30.—[Special.]—C. V. Whitney's Banderlog, four year old son of Chicle-Flyleaf, established a new track record when the gelding stepped a mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 2-5, to score in the featured fourth event at Tropical Park today. The gelding, ridden by Jockey Robertson, closed gamely through the stretch to pass Beau Jolie, the pacemaker. The latter finished second, half a length behind the winner and two lengths in advance of Billy Champ. The winner paid $12.60.

Beau Jolie was rushed into the lead when the barrier was sprung. Jockey Coucci opened up a two length lead entering the stretch. Noelwood moved into second position behind Beau Jolie, with Banderlog third on the outside. In the last furlong Robertson outrode Coucci for the honors. Billy Champ raced Noelwood into submission to save the show.

Mrs. L. F. Carman completed a double when Tremendous won the third event at seven furlongs. The Canter filly, ridden by Jockey Coucci, made every pole a winning one and completed the trip two lengths in front of Boston Waters. The latter weakened in the stretch drive, but outlasted Supercharge for the place. The winner paid $4.80. The time was 1:25 1-5.

Thornton Five to Be Feted by Home Town

The basketball season has ended but there is no rest in sight for the Thornton High school team of Harvey, which won the Illinois state championship last week. The squad, coached by Jack Lipe, former university of Illinois athlete, has started on a round of banquets.

Tonight the team will tote its trophies to Whittier auditorium in Harvey. Three thousand will attend. Among the speakers will be C. W. Whitten, manager of the Illinois State High School Athletic association and H. V. Porter, assistant manager. A school banquet also will be held today.

More Receptions Scheduled.

The schedule for next week includes receptions by the Harvey Kiwanis club, Harvey Elks club, and the Harvey Rotary club. They will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights.

Before winning the state championship by defeating Springfield, 14 to 13, in the final round at Champaign, Thornton captured the South Suburban High School league title, won the district and state sectional trophies. It won 24 games in its 27 game schedule. It averaged 37 points per game throughout the season.

Nisbet Is a Scot.

The players who brought Thornton its first state championship are Louis Boudreau, Miles Klein, Ted Sliwinski, Tom Nisbet, Darrel Hutchins, Gordon McComb, John Vogler, Kenneth Hellman, Howard McMorris and Ray Jenkins. Klein and Sliwinski are the oldest, 18, while Hellman is the youngest, having just reached his 13th birthday.

Nisbet, small and fast guard, was born in Galston, Scotland, 16 years ago. His father was one of the outstanding soccer players in Scotland and five years ago competed in the national soccer tournament.

OAK PARK AND SENN FAVORITES IN RELAY MEET

Oak Park and Senn, rated on brilliant performances to date, will be the leading contenders in the third annual Oak Park High school relay carnival tomorrow afternoon and night at the Oak Park fieldhouse. Oak Park, Illinois state outdoor champion, has not been defeated. Senn recently won the Chicago Public High School league championship.

In addition to Oak Park and Senn, 30 schools will compete for the team championship. More than 500 athletes will seek individual titles. Oak Park also holds the Suburban High School crown. Among its stars are Murphy, Bechel, O'Brien, Doherty, and Rhode. The preliminaries are scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, while the first final event will be held at 7:30 p. m.

Beaten for Three Rounds, Then Scores a Knockout

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—(AP)—Outboxed and outpunched for three rounds, Billy Ketchell, Millville, N. J., slugger, landed a left hook to the jaw in the fifth session to knock out Wally Sears, Minersville, Pa., tonight. Sears scaled 170, two pounds heavier than Ketchell.

Loyola Students Play for Campus Titles

Finals in the basketball, boxing, wrestling, and ping-pong tournaments staged by the Loyola university intramural board will be held in the gymnasium tonight as the feature of Loyola's second annual sports carnival.

Chicago Goal of 10,000 Pigeons in Race Oct. 7

BY BOB BECKER.

If residents of Chicagoland notice an unusually large number of fleet, fast flying racing pigeons tearing through the air during the next few months they need not be surprised, because nearly 10,000 of these banded "homers" will be shipped into Chicago and, in the parlance of the racing pigeon fancier, "settled" here for races. According to W. R. Fancher of the Chicago Concourse association and the Chicago center of the American Racing Pigeon union, this city will be the finishing point for the greatest pigeon race of the year which is scheduled for Oct. 7. The starting point of the race is Ames, Ia.

Mr. Fancher advises Chicagoland residents that there is a possibility of many of the 10,000 birds in this race getting lost. These will be the very young "squeekers," the inexperienced racers.

If you find any of these young birds report them promptly to Stanley Poltus, secretary and treasurer of the Chicago center, A. R. U. P., 1803 North Fairfield avenue, or to Arthur Licht, 4940 Superior street. Both will have complete records of all birds sent into Chicago for the big race. Any time during the year Mr. Poltus can help residents who find stray racing pigeons in tracing the ownership of the birds. He has a list of bands issued for years back.

National files on racing pigeon bands are kept in New Jersey by Edward Barnes, secretary of the American Racing Pigeon union, 214 Congress street, Jersey City. A stray racing pigeon found anywhere in the world and bearing the initials "A. U." can be identified as to ownership through that office.

Crowded as the World's Fair grounds will be this summer with hundreds of exhibits and attractions and millions of visitors there is going to be space taken in the Belgian village exhibit for pigeon lofts in which 45 pairs of racing pigeons representing many prominent Belgian fanciers, will be housed. These imported pigeons will breed young racers to compete in the big classic on Oct. 7. Turned loose in Ames, Ia., the youngsters will fly back to their home lofts on the World's Fair grounds.

COLEMAN CLARK IS RANKED NO. 1 IN PING-PONG

The ranking committee of the Western Ping-Pong association yesterday announced the official 1932-1933 season ping-pong rankings.

For the third successive year, Coleman Clark and Max Rushakoff, both of Chicago, are placed No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in men's singles. Clark was runner-up in the national tournament and Rushakoff is western champion. Newcomers to the first ten are Wilbur Larson, J. R. Leininger, and William Condy, Chicago district stars.

Outstanding competitors from other cities who are rated highly are: Courtney Bock of Cleveland, W. Vernon Tietjen, St. Louis champion, and A. W. De Bovis, Michigan state titleholder.

Paul Pearson and Edwin Lewis, youthful Chicagoans, who recently won the national doubles championship, head the list in men's doubles. They displace Coleman and Robert E. Clark, who did not compete in doubles this year. The combination of Frank Work and Yoshio Fushimi is ranked second.

300 Athletes to Compete in Armour Relays

More than three hundred track and field athletes from thirty-two colleges and universities in the central states will assemble at the Armour Tech relay carnival in the University of Chicago fieldhouse tomorrow night. Entries have come in this week from the University of Illinois, the University of Pittsburgh, and from a number of the smaller colleges.

The entrance of the University of Illinois means that the one mile run at the Armour games will bring together again three of the place winners in the conference meet here three weeks ago. Woolsey of Illinois, conference champion; Hornbostel of Indiana, who ran second, and Popejoy of Purdue will be the conference entries. Schwartz of Western State Teachers college, who won the central intercollegiate mile at South Bend early in the month, and Hurd of Michigan State appear to be the class of the nonconference milers.

Athletes Well Matched.

In the 440 yard event Mullins of Western State Teachers, Keast of Michigan State, and Keller of Pittsburgh will push Fuqua of Indiana, the conference winner, in what should be one of the fastest events on the program. The same men will run in the one mile university relay, where Michigan State, Pittsburgh, and Indiana are all evenly matched.

Equally brilliant athletes will compete in the field events. Lennington and Seeley of Illinois, Schram of Marquette, and Holcomb of Michigan State look best in the pole vault; Murphy of Notre Dame and Olson of Northwestern in the high jump; and Cook of Illinois, Davis of Hillsdale college, and Frost of Marquette can all beat 47 feet in the shot put.

Schommer Directs Meet.

The meet is sponsored by the Armour Tech Athletic association, and is under the direction of John J. Schommer, director of athletics at Armour Tech. The first Armour relay carnival was held one year ago.

INQUEST FINDS BOXER'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury after an inquest into the death of Henry P. Zuziak, 20 years old, 921 North Damen avenue, who died after boxing in a preliminary match of the Golden Gloves tournament on Feb. 13 at Guyon's Paradise ballroom.

Zuziak was matched with Al Berg, 18 years old, 1108 North Laramie avenue. The fight was stopped in the second round after Zuziak had been knocked down twice. It was the first time that either had boxed in public.

The verdict was reached after Dr. S. A. Levinson, coroner's physician, reported that death was caused by a subdural hemorrhage, occurring under the covering of the brain.

KROGH, FORMER MAROON, APPEARS AT MARIGOLD

Kaare [Red] Krogh, former Big Ten and National A. A. U. light heavyweight wrestling champion while at the University of Chicago, and a lineman on Chicago football teams, will make his first professional wrestling appearance in Chicago tonight at the Marigold arena.

He will meet Fred Lederbauhr, another Chicagoan, in the windup heavyweight bout of a six match card.

FAVORS SHORTER HOURS TO MAKE JOBS GO 'ROUND

Chief of State's Inquiry Tells of Studies.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Otto Doering, acting chairman of the governor's commission on unemployment for the last two months, made a remarkably frank report of the commission's labors and recommendations at the weekly forum of the City club yesterday.

This commission has been the dumping ground of all sorts of relief schemes and programs for months. Its members have made special studies of eight subjects. Of all the proposals that have come before them, Mr. Doering said, that of shorter work hours "may be the larger, better, more permanent road out of our difficulties."

Mr. Doering told of the difficulties under which the governor is laboring.

"Though we may be on the brink of a precipice," he said, "we have not yet learned that the only way to salvation lies in coöperation. Instead we find men warring, hoping for the good old days to come back. But these good old days, in the opinion of a majority of the commission, will not come back. Our poor little raft in a wild, tumultuous sea will never get ashore unless we pull together.

Calls for Open-mindedness.

"Gov. Horner is harassed on all sides and has not found it possible to reconcile contending elements. No man in the state is working harder. This commission is not intended to bring direct relief, but to suggest ways and legislation to decrease the amount of unemployment. The task is enormous. Not the least of the difficulties is the active and passive opposition of a great many good people who still think in terms of the past. Such words as socialism are still a bugaboo to frighten children. Until we come out of that attitude of mind we will find ourselves fighting shadows and ourselves."

Mr. Doering listed as the subjects on which recommendations have been made and studies are being made the following: Public works, housing, decentralization of industry, back to the land, barter and exchange, unemployment insurance, taxes, shorter work hours.

Cites Oversupply of Labor.

"What have we accomplished?" he asked. "I don't know. In shorter hours we are confronted with a formidable opposition. It is considered in some quarters as a step toward extreme socialism. It may be and yet it may be the only thing that will lift us out. We have more labor than we can employ, even in the years of so-called prosperity, and we must find new employment or have shorter work hours. Then will come the great problem of the advantageous use of leisure.

"The commission has recommended to the governor a program of public works building. It savors a little of an effort to pull ourselves up by our bootstraps. It might be effective if it could be large enough and started simultaneously.

"When we speak of revolution, we are probably now in the midst of the greatest industrial revolution since machines were installed in England. We may have to go to an entire new scheme of things, new modes of living, new ways to satisfy the urge to amount to something. There are other ways than making money.

Discusses Housing Bill.

"We have recommended passage of the housing bill now before the legislature. As a slum clearance proposition it doesn't function, but it has merit of a kind. It puts people to work and is an incentive to better housing. We are now working on the shorter work hours proposition, decentralization of industry, and barter and exchange.

"Many of us feel that one of the blots of our civilization is our concentration in small areas. It is easy to talk of taking starving people and putting them on the great free land. But we would probably have to send rescue missions to get them off. We can't do it unless the people are fitted for it. Long years of toil in the cities have unfitted them. The women will not go back with joy. I think something can be done, but it is not a panacea.

"Barter and exchange is being worked out in certain sections quite satisfactorily. The difficulties make the majority of the commission feel that it is impossible as a serious factor in the present situation on any line yet suggested.

Taxation a Big Problem.

"On taxes we have very meager results. This is one of the biggest things any group can tackle. No one has ever made a real survey of taxes, what services government should render, what price we can afford to pay for it, and in what way it shall be levied. We have here a perfect turmoil, delegation after delegation, and no delegation agreeing. Few men of wealth favor the income tax, and yet in the abstract it may be the most equitable.

"We have tried to avoid prejudices and at the same time not to be afraid because things sound radical. Our ability to solve the situation depends on our vision, on our ability to forget the past, to take things as they are, and to do things today because they are the right and only things."

SPRINKLE SKIN LIKE SALT IN NEWER GRAFTING

Cincinnati, O., March 30.—(AP)—Research workers of the University of Cincinnati college of medicine added a modification of the humble salt shaker today to the implements of the surgeon.

It's used in skin-grafting. The skin, ready for grafting, is ground, put into a modified salt shaker, and then sprinkled over the wound.

"This," said Dr. Herrmann, "is like sowing a seed instead of transplanting a tree."

It didn't seem to make any difference, he said, whether the particles of skin fell 'right side" up or down, the skin grew just the same.

Formerly it was customary, to cut pieces of skin about the size of a postage stamp and fit them carefully over the damaged area.

JOS. H. DURYEA, RETIRED TRIBUNE EMPLOYE, IS DEAD

MARCUS DALY JR. ESTATE $6,845,895; 1930 NET VALUE

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—A value of $7,733,060 gross and $6,845,895 net is set on the estate of Marcus Daly Jr. in a tax appraisal filed today. The valuations are as of Nov. 10, 1930, when Mr. Daly died in Virginia, where he was shooting ducks. He was well known as a big game hunter and was the son of the Montana copper mining pioneer, from whom he inherited a large fortune.

The estate contained securities valued at $6,059,063 on Nov. 10, 1930, but which undoubtedly have now shrunk in value.

There was $521,900 in real estate, nearly $973,709 in cash in banks, and $176,635 in miscellaneous property.

Funeral and administration expenses were $458,162, including $292,189 in fees to the Bankers Trust company and James W. Gerard, executors. Mr. Gerard, former American ambassador to Berlin, was Mr. Daly's brother-in-law. There were in the same category attorney's fees of $150,000 to Frank C. Laughlin, law partner of Mr. Gerard.

The bulk of the estate is divided between the widow, Lele H. Daly, and a son, Marcus Daly III., both of 930 Fifth avenue. The son, now 12 years old, gets the other half, in trust until he is 30, when he receives it outright.

William Butler Duncan, Yachtsman, Is Dead at 71

New York, March 30.—(AP)—William Butler Duncan, prominent yatchtsman and chairman of the America's cup committee for two years, died today. He was 71 years old. Duncan was chairman of the membership committee of the New York Yacht club for many years. He was graduated in 1882 from the United States Naval academy, serving for several years in the navy. He returned to the naval service in both the Spanish-American and world wars.

ORDER 'SOLITARY' AS PENALTY FOR PRISON GAMBLING

Any prisoner caught gambling for money at Stateville penitentiary hereafter will be punished by solitary confinement, Warden Frank D. Whipp ruled yesterday. The warden informed the prisoners that the anti-gaming laws apply within the prison as well as outside.

Discovery of widespread gambling for big stakes in the cell houses was made when L. A. Sharpe, ex-stickup man from Rockford, sent notice to the warden's office requesting that $149 in his account there be credited to a fellow prisoner, A. J. Dozier, in settlement of an I. O. U. which Sharpe made out to Dozier following a poker game.

Further investigation disclosed that Sharpe had lost $113 cash to Dozier before giving the I. O. U. How Sharpe obtained the cash was professedly a mystery to the prison guards, the circulation of money being forbidden in the prison.

No anti-gambling discipline has been inflicted on the prisoners since the scandal of 1926, in which a prisoner who had won $200 in a blackjack game was slugged by another prisoner on his way to kitchen duty and was robbed of his winnings.

MAJ. MILLING, VETERAN FLYER, MAY BE RETIRED

Washington, D. C., March 30. —[Special.]—Maj. Thomas Dew Milling, one of the pioneer aviators of the regular army, has been ordered before a retirement board of physical disability, having long been ill in Fitzsimons hospital at Denver. Born in 1887 and appointed a second lieutenant of cavalry in 1909, he was transferred to aviation in 1911 when the army air force consisted of two planes, and has remained with that service since.

He obtained his first aviation instruction with the Wright brothers and early established two world's records. One, set on Sept. 26, 1911, at Nassau boulevard, New York, in a Burgess-Wright plane, was with two passengers when he flew for one hour and 55 minutes.

The other was a cross country flight with one passenger on March 28, 1913, when he flew in a Burgess tractor plane from Texas City to San Antonio, a distance of 220 miles in four hours and 22 minutes.

Harry Cooper, Former Aurora Banker, Is Dead

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—Bonds of the United States treasury registered another day of improvement today, but other issues in the listed market remained for the most part in the rut of declining prices.

There appeared to be no letup in active demand for federal government obligations, especially for those in the short term division. New tops were reached by the March 15 issues of 4 per cent and 4¼ per cent certificates, and while long term issues were less active, they, too, brought out quotations at higher levels. Premiums of 1 and 2 points were established for the 4 and 4¼ per cent certificate issues, respectively.

Corporation Issues Lower.

Easier prices were the rule for corporation bonds, with little buying of importance coming out to meet a good supply of both speculative and high grade issues awaiting a market.

High grade and speculative railroad issues suffered together, losses in the former class occurring, among others, in Canadian Northern 4½s, Chicago Union station 4½s, and Pennsylvania guaranteed 4⅜s, and in the lower category in such instances as Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, Chesapeake and Ohio consolidated 5s, New Haven 4s, St. Louis Southwestern 5s, and Missouri Pacific issues.

Municipal Liens Quiet.

In another inactive market there was virtually no change in prices for domestic, state, and municipal bonds. The municipal bond market has been hit hard by the virtual repudiation of part of the state of Arkansas' debt.

In the foreign section German government and municipal bonds were again found in new low ground, while issues of South American countries, particularly those of Colombia, were weak.

PLAIN AUDITS URGED AS GUIDE FOR INVESTORS

Accountants Offer Other Reforms.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

American investors who lost money in the wreck of the companies controlled by Ivar Kreuger, the collapse of the Insull utility empire, the crash of the Illinois Life Insurance company, and the failure of a host of other enterprises are asking this question:

"Why didn't the widely known public accountants who audited the affairs of the company in which we put our money give us a true picture of their financial condition?"

Many investors feel that there was a breakdown in a form of protection in which they had been told they could place their confidence—the audits by reputable public accountants. In an endeavor to find what basis there is for this opinion held by many a number of prominent accountants were interviewed. They reviewed the events leading up to the tumbling of the world's financial houses of cards.

Accountants Analyze Situation.

The accountants confess they are not without blame, but in extenuation they cite their own lack of police powers and the ignorance and indifference of the public when presented with facts disclosing dangerous situations.

The principal points made by the accountants interviewed may be summarized as follows:

Where accountants may be the subject of criticism:

1. Along with bankers, financiers, and the public generally, they allowed themselves to be swept away by the philosophy of the "new era" in the later years of the 1920-'30 period.

2. They were too much inclined to allow themselves to be influenced by great names or by the records of long established organizations.

3. They were not insistent enough in demanding that all the details of their reports be given the fullest publicity. There was too much covering up through obscure statements.

4. Where the affairs of an organization had moved smoothly over a long period of time the accountant's sense of suspicion had dulled to a point where it was unable to detect instantaneously a sudden rising of irregularities.

Handicaps to Accounting.

On behalf of the accountants the following points were cited:

1. Despite the popular notion accounting is not an exact science—figures will lie.

2. Even in the many cases where the reports of accountants indicated unhealthy conditions the public either did not have the ability to interpret the figures presented or, if it did, took no action to protect itself.

3. Accountants are not public prosecutors. They are paid employés working for some one.

4. Accountants were placed in a position frequently where several constructions could be placed on a point they were examining. Decision could only be a matter of judgment.

5. Accountants cannot be held responsible for situations which developed with comparative rapidity as a result of collapse in prices and values in every field of activity.

Reform Measures Proposed.

Now for measures, the adoption of which accountants say could improve conditions:

1. The election of accountants to audit the affairs of a company by the stockholders—as is done in England—instead of selection by the company's officers.

2. Reports to be made to stockholders directly.

3. Regulations as to accounting practice either should be formulated by the public authorities or by semi-public bodies, such as the Chicago or New York Stock exchanges. Such action would force account-ants to follow definite instructions laid out for them, and thus would eliminate the possibility of company officers exerting influence.

4. More and detailed information should be passed on to the public. Figures without detailed explanations are meaningless. Tell the entire story.

Types of Failures Differ.

Those interviewed stressed the point that there are differences in the types of failures. In cases where there is deliberate forgery detection often can

Hopes Revived for Revamping Middle West

Hope of reorganizing the Middle West Utilities company, giant holding concern through which Samuel Insull controlled operating utilities in thirty-two states, is once more being revived.

Chicago bankers, on whom the burden of financing the reorganization would devolve, and who have hitherto appeared adamant against providing the capital a reorganization would entail, are now displaying a somewhat more conciliatory attitude, it was learned.

They were influenced to a change in view, it was said, principally because of the decision handed down by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson on March 14 ordering, in effect, that a bankruptcy examination of the company was to start twenty days thereafter unless the banks came to some settlement with Middle West creditors concerning reorganization.

Hearing Set for Monday.

Under the terms of Judge Wilkerson's order, the bankruptcy examination was to begin next Monday. Attorney Robert N. Golding, representing holders of $40,000,000 of Middle West gold notes, and Attorneys Harold F. White and Lewis F. Jacobson, representing petitioning creditors, were prepared to go ahead.

With the start of the bankruptcy hearing only a few days away, the bankers consented to sit down this week for a discussion of reorganization with Attorney Golding for the noteholders, and Attorneys Donald McPherson and Orville J. Taylor, representing holders of $60,000,000 of preferred and $156,000,000 of common stock.

Aside from the question of new capital, the main issue in the conferences has been the disposition of securities of Middle West subsidiary companies with a face value of nearly $100,000,000, which the Insull management pledged for bank loans prior to the receivership last April.

Mr. Golding has stated in open court that, with the latitude permitted in a bankruptcy examination, he could prove that the collateral was pledged in violation of the bankruptcy act and must therefore be returned for the benefit of creditors.

Rumors of Inside Selling.

It was rumored, moreover, that he or counsel for other creditors had dug up evidence that after the banks placed their own auditors in control of Middle West and other Insull companies four months before the receivership, certain individuals used the inside knowledge thus procured to sell the Insull stocks short.

Those participating in the conferences refused to discuss this phase of the matter, nor would any of the attorneys or bankers reveal on what basis the proposed reorganization and settlement with creditors was being considered. The disputed collateral involved is said to have a market value of $8,000,000, even at current prices.

All that was learned was that the bankruptcy examination, which was scheduled to begin Monday before Jacob I. Grossman, special master, will probably be postponed until April 10 by mutual consent. Announcement of a tentative plan for reorganization or of a breakdown in the negotiations may be made in the interval, it was said.

U. S. IS GETTING BACK TO WORK, REPORTS SHOW

Akron, O., March 30.—(AP)—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company today announced increased production, increasing work for 10,000 employés from three to five days a week, would start Monday.

Steel Plant Will Reopen.

Big Lead Refinery Planned.

Salt Lake City, March 30.—(AP)—The United States Smelting, Refining and Mining company will build and operate the largest lead refinery west of Omaha at its Midvale smelter south of here. The refinery will have a capacity of 72,000 tons of lead per year. Construction will start shortly after April 1.

New U. S.-Canadian Tunnel.

OTTAWA, March 30.—(AP)—The railway committee of the house of commons today approved a bill to incorporate a company which proposes to build a tunnel under the St. Clair river from Sarnia, Ont., to Port Huron, Mich. It was estimated the cost will be between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000 and that 1,000 men would be given work.

Westinghouse Gets Order to Air Condition Rail Cars

The Westinghouse Electric and manufacturing company announces that it has received "a substantial order" for air conditioning equipment in lounge cars on the Missouri Pacific railroad. The cars are to be used in the southwestern part of the system, particularly Texas.

PROFESSIONAL TRADING SHAVES STOCK PRICES

A. T. & T. Goes vs. Market Drift.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—Politics rather than stock price movements held the interest of the Wall street speculative community today. Some traders professed to be considerably disturbed by the developments in Washington looking toward regulation of banks and share market operations. The majority was very evidently disposed to play safe and await further events before chancing the cash on uncertainties.

Left in the hands of a dwindling group of professionals, the market trends were sluggish, narrow and generally conflicting. Selling orders troubled most groups and the finish found the list from a fraction of a point or so below its previous levels.

About 65,000 shares changed hands in the course of the listless five hour session.

A. T. & T. Selling Dries Up.

Little worthy of special attention developed from the board changes. The selling which has been so conspicuous in American Telephone for the last two weeks dried up and the utility group leader closed behind a modest plus sign for one of the few times since the banking holiday. Its final sale was recorded at 90¼. Other utilities firmed up with the leader. Public Service scored a gain of a point and Consolidated Gas, which likewise has been having its troubles on dividend uneasiness, went into the overnight books unchanged from yesterday.

An outstanding weak spot was Drug Incorporated which sold down to a new low for the year. The difficulties of the issue aroused varied speculation, one explanation being that they were due in some measure to the reputed hitch in negotiations for rent reductions for the Liggett chain of drug stores which the company controls through a subsidiary. The Liggett company was recently enjoined from filing a bankruptcy petition pending outcome of the rent negotiations.

National Distillers Up.

National Distillers made further progress on the upside, scoring a new high on prospects of getting rid of some of its bonded whisky stocks through relaxation of prescription regulations. At its high today the issue was selling at the best price since 1931.

Paramount and Willys-Overland, both singing their swan songs as big board issues, having been ruled off by the exchange committee yesterday, sold to new lows. Paramount dropped to 12½ units and Willys to 6¼ cents a share, trading in the latter at less than the prescribed minimum of an eighth of a dollar having been permitted by special arrangement.

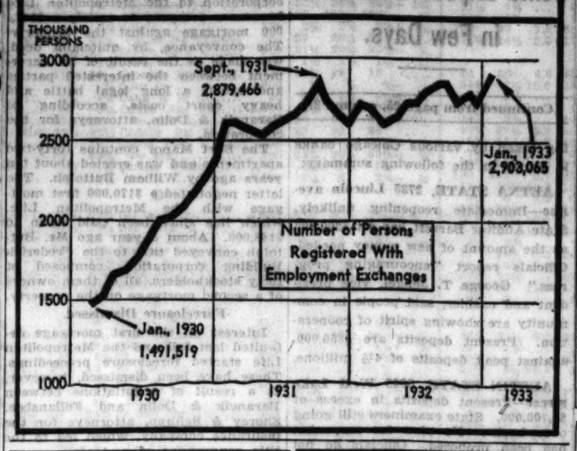
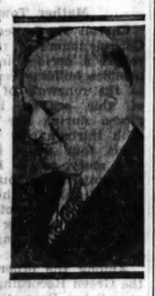
UNEMPLOYMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN



Approve U. S. Curb on Sale of Securities

Leaders in Chicago's financial world were hesitatnt to make extended comment yesterday on President Roosevelt's bill to secure greater control over the sale of securities to the public until they had seen a copy of the actual document. However, all were agreed that the President is taking a step in the right direction when he demands that all details in security transactions be given fullest publicity.



ROBT. P. BOYLAN.

"We are heartily in accord with the President's stand that the public be given full information regarding securities they are asked to buy. The Chicago Stock exchange has demonstrated its position within the last ten days with the publications of its requirements for the listing of stock."

Board of Trade Policy.

Officials of the Board of Trade declined to comment. Robert P. Boylan, vice president and chairman, stated that full information has always been available to the public with respect to securities listed on the board.

Leonard D. Karcher of the Illinois securities department saw in the Roosevelt bill a measure which will coördinate the work of the various "blue sky" commissions of the respective states, prevent interstate fraud and bolster the authorities in those states where the laws are weak.

"The regulations drawn up by Rupert Bippus, head of this department, for the control of dealers and brokers constitute a noteworthy contribution to the protection of the public," he said. "Illinois is in a position to work in the closest coöperation with the federal government.

Control Interstate Sales.

"Interstate control over the sale of securities should be of great help in curbing fraudulent practices. A large part of the frauds in the sale of securities is now carried on by houses using the long distance telephone across state lines."

Some of the dealers along La Salle street, while agreeing that any law passed by congress should insist that the fullest publicity be given the public regarding securities, expressed the opinion that if the laws are made too stringent the result will be to dry up legitimate business.

WORLD WILL RETURN TO GOLD BASIS WITHIN 5 YEARS, SAYS EXPERT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—The way in which the United States has met its banking crisis will aid in hastening the return of foreign countries to the gold standard, Leon Fraser, the American who will be president of the Bank for International Settlements, succeeding Gates W. McGarrah, said upon his arrival here today on the steamship Rex.

Mr. Fraser pointed out that there were 19 countries today off the gold standard, but added that "we are convinced that the gold standard is the best international monetary standard and those countries which are off are desirous of returning to it as soon as conditions permit."

Mr. Fraser said there is no gold shortage and that the possible discovery of new producing fields has "little to do with the problem." He also said that in his opinion countries now off the gold standard would return to that base "sooner than most people think," adding that a period of five years is "much too long" to set as a time within which such return is likely to occur.

Conditions abroad, Mr. Fraser thought, "in a general way might be said to be better, but in isolated areas they remain extremely bad."

GOLD, CURRENCY KEEPS UP FLOW BACK TO BANKS

Report of Reserve Shows Gains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Returning streams of gold and currency continued last week to pour fresh life into the banking structure, the federal reserve board announced tonight.

Another $44,444,000 in gold returned to the reserve banks last week, making the total return more than 550 million dollars since the end of the banking holiday. The total currency returning to the banks last week was 255 million dollars and the influx of currency since March 7 has amounted to one billion 185 million dollars.

Both of these movements have strengthened the member banks and the reserve banks themselves. Member banks to which the returned money and gold flowed were enabled to reduce their discounts with the reserve banks by 126 million dollars last week and to increase their reserves.

Excess Reserves Rise.

Excess reserves in New York and Chicago weekly reporting member banks bounded upward last week for the first time since the banking holiday as the gold and money came back into their vaults. Weekly reporting member banks in New York had excess reserves of 78 million dollars on Wednesday and those in Chicago had excess accounts of 60 millions. Last week the reserves barely covered legal requirements.

As the member banks reduced their borrowing the central reserve banks themselves experienced further increases in their excess reserves, which mounted from 1 billion 50 millions last week to 1 billion 172 millions on Wednesday of this week. Two weeks ago the excess was 687 millions and three weeks ago 440 millions. Return of federal reserve notes from circulation also helped this movement by freeing reserves formerly held behind them.

Although the total amount of all types of money in circulation went down last week, the amount of the new emergency currency in use went up $4,959,000 last week to $14,228,000 this week. It continues to be used, however, only in Boston, New York,

Plan to Omit Bank Reports on Condition

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—The next few days probably will slip by without the usual March 31 national bank call from the controller of the currency and the federal reserve board. Usually the calls for reports of condition go out on the early days of January, April, July, and October, and ask for statements as of the end of the preceding quarterly periods. Last year, however, the controller skipped the March 31 call.

Although the controller's office will not announce its plans in advance, the call probably will be dropped again this year. The law permits ommission of one quarterly call, and the current situation is not one which would be helped by a call, it was said here. Under the law, the controller must issue only three calls a year, although he usually has made four.

March Reports of Least Value.

If any one of the four quarterly calls is to be dropped, the March call is the one of least value. The June call enables the collection of statistics as of the end of the fiscal year. The December call collects the same information on a calendar year basis and the September call is the basis for the controller's own annual report.

Legally the controller does not need to space his calls in this fashion. The law sets no dates, leaving that feature up to the discretion of the controller. The reserve board sends out its call automatically on the same day with the controller. Only the federal reserve members banks are affected by these calls.

New York May Quit Call.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—Although no definite announcement has been made, it is understood in banking circles that there will be no bank call for state banks in New York at this time.

Illinois Call In Doubt.

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett said last night that he would decide today whether there would be a call on state banks in Illinois at this time.

S. H. Kress & Co. Declares Extra Dividend in Stock

New York, March 30.—(AP)—S. H. Kress & Co. today declared an extra dividend of 50 cents on the common stock, payable in special preferred shares. Regular quarterly cash dividends of 25 cents on the common and 15 cents on the special preferred were also voted, all payable May 1 to stock of record April 11. A similar extra was paid on Nov. 1, 1932.

CHICAGO BANKS TELL OF PLANS FOR REOPENING

Some Will Resume in Few Days.

As 9 banks in Illinois, including one in Chicago, resumed normal business yesterday plans went ahead for caring for those banking institutions which have not yet been licensed.

A canvass of the banks in Chicago which are still closed revealed that a few important outlying institutions are likely to resume business in a day or so. Others are working on plans of reorganization which will take several days in most instances.

The Sixty-third and Halsted State Savings bank opened for unrestricted business under license from State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. The Hamilton State bank, 3916 Broadway, received approval of its application for membership in the federal reserve system. The bank resumed business immediately on expiration of the holiday.

More Banks Get Permits.

Permits to reopen this morning were issued to eight more state banks by Auditor Barrett last night. They are:

MOUNDS—The First State Bank of Mounds.
SHERRARD—Farmers' State Bank of Sherrard.
NORMAL—The Normal State bank.
PRAIRIE CITY—Bank of Prairie City.
VILLA GROVE—Villa Grove State bank.
CAMP POINT—The People's Bank of Camp Point.
URBANA—Busey's State bank.
MALDEN—The Farmers and Traders' State Bank of Malden, Illinois.

The Chicago reserve bank announced that licenses to reopen had been issued to the First National bank of Springfield and the Dixon National bank of Dixon. The St. Louis reserve bank licensed the state bank of Hoiles & Son, Greenville.

Robert M. Campbell was appointed receiver of Kewanee State Savings Bank and Trust company by Auditor Barrett yesterday.

The First National bank of La Grange, for which a conservator was named last week, will reopen today to accept new deposits, according to announcement made last night. No other banking functions will be carried on, it was stated.

What's Ahead in Washington?

WHAT are business men talking about—in Bangor, Duluth and Galveston, over the luncheon table, in board meetings, at the office and away from it—everywhere?

Washington—that's what they're talking about.

Washington always has been front-page news, but never before has it held such a dominating place in everyday conversation. There was a time when government went its way, and we went ours. Not so now. Today our lives are set by Washington.

THE bank holiday, new bank laws, the economy measure . . . farm relief, unemployment relief, antitrust legislation, tariff revision. Unprecedented things have happened recently, and will happen.

What's ahead in Washington? NATION'S BUSINESS, close to the source of things, answers these questions for you as clearly and concisely and as accurately as they can be answered.

NATION'S BUSINESS lays no claim to "psychic powers of prophecy." But it does know where things are happening in the nation's capital, knows what is happening, and what is likely to happen.

NATION'S BUSINESS takes you "behind the scenes"—lets you listen in on the plans and hopes, comments and opinions of the great and near-great in these history-making days.

EVERY article in NATION'S BUSINESS is vigorous and important. Business men read and use this magazine. Each month hundreds of letters come to the editors from readers, asking questions, expressing views.

DETROIT PLACES OVER 25 MILLION IN ITS NEW BANK

Deposits Mount in Less than a Week.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—(AP)—In less than a week Detroiters have deposited $25,310,356 in their new bank, the 100 per cent liquid national bank of Detroit. The bank today had 3,053 accounts.

Bank officials, in making the list of accounts public today, expressed satisfaction over the rapid response of the city to new banking facilities and evidenced pride in their own achievement of providing a $25,000,000 bank within a few days.

Eventually, according to present plans, the bank hopes to assume the more liquid assets of the two inoperative institutions, the First National Bank of Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, and make an early payment of about 40 per cent of their deposits to depositors in the closed banks. When this will take place has not been decided.

Hearing on a petition for a temporary receiver for the Detroit Bankers company, holding concern for the First National bank-Detroit and other financial institutions, was put over today until Friday. Request for dissolution of the companies was filed late Wednesday by directors of the company. Counsel for stockholders who Saturday asked a receiver for the company said their petition will be waived to give the directors' petition priority.

Cleveland Bank Heads Elected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., March 30.—Austin V. Cannon today was elected chairman of the board of the First National bank, the new institution to be formed here in the reorganization of the Union Trust company. Joseph R. Kraus, former chairman of the board, will be president. It will be several weeks before the new bank can start operation, since an organization must be set up to solicit stock.

The First National bank, Mr. Kraus said, will buy from the Union Trust company $30,000,000 of liquid paper assets at face value and accrued interest. This money and the Reconstruction Finance corporation loan of $20,000,000 to the old bank, will make it possible to pay the depositors of the Union Trust company 35 per cent of old deposits almost at once.

Will Apply Double Liability.

Double liability will be applied to present Union Trust stockholders to the full amount or to any amount necessary to pay all depositors and creditors, Mr. Kraus said.

Harold H. Burton, new president of the Guardian Trust company, and H. C. Robinson, executive vice president, went into conference today with Sidney B. Congdon, manager of the Cleveland office of the R. F. C. A schedule of the Guardian's assets and an outline of its program has been presented, and when an appraisal is completed the program will be submitted to Washington.

HARRIMAN BANK DEPOSITORS MAY BE PAID IN FULL

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Jacques Braunstein, chairman of a depositors' protective committee of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, which is in the hands of a conservator, said tonight assurances have been given that depositors will be paid in full. He returned tonight from Washington where they conferred with Attorney General Cummings. He said he expects an official announcement within a few days, guaranteeing the deposits.

Meanwhile a federal grand jury was understood to have virtually completed its inquiry into charges of misuse of funds against Joseph W. Harriman, resigned chairman of the bank, who is under arrest.

Holdrege, Neb.

TO THE EDITOR: I wish to thank you for your letter regarding getting a loan on my home. I wrote to the Agricultural Credit association; they told me to write Home Owners' Loan, also Federal Land Loan banks. I also wrote to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and some other loan companies and banks. None of them make any loans on farm land.

I've read in the papers that some of these are helping the farmer, but I don't believe it now, as I offered a good farm and good land in security but could get no help. I was told the Reconstruction Finance corporation only loans to big business and to banks. Why shouldn't the banks be able to help the farmer when he needs it? There must be something radically wrong with our money loaning system, if they can't help people when they need it.

Many farmers here have lost their homes because they couldn't get money to help them. I've just about lost faith in these "help the people concerns." I don't think there's any reliability in them or that they want to help poor people. They only talk and don't act. F. N.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat traders who have taken a stand on the bull side of the market lately were unable to make any progress in advancing prices yesterday. There was not the snap to the buying that was so much in evidence in recent days and more disposition was shown to accept profits on previous purchases.

Houses with eastern connections became rather free sellers of wheat late in the day and caused a decline of around 1 cent from the early top, with the May option showing the most loss. The finish was about at the bottom, with net losses of ⅞ to ¾ cents. May wheat closed at 52⅜ to 52⅞ cents, July at 53⅜ to 53½ cents, and September at 54 to 54¼ cents.

Fear Forced Co-op Selling.

Announcement that the federal farm board would require cooperative interests who have money borrowed with commodities as collateral, to liquidate their holdings and repay the loans had some effect on the wheat market. The trade feared the market might be unfavorable if the case it was necessary to liquidate any great quantity of cash wheat.

Steadily decreasing stocks of cash wheat at Chicago have resulted in local handlers becoming heavy buyers of grain at other points, and it is estimated around 1,000,000 bushels have been booked to come here from northern lake ports at the opening of navigation. In the last three days around 400,000 bushels of wheat have been loaded out of Chicago elevators.

Crop reports from the west and southwest on winter wheat were again unfavorable, with dust storms Wednesday at many points in Kansas and Nebraska.

Foreign wheat markets were inclined to drag, with Winnipeg closing ⅝ cent lower. Liverpool was ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher, with March showing the most strength. Trading in the latter delivery will cease today.

Corn Eases with Wheat.

Corn futures held within narrow limits, but eased toward the last with wheat and closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower. May was 29⅝ to 29¾ cents; July, 31¼ cents, and September, 32⅜ to 32⅞ cents, at the last. Profit taking by scattered longs was a factor. Country offerings were again small and the shipping demand was fair, with white corn wanted in all markets. A Buenos Aires cable to Clement, Curtis & Co. estimated the Argentine exportable surplus at 220,000,000 bushels, or 30,000,000 bushels less than was cleared last season.

Oats were dull but firm, closing unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. May finished at 19 to 19⅛ cents and July at 19¼ cents. Rye failed to reflect the decline in wheat and gained ⅛ to ¼ cent, with May at 39⅞ cents and July at 40¼ cents. Chicago brewers are said to have covered their requirements of barley malt for the balance of the current year. May barley was ⅝ cent lower at 30¾ cents.
